ILLINOIS INCIDENTS, CURRENT COMMENT.

For and Against. If the question as to the Sunday opening of the Fair were put to popular vote, it would be decided in the affirmative.

More harm would be done by closing it than by keeping it open. If it is open there will be a place for the crowds to go that will keep them out of mischief.

It is only proper that the World's Fair managers should give respectful attention to the appeals of the many excellent people who have asked them to close the Fair Sundays.

The workmen of Chicago and near-by towns are in a great excitement over the Sunday without entering the double cost of the admission and loss of wages that would be the case on a week day.

The people who do not live in Chicago, and on whom the success of the Exposition mainly depends, have also some rights in the matter, and it would be well for them to speak out on the subject.

The workmen of Chicago and near-by towns are in a great excitement over the Sunday without entering the double cost of the admission and loss of wages that would be the case on a week day.

From the recent action of the World's Fair Commissioners on certain phases of the Sunday question it is quite certain that the ultimate decision will be that the Exposition shall be opened on Sunday, but that the machinery will be stopped—the idea being to let the people the opportunity of sight-seeing and at the same time to get rid of actual work on that day as much as possible.
