

CLUBBING.

The Delegates to the Chautauqua Receive a Grand Reception.

Music and Song, But no Wine in Theirs.

"Old Shady."

The members of the club are constantly on the lookout for something to amuse each other and the club. The following parody on the late Frank Lombard's "Old Shady," caused much merriment at one of the evening meetings this week. The solo was sung by Mr. Ross, one of the popular graduates, and the chorus by eight of the many musical gentlemen in the club:

When we came to Dwight we were a little off color,
We'd had some good times in an old wine cellar,
But Dr. Keeley cried, "Halt! old fellow,"
Hail mighty Gold.

CHORUS.

We'll stay, we'll stay, the full three weeks or longer,
We'll stay, we'll stay, till all the dope is gone,
We'll stay, we'll stay, till we get a little stronger,
Hurrah, hurrah, and then we going home.

We're going home filled with golden elixir,
No more we'll drink the rum-sellers' mixture;
But for sobriety, we're a steady fixture,
Hail mighty Gold.

CHORUS.—
We took our stand right in the line, sir,
We had our shot from Keeley's hand, sir,
And now we've joined the grand old band, sir,
Hail mighty Gold.

CHORUS.—
"Bid Him Good-Bye and Go."
COMPOSED BY MR. CARY.
If you would win the world's respect,
through all the coming years,
You'll never touch the wine cups brim,
that bubbles o'er with tears.

But when some friend of other days,
whisper sweet and low,
"Come in old boy and take a drink,"
bid him good-bye, and go.

CHORUS.—
He's not your friend, Oh no,
Bid him good-bye and go,
He's not your friend who asks you
So, bid him good-bye, and go.

The curse of drink that rules the land,
and makes of home a hell,
Lies panting bound in chains of gold
cast by a wizard's spell,
And who falls is he who lacks the nerve to answer, No.

To him who asks you then to drink
just say good-bye and go.
CHORUS.—
The Chautauqua.

We mentioned last week that the Club had delegated several of its members to attend the prohibition and industrial meeting at Houghton's lake, near Bloomington. The committee fulfilled their mission, and were grandly entertained while there. We clip the following from the Pantagraph of the following:

"Sunday was really the largest attended day of the meeting, the crowd assembling being simply immense. Early in the afternoon Mr. Walter Thomas made a short address, after which the time was given to Col. Nate A. Reed and J. H. Hooftstler and Dr. Weld, who made speeches. These gentlemen are patients of the Keeley institution at Dwight and are being treated with the bi-chloride of gold, which is becoming so extensively known. These gentlemen were sent down by the Bi-Chloride of Gold Club.

Dr. Weld was the first speaker. He read from manuscript but was very happy in his hits and witticisms: He clearly told the plan of treatment and the success. Very touchingly he related his own experience and what a complete cure it had proven for him. He expressed very earnestly the hope that he might be of service to his fellows in telling of the Keeley cure.

J. H. Hooftstler, familiarly known as "Brother Jack," followed. He is an old prohibition lecturer, and was well known to many in the audience. He has spoken in the old Washington hall. His story brought tears to the eyes of his hearers time and again. He told his own bitter experience, how he would go out and hold a series of temperance meetings and then when he felt his periodical coming on he would go home to his room and drink in private; how in this way he brought shame on his family. At length he went to Dwight, tempted to conceal his name, but now is proud of the cure that had been effected. Mr. Hooftstler is an eloquent and strong talker. He called out great applause.

The third speaker was Col. Nate A. Reed, of Chicago, who has been cured since last June. Col. Reed is a prominent newspaper man of Chicago. He also gave his personal experience. The son of a Baptist minister, his mother had been a prominent crusader in Ohio. He had gone into the army and learned to drink. Time and again he fought it, overcome for a while only to fall again. He had assisted as right-hand supporter of Francis Murphy in his Chicago work, but it took the Keeley institute to effect a complete cure.

