ILLINOIS LAW-MAKERS.

On the 16th the old Lake Front controversy was revived in the General Assembly in the shape of a bill introduced by Mr. May, of Cook, providing for a compromise and settlement of all disputes according to the scheme proposed by Telford Burnham, of Chicago. The bill is entitled "An act to provide for a compromise and settlement of the matters in controversy between the State of Illinois, the city of Chicago, and the Illinois Central Railroad Company, in relation to certain lands lying on or adjacent to the shore of Lake Michigan, in the city of Chicago, and certain submerged lands in front of the said city between Twenty-second street extended and Chicago River, and an extension thereof due east from its mouth." By the provisions of this bill the Illinois Central Railroad is to abandon the water front, and thus give Chicago a beach of about one mile. In the Senate bills were introduced: By Mr. Thomas, providing for settlement of the controversy between Chicago and the State and the Illinois Central Railroad Company as to Lake Front matters (the bill is accompanied by petition for its passage signed by many prominent Chicago citizens); by Mr. Farmer, providing that when cases are appealed from courts of record to Appellate or Supreme Courts, the original record shall be filed by the clerks; by Mr. Bacon, allowing railroad companies to own stock in connecting lines in adjoining States; by Mr. Bass, taxing defeated parties in cases tried by jury 10 per cent. of the costs; by Mr. O'Donnell, allowing general pool-selling in the State.

Most of the time of the House, on the 17th, was consumed in clearing the calendar of House bills on first reading. Prominent among bills which were read a first time and ordered to second reading were the following: To establish an Illinois State dairymen's association; to prevent animals from running at large within the corporate limits of cities, villages and towns; to require all canned goods to bear upon the can the year in which they were canned; requiring mine operators to pay miners on the basis of the gross weight of all coal mined; making an appropriation for the State Board of Agriculture and the various county fairs; making appropriation in aid of the Illinois Horticultural Society; regulating the manufacture and sale of vinegar; to prevent the shooting of pigeons, doves, etc., for sport. In the Senate a bill was introduced for the promotion of the establishment of free libraries by providing that when property is bequeathed for the establishment of libraries the trustees may incorporate for that purpose. Both Senate and House adjourned until the 20th.

Senator Sheridan presided over the Senate on the 20th. Those present were Senators Allen, Caldwell, Crawford of Rock Island, Kerrick, Manecke, Newell, Rickert, and Wright. On motion of Senator Caldwell his bill providing for the safety of persons employed in coal mines was recalled from second reading so that the title might be corrected. Senator Kerrick introduced a bill amending the present garnishment laws so that property conveyed in fraud may be recovered in garnishment, and so that unliquidated damages may in certain cases be reached by garnishment. The Senate then adjourned. About twenty-five members were present at the session of the House. Representative Merritt presided. Immediately after the approval of the journal the House adjourned.

In the House, on the 21st, the Senate bill providing for the division of incorporated towns, introduced for the benefit of Ottawa, Thornton and other incorporated towns in Cook County, was read a second time and ordered to third reading. Representative Forsythe's bill providing for the payment of all wages in money and prohibiting the truck store system was read a second time. Mr. Gehr offered an amendment striking out the clause prohibiting any manufacturer from controlling or having any interest in any store, giving as his reason that the bill, if passed, would prohibit any manufacturer from having any interest in any sort of mercantile business, truck store or otherwise. The amendment was adopted and the bill ordered to third reading. In the absence of the Lieutenant Governor Mr. Sheridan presided in the Senate. Mr. Wells introduced a bill to amend the attachment law so as to make it apply to actions of trespass on cases. Mr. Allen introduced a bill to exempt pharmacists from jury duty. Several House bills were read a first time.

Chinese Medicine.

Medicines are much sought after by them. While I was at Dulankuo, nearly every one in the village came to see me, and most of the people asked for medicines, whether they were suffering from any complaint or no. Plasters were in great demand, as all the villagers had rheumatism, and the tighter the plasters stuck the better they were held to be. I had with me a bottle of Eno's fruit salts, and tried to give some to the people, but when they saw the salts boiling and fizzing they thought there must be some magic about the medicine, and would have none of it. Most of their troubles—sores and eye diseases—come from dirty habits, but one can never persuade them of the necessity of keeping clean. A friend of mine was once traveling among the Mongols, and an old crone came to him and begged some medicine to put on a sore. He told her that before applying the salve it would be necessary to wash herself. She gave it back to him, saying, "I am sixty-seven years old, and I never washed in my life; do you suppose I am going to begin now?" Mongol physicians feel the patient's pulse on both wrists at the same time, and never ask any questions—or at least none concerning the origin and progress of the complaint, for if they did it would be held that they had shown ignorance in their profession.—Century.

A Chinese Joke.

A rich man, living between the forges of two blacksmiths, was continually annoyed by the noise of their hammers, and was in despair at being unable to rest either by day or by night. At first he tried to induce them to hammer more quietly; then he made them all kinds of promises if they would only change their abodes. The two blacksmiths at last fell in with his proposals, and he, transported with joy at the prospect of their departure, entertained them regardless of expense at a farewell banquet. At the end of the feast he asked them where they intended to set up their smithies. "Well," said one of them, "he who lived on your left will go to the smithy on your right, and he who lived on your right will go to that on your left."—Chinese Jest Book.

William Denny, a preacher of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, died from wounds received at the hands of Bud Thacker. As Denny was leaving the village of Sorento for Irving, where he had just been called to his first regular charge, he was met by Thacker, who began a discussion about a balance which he claimed Denny owed him for clearing some land. In the course of the discussion Thacker several times called Denny a liar, and he finally losing patience struck him with his gloved hand, whereupon Thacker stabbed him three times with a knife, making a wound near the heart by the first blow and penetrating his left arm and cutting a heavy gash across his throat with the other.

