

BI-CHLORIDE BUBBLES.

Doings of the Bi-Chloride Club—A Week of Pleasant Meetings.

Thus far in August (the 6th inst.) 71 names have been added to the Club roster, giving a grand total membership of 665. The Club is a great help to each individual, and every patient under treatment should lose no time in associating himself with this institution.

On Sunday morning Rev. Merrill, of the Twin Spiral Church, gave a practical sermon before the Club. This was followed by a recitation by a lady visitor; a bass solo, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," by Col. R. H. Eddy, of Chicago, Mrs. Beale presiding at the piano.

On Monday Col. Hoofstetter made an earnest and logical argument in favor of prohibition, and frequent applause demonstrated the fact that many of his hearers were in hearty sympathy with him, while those who differed in opinion could not help but admit that the Colonel's remarks were of a high order and based on truth and reality.

On Tuesday morning the Club room rang with vocal chords and the notes of piano and banjo filled the air. A number of recitations were rendered and several farewell addresses given.

The present entertainment committee are doing good work and the meetings are growing in interest. Wednesday and Thursday mornings the routine programme contained a variety of entertainment and the hall was crowded with members and visitors. It is pleasing to see the interest that has been awakened in the meetings, and the fact that volunteers are all the time falling in line and announcing their willingness to contribute to the entertainment of the Club, proves that a spirit of earnestness is developing that will do much toward aiding the newcomers in their determination to accept and receive the means placed in their hands for effectually exterminating the element of evil from their systems and regaining their lost vigor and manliness.

The new piano having proved unsatisfactory, the house committee has notified the agent that it was at his disposal, and they will at once secure one which is better suited to the needs of the Club.

One hundred new Epworth Hymns have been secured and Congregational singing is the order of the day.

The "commo" is a source of great interest to all new comers, and by visiting it often we "see ourselves as other saw us." Human nature the world over is the same. Yet each one who comes soon recognize the prevailing spirit of charity, and in turn become charitable.

The Club seal has arrived and life certificates are now being issued entitling the holder to membership in any Bi-Chloride Club in the country, and the result will be seen in the constantly increasing number of patients coming from the localities where clubs have been and are being formed. Let the good work go on.

Mr. Alonzo Hatch, the manager of the great Hatch opera company, is one of the first club members. His company will give everybody a chance to hear them to-night (Saturday). He is a splendid musician and deserves the patronage of all.

That the Chicago club is doing effective work is evidenced by the fact that nearly every train brings a delegate from that city, while other localities are correspondingly represented.

We are indebted to Mr. DeWitt, one of the gentlemanly newspaper men of the Club, for favors this week.

President Burris, is making lots of friends in Dwight, both inside and outside of the Club. He will always have a kind word for Dwight and its people, and the STAR and HERALD will keep him posted in his Missouri home.

We extend an invitation to all the Club members to assist us in making the "Bi-Chloride of Gold Department" interesting.

During the week a large number of patients, both morphine and whiskey, have been discharged as cured, and have gone home to rejoice with their families over the marvelous results of the Keeley treatment.

A CITY UNDER ONE ROOF.

The Largest House of Which the World Can Boast. Every American, European and Oriental country has its scores of public and private mansions, yet Vienna, Austria, has the giant of them all. The Friehaus (the free house), situated in Wieden, a suburb of the city just mentioned, is the most spacious building on the globe. Within its walls a whole city of human beings live and work, sleep and eat. It contains, in all, between 1,300 and 1,500 rooms, divided into upward of 400 dwelling apartments of from four to six rooms each. This immense house has thirteen courtyards, five open and eight covered—and a large garden within its walls. A visitor to the building relates that he spent two hours looking for a man known to reside in the house.

Scarcely a trade, handicraft or profession can be named which is not represented in this enormous building. Gold and silver workers, makers of fancy articles, lodging-house keepers, bookbinders, agents, turners, hatters, officers, locksmiths, joiners, tutors, scientific men, government clerks, three bakers, eighteen tailors, twenty-nine shoemakers, and many other tradesmen live in it. The house has thirty-one staircases, and fronts on three streets and one square. In one day the postman's delivery has amounted to 1,000 pieces to this single but titanic house. To address a letter to the house and to the person it is intended for does not assure the sender that the person to whom it is addressed will ever receive it.

In order "to make assurance doubly sure," all letters addressed to the "Friehaus," must be provided with both the given and the surname of the person for whom intended, the number of the court, the number of the staircase, and the number of the apartment; otherwise it is apt to go astray, as though addressed to a city unprovided with directions as to street and number.

At the present time 2,112 persons live in this immense building, and pay an annual rental of over 100,000.

Tea Drinking.

The custom of tea drinking is as old as the Chinese Empire, and as early as 780 A. D. a duty was levied on the tea that grew wild on the Chinese mountains. But it is within two centuries that its use was adopted by the English, when the East India Tea Co. imported it and it was sold at $25 a pound. Its use was confined to the royal household. In the reign of Henry VII a refreshment consisting of tea and cakes was called a voidie. On the occasion of the marriage dinner of Katharine of Arragon and Arthur, Prince of Wales, the court chronicler wrote: "The evening refreshment called voidie was brought in by four-score earls, barons and knights, walking two and two. Ipcoras and comfits were offered. One noble servant presented the golden spice plate, a second the cups, while a third of lower rank filled the cups from a golden ewer."

Since then what Washington Irving calls the "modesty tea" has become a power in the world. People have learned how to make tea as well as to drink it. In its first stage one Englishman had it served up as greens, the water in which it was boiled thrown away.

There never has been discovered a good substitute for tea. During the war of the revolution our forefathers adopted a "liberty tea," which was made from a four-leaved plant called "loose strife." This plant was pulled up like flax; its stalks, stripped of their leaves, were boiled; the leaves were then put into an iron kettle, and the liquor of the stalks poured over them. After this process the leaves were laid upon platters and dried in a brick oven heated for the purpose.

Tea, flavored with vanilla and rum, is a popular drink in Germany. The rum prevents the tea-drinker from lying away at night.

Now that some calculating soul has discovered that 400 cups of tea can be made from a pound, we may expect a very mild decoction of the "cups that cheer but not inebriate," as the Poet Cowper sang.

GATHERED TREASURES.

METHOD will teach you to win time. ALL is but lip wisdom which wants experience.

HUMAN improvement is from within outward.

ONE trick needs a great many more to make it good.

In this world a man must either be anvil or hammer.

The only disadvantage of an honest heart is credulity.

As you learn, teach; as you get, give; as you receive, distribute.

He that seeketh forgetfulness of God in this life will reap the reward of being forgotten by Him in the world to come.

Of course there is a proper regard for our own happiness, but if we only know it, duty and delight are inseparably wedded.
