

IT'S AN OPEN REVOLT.

BRAZILIAN PROVINCES DECLARING INDEPENDENCE.

They Will Have None of Fonseca—Rumors of New Secessions—Grande Do Sul Rejects the Dictator and Announces Its Autonomy.

The Crisis in Brazil. When, on the 15th of November, 1889, Dom Pedro, Emperor of Brazil, was hustled on board a steamer at Rio Janeiro, and shipped to Lisbon, the world regarded the feat as the most completely successful and a solely bloodless revolution in all history.

Rio Grande do Sul is the sixth largest province in Brazil, the other five being Ceara, Pernambuco, Bahia, Rio de Janeiro, Minas Geraes, and San Paulo. It has an area of 91,335 square miles, a population of 594,327, and is situated at the extreme southern point of Brazil, bordering on the frontiers of Uruguay.

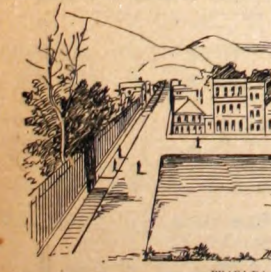

liberated the slaves; and as a member of the House of Braganza he had indulged to the utmost the political pretensions of the Catholic clergy. While not disliked by the people, he was considered to have passed the stage of usefulness.

When Fonseca established a provisional government many of the nobility and the Jesuits had to quit Brazil, and the founding of new convents and monastic orders was strictly prohibited. The authorities of the church did not therefore take very kindly to the republic, and being favored in their intrigues by all the monarchists and the owners of the liberated slaves, the clergy last February secured the modification of those temporary laws which legalized civil marriages, secularized the cemeteries, and excluded the monastic orders from the control of the public schools.

the new premier, Baron Leclina, not only ignored those decrees which abolished titles but insisted on having his own rank of baron officially recognized. With such a premier the republicans were sure to have a trouble sooner or later. It has now appeared.

any attempt to deny that the Province of Pernambuco has joined the Province of Rio Grande do Sul in declaring its independence. Great excitement prevailed at Rio Janeiro and throughout Brazil. It is reported that Marshal da Fonseca has been informed that he is suffering from a disease which must soon cause his death and that he has announced his willingness to resign the reins of power.

The dispatches state that this province is largely colonized by Germans, and maintaining a line that traces to over 40,000. The district, therefore, must refer rather to the entire German population than to the number in the army, though it is not improbable that a liberal element of Germans or German descendants are to be found in the ranks.

Effective Advertising. Many farmers and people living in small towns make a specialty of fine stock, such as pigs, chickens, pigeons and the like. It is well to use the lists in the Chicago Newspaper Union to advantage. Write the advertisement plainly, stating the exact facts in plain language, and send the office your rates.

How It Feels. A young man has been entertaining the multitude in New York City by dropping from a balloon from an altitude of between 2,000 and 3,000 feet. The young man simply clings to a pair of stout rings, and a parachute does the rest.

Swamp Angel. The Swamp Angel was an eight-inch 200-pounder or 180-pounder, mounted by the Federal troops in a morass on Morris Island, South Carolina, in 1863. On August 22 and 23, the city of Charleston, five and one-half miles distant, was shelled, the gun bursting at the thirty-sixth shot.

Scottland contains thirty towns of more than 10,000 inhabitants. Seven of these number more than 30,000 inhabitants, nine have between 20,000 and 30,000 inhabitants, and the remaining fourteen have from 10,000 to 20,000.

precaution to send West every chapter of the work as soon as completed for examination and revision by a committee of men expert in the history of the State. This will undoubtedly secure accuracy of statement, but it must tend to hedge Hawthorne's descriptive work somewhat.

At the Harvest of Death. Much grain is prematurely reaped by the scythe of disease that mingles and ripens to a golden maturity if "mooch" bodily troubles had been attended to in time. Nothing is truer than this—holly almost not only grows up but bled one another. This billiousness, constipation, dyspepsia, follow close on the heels of one another, flourish together, one perpetuating the other, and begetting numerous progeny of evil ailments more or less severe as the organs are neglected and disregarded.

Tar and Feathers. People who read of tarring and feathering by white caps and others know that the punishment is a very unpleasant one but to imagine how very painful and dangerous it is. In Wyoming I once saw a man who had been tarred and feathered, and though he fully deserved the discipline, I could not help pitying him.

Don't Bite Your Nails. Biting the nails is an exceedingly dangerous practice, as the bitter never knows when to stop, and at any moment is liable to bite into "the quick" and cause blood poisoning.

The Largest Surgical Operation. "What was the largest surgical operation in the world?" asked the bright-eyed school-boy yesterday of his companion. "I give it up," said the other. "Why, Lansing, Michigan, you greeny."

Scuffling for Dollars. To get the dollars we have to scuffle for them—no mistake about that; but there are different ways of going about it, and if you are not a scuffle for your progress, present, then write to R. F. Johnson & Co., Richmond, Va., who can give you a good pointer or two.

Chinese maidens pluck out their eyebrows. There is a 3-inch display advertisement in this paper this week which has no two words alike except one word. The same is true of each one appearing each week from The Dr. Harter Medicine Co.

A Warning Word

To all who suffer from catarrh, whether in small or great degree. Do not allow this treacherous disease to continue its course unchecked. It is liable to develop into bronchitis, or consumption, that most dreaded destroyer of human life.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Getting Rid of Rats in New York. The boys in a Park row office have hit upon a new method of removing nuisances which the street-cleaning bureau may well view with favor. A trap which stands behind the desks in the office is kept perpetually loaded for rats, and manages to catch one every twenty-four hours or thereabouts.

I have suffered with catarrh in my head for years, and paid out hundreds of dollars for medicines, but have heretofore received only temporary relief. Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me so much that my catarrh is nearly cured, the weakness of my body is all gone, my appetite is good—in fact, I feel like another person.

IN A DAY.

LAWRENCE, KANS., Aug. 9, 1888. George Patterson fell from a second-story window, striking a fence. I found him using ST. JACOBS OIL.

He used it freely all over his bruises. I saw him next morning at work. All the blue spots rapidly disappeared, leaving neither pain, scar nor swelling. C. K. NEUMANN, M.D.

"ALL RIGHT! ST. JACOBS OIL DID IT."

"German Syrup"

Here is an incident from the South—Mississippi, written in April, 1890, just after the Grippe had visited that country. "I am a farmer, one of those who have to rise early and work late. At the beginning of last Winter I was on a trip to the City of Vicksburg, Miss., where I got well drenched in a shower of rain. I went home and was soon seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely.