Mr. St. John followed with a half hour's talk. In the evening addresses were made by Col. Sobieski, Col. Reed, J. H. Hooftstler and Mr. Mills. There was another large audience present. Very great interest was manifested in the Keeley cure, at the close of the evening session Mr. J. H. Walderman introduced resolutions, which were unanimously passed, thanking the gentlemen from Dwight for the "very able manner in which they explained the workings of the Keeley gold cure."

The Bi-Chloride of Gold Club.

The Bi-Chloride of Gold Club held an interesting meeting at its rooms, No. 155 Washington street, last night. Contributions amounting to $180 were made by several, who were enrolled as honorary members. President Opie P. Reid read a paper in which he outlined the purpose of the club. "Knowing," he said, "that the treatment at Dwight is not a mere experiment, but an assured success, and being confident that we can do much good to our fellow-men, this club was founded. We are not here as temperance fanatics—we depend upon science rather than emotion, and instead of clamoring for a prohibitory law, we ask men to suffer his appetite for alcohol to be subdued."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Mr. Gillispie, living north of town, brought in a basket full of fine apples for the boys Tuesday. They were highly appreciated, and they wish to return thanks.

Mr. DeWitt, one of the popular members of the Club, to whom we are indebted for many favors, left Monday afternoon with the best wishes of all he met while here.

Some of the many personal friends of ex-president Burris purchased a diminutive chair last Saturday and all attached their name to it by card, wrote an effusion from the "Old Arm Chair" and fastened it to the bottom, and expressed it to that gentleman. It was a very pretty article of furniture but it will take a very, very small member of the Burris family to sit in it.

Secretary Smith informs us that nearly 400 of the Club badges have been disposed of, and that he cannot get orders filled fast enough.

Quite a number of the Club members have a finger in Dwight's boom. Jump in, gentlemen, everything goes.

It was with sincere sorrow that the club received a letter from Mr. John M. Porteous, of Kalamazoo, Mich. He had but recently returned home, and reinstated in his old position, and reunited to his divorced wife, when he was called to her bedside to bid her farewell in this life. There were many tear dimmed eyes in the club when his letter was read and sympathetic hearts at once passed unanimous resolutions of sympathy and condolence. Cheers followed his statement that two loving hearts had been reunited, to be followed by intense silence and gloom when it was discovered that they had only been reunited to be parted in death. It is the saddest news that has been received by the club in a long time, and they felt gratified that in his deep distress he should turn, with knowledge of responsive sympathy, to the true friends he had made here during his efforts for reformation and happiness.

Miss Houghton, of Chicago, representing the W. C. T. U. Women's Home in Chicago, spoke of the work of that association as regards its preventive and reformatory efforts. She cited a number of cases of women who have been reclaimed, and brought up a number of cases whom the association are desirous of sending to Dwight for treatment at the Keeley institute. She made an earnest plea for the young womanhood of this country and invited all who so desired to contribute to assist in carrying on the work. The baskets were passed and quite a sum was contributed by the members present.

The Secretary has sent out over 600 certificates of membership to members of the club and only about twenty have been returned.

Mr. Opie P. Reed, president of the Bi-Chloride of Gold Club, of Chicago, is expected to visit the Dwight club this week.

Mr. D. Valle Youngblood our recent vice president, left for his home in Carbondale, Ill., Monday. He will be missed by the entire club. He was generous, kindhearted, and an efficient officer.

The secretary now has on hand about eight dozen button badges and twenty additional dozen ordered. The supply of pin buttons is short, but the demand not so great as for the screw.

The efforts of the club to have the sewer or ditch nuisance abated have not met with entire success as it seems to smell as badly as ever. A little chloride of lime might prove effective.

The club averages about fifty members a week.

The gentlemen who went to Bloomington to address the Chautauqua assembly had the promise of six new candidates for the Keeley cure as a result of their efforts, and one man at once packed up and came on the same train with them.

Mrs. Frank Bell received from the club, a letter of thanks as a slight expression of their gratitude for the interest she had taken in their welfare and her efforts to entertain them. She will always be kindly regarded by all.

Jas. Wood, alias "Bad Jimmie," of Chicago, one of the jolly members of the club, and former sergeant-at-arms was a visitor this week. He brought out a friend for treatment.