Did Mother Eve Bite the Grape Fruit?

The piles of huge grape fruit which are to be found on the fruit stalls call to mind the tonic value of this fruit eaten as a salad, or as an introduction to breakfast. For the latter, remove the thick rind and tear off the epidermis around each lobe; arrange the pulp in a salad-bowl and serve it ice-cold and "au naturel." It is delicious served as a salad, with French dressing. This is the "Forbidden Fruit" of Paris shops. If you notice the depressions near the stem end, you will see that they resemble the print of teeth. This, according to popular tradition, is the mark of Eve's teeth when she bit the fruit, which was a sweet orange before, but afterward became bitter. The negroes at the South tell the same story about persimmons, though they do not show the print of the teeth. They believe it was once well-flavored, but was the one forbidden tree in Eden, and when Eve tasted it, it became acrid and has remained so ever since.—New York Tribune.

Struggling Up Life's Rugged Hill

With youth, vigor, ambition and an indomitable will to help us, is no such grievous matter, but tottering down again, afflicted by the ailments which beset old age—our backs bent with lumbago, our elastic muscles and joints stiff and painful, is a woeful piece of business. For the infirmities which the decline of life too often brings, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a beneficent source of relief, a mitigating solace always to be depended upon. No regulating tonic evolved by botanic medical discovery is so well calculated, so thoroughly able, but without undue stimulative effect, to help the aged, the delicate and the convalescent—to resuscitate the vitality of a frame which time and physical decline have impaired as this. Kidney and bladder weakness and disorder, costiveness, malarial complaints, dyspepsia and rheumatism are among the bodily afflictions which this sterling recuperant and regulator overcomes.

This is the Season

in which to purify and enrich the blood, restore the lost appetite, and build up the nerves, as the system is now especially susceptible to benefit from medicine. The peculiar medicinal merit of, and the wonderful cures by, Hood's Sarsaparilla have made it the most popular spring medicine. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, and all humors, biliousness, dyspepsia, headache, kidney and liver complaints, catarrh, and all affections caused or promoted by low state of the system or impure blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"When my boy was two years old he was attacked and suffered a long time with scrofula sores. The physician at length told us to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, which we did. Two bottles cured him. He is now 10 years old and has not had any sign of scrofula since. We recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. E. C. Clipper, 3 Kidder Street, Cleveland, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as the best spring or fall medicine ever known. I was troubled with that tired feeling, particularly in the morning. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me strength and made me feel well." Alex. Oehler, 624 West Cross Street, Baltimore, Md.

That the people appreciate the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is shown by the fact that this medicine has The Largest Sale of any sarsaparilla or blood purifier in this country. If you doubt this, ask any honest jobber or retail druggist. Hood's Sarsaparilla is to-day on the full tide of popularity, and has reached that pre-eminence by its own intrinsic, undisputed merit.

"I take Hood's Sarsaparilla every year as a spring tonic, with most satisfactory results." C. Parmelee, 340 Bridge street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Spring Medicine

"When I lived in Piqua I was sick a long time, from what the doctor said was ague or malaria fever. I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and it brought me out all O. K. I take it every spring, and any time my appetite is poor I go for Hood's Sarsaparilla, which always does me good." H. E. Collins, of Wightman & Collins, 5 Bolivar Street Cleveland, Ohio.

The Spring Medicine

"I consider Hood's Sarsaparilla the best spring medicine, and can truly say that it 'Makes the Weak Strong.' I take it all seasons of the year when needed, and would give five dollars for a bottle of it if I could not get it for less." Albert A. Jagnow Dougiaston, L. I., N. Y.

Queer Old People.

"The people down around Cape Cod are queer characters," remarked the woman of fashion. "I went down to South Yarmouth one day last summer to buy some thread which I happened to need very badly. There was only one clerk in the little shop and he was busy with a customer. So I had to wait and, of course, I couldn't help overhearing the conversation. The customer was an old woman and she was inspecting some buttons preparatory to a purchase. She found it hard to decide, and at last asked me to give my opinion upon three or four different kinds. I told her I thought a certain cloth button was the prettiest. "Waal," she replied, "it be pretty, but for raal comfort in the summer time give me a thin bone button."—Boston Post.

Strange Remedy.

When boys and girls fall sick they generally suffer as much from dread of the nasty medicine which the doctor may prescribe for their complaint, as they do from the illness itself. But they have rather cause to congratulate themselves that their lot has not been cast in the South Sea Islands, where, when a man is stricken with epilepsy, his brother savages cut a hole in his head to let the supposed evil spirit out.

"German Syrup"

A Throat and Lung Specialty.

Those who have not used Boschee's German Syrup for some severe and chronic trouble of the Throat and Lungs can hardly appreciate what a truly wonderful medicine it is. The delicious sensations of healing, easing, clearing, strength-gathering and recovering are unknown joys. For German Syrup we do not ask easy cases. Sugar and water may smooth a throat or stop a tickling—for a while. This is as far as the ordinary cough medicine goes. Boschee's German Syrup is a discovery, a great Throat and Lung Specialty. Where for years there have been sensitiveness, pain, coughing, spitting, hemorrhage, voice failure, weakness, slipping down hill, where doctors and medicine and advice have been swallowed and followed to the gulf of despair, where there is the sickening conviction that all is over and the end is inevitable, there we place German Syrup. It cures. You are a live man yet if you take it.
