Patients who come to Dwight to be treated at the Keeley Institute have stirred up the photographers, as we find they want to carry home some memento of Dwight, whether it is in groups of Goodman has given his time in improving the art and can at all times be relied on in turning out a good picture. He takes fine cabinet pictures and out-door scenes at reasonable prices. Dr. C. H. Barr, Druggist.

One of the greatest necessities in a town, especially where there is a farming element, is a drug store. The proprietor is looked upon as if we couldn't get along without him, and we could not. If we have a pain or an ache, if the baby cries or is cross, we must go to the drug store. Dr. C. H. Barr, our social dispenser of medicine, was born in East Greenwich, R. I., graduated at the Chicago Medical College in 1882 and after leaving Chicago found a good opening in the little village of Dwight. The business was established in 1861 and is well known and is a very popular store. Dr. Barr has increased the business double what it was when he first took hold. He put in an entire new stock of goods and fitted it up until now it will compare with any city drug store in the state. He carries a large and varied stock, the drugs are all fresh and of the best quality, his stock of toilet articles is very choice, and ladies who are particular in regard to perfumes, bleach powder, etc., cannot do better than give him a call. Dr. Barr manufactures a very fine perfumed cream for the hands called "Alpine," which is at once a toilet article which, no lady should be without as it softens and whitens the hands. He manufactures a cough syrup which is an absolute cure (for coughs, hoarseness, etc.) It should be kept in every house, especially where there are children. Also a liniment which he prepares for pain, rheumatism, neuralgia, etc., and is a wonderful agency for these troubles. He keeps on sale a very choice line of imported cigars, also a stock of E. H. Gates' Key West, Palacio & Co.'s "La Rose" and other brands. The prescription department is made a specialty. Dr. Barr is a genial gentleman, a reliable physician, a business man of high standing and very popular in this community.

Bank of Dwight, Established 1855.

Now that our real estate interests are looking so favorable and such a demand for city property, it is necessary to say something in regard to finance. The Bank of Dwight was founded by Mr. David McWilliams, the president of the bank. Mr. McWilliams' financial and business ability has brought it up to its present high standing. He owns a vast amount of real estate in Dwight and has donated a very fine park to its citizens, comprising thirty acres in the northwest part of town. The bank makes loans to those parties who are about to build and will further their prospects in every way. The business people of Dwight and the farming element have in Mr. McWilliams a philanthropic business man who looks to their interests, also to furthering the prospects of the town. He has some fine property in Dwight at the present time and it would be well for those requiring residence or business property to give him a call and they will find in all cases Mr. McWilliams will give them faithful advice in regard to investment. Mr. Naffziger, the cashier of the bank, is at all times willing to further the interests of those wishing to invest. He can always be found at the bank and ready and willing to answer all questions. The foreign exchange business of this bank has rapidly increased. Parties wishing to go to Europe, or those wishing to send for relatives or friends, can procure tickets here and save trouble and money by purchasing here at reasonable rates. The steamship companies that the bank represents are some of the oldest and have the finest vessels that cross the Atlantic,

W. H. Conrad---Lumber, Lath, Shingles, etc.

The building material business in Dwight has assumed large proportions and of the business men in Dwight there is none better known than W. H. Conrad, who is extensively engaged in this business. Mr. Conrad was born in Lancaster, Pa., and came to Dwight when a young man. He has fought his way to the front, until he now owns a business second to none; he is a hard worker and understands his business thoroughly. Mr. Conrad keeps in stock lumber, lath, shingles, sash, doors and blinds, sand, stone and in fact everything pertaining to building material. The town of Dwight is at the present time undergoing a strain, as everyone is building, hundreds of houses going up, new stores, new hotels and barns, in fact a general boom. As Mr. Conrad himself says, it keeps him on the run all the time getting stock, and as the railroad is not exerting itself to help them out, it makes the business arduous and annoying. Mr. Conrad owns his lumber yard and office, and also his private residence which is situated on one of the leading streets in Dwight and is a valuable piece of property. Mr. Conrad is deserving of his success in this business as he is willing at all times to further the interest of Dwight.

Another branch of the business Mr. Conrad controls is the sale of hard and soft coal. He keeps a large stock on hand and ready to deliver to his many customers and in any quantity they may desire. The coal he handles is direct from the best known mines.

Mr. Conrad has been so many years in this vicinity he is well known and is a favorite among business men and his patrons.

Geo. Z. Flagler & Son---Lumber, Lath Shingles, Coal.

"You might as well be dead as out of the fashion." Everybody is building and unless you are buying lots and talking of building you are "not in it." The building material interest of Dwight are strained to its utmost to keep up with the demand. Messrs. Geo. Z. Flagler & Son have so far contributed their share and kept their end up endeavoring to meet the emergency. These gentlemen have furnished building supplies for most of the large buildings put up in Dwight among them we would mention such building as the new Keeley Institute and others too numerous to mention. The stock these enterprising gentlemen carry is large and varied, viz: lumber, lath, shingles, sash, doors and blinds, stone, sand, and in fact every class of stock used in the building material interest. The principal part of their business is local, yet they have shade shipped many car loads to points outside of Dwight.

They also carry a large stock of hard and soft coal which business is by no means a small item. They supply manufacturing interests, stores, offices and private residences, and give good full weight, good coal and at reasonable prices. Hard coal is becoming a favorite among the Dwight people; it is as economical as soft coal in the long run and cleanly, no black dust or dirt with it. Messrs. Flagler & Son having been so long in business in Dwight and having served their customers faithfully in the past is sufficient guarantee that they will continue to do so in the future giving them the best possible value for the least money. By giving these gentlemen your orders for building material or coal, you will find yourself saving both time and money.

H. E. Seigert---Electric Light Plant.

No one can say now that Dwight is not progressing, and that her citizens are not enterprising. Here we have our electric light plant owned by one of our old established business men, Mr. H. E. Seigert has purchased the plant and is putting in a new dynamo, of 650 16 candle incandescent lights to be used in connection with the one previously used by the Thompson. Houston company, also one 150 horse power engine built by the Bates machine house of Joliet, and two boilers 125 horse power each. He proposes to use the incandescent light for stores, offices and private residences giving the renters a fine light for a small charge. This light will do away with the old foggy lamps, being a step towards reducing the chances of fire in our town, and giving a fine clear light eight times as strong as your best lamps and without the trouble and dirt in cleaning them and merely turning on a tap like gas. Families having children around the house will be at once the necessity of precaution, besides the saving of time, etc. Mr. Seigert has got the contract for arc light which will be for five years. Let every household give him aid and subscribe for electric lights in their homes and we will have a pretty town, well lighted and not behind any in general effect. All these points tend to make real estate and business improve and go toward making an upward tendency in everything connected with our well-known town of Dwight. Mr. Seigert is an old established citizen of Dwight and is well-known as a good business man, and this reference is a sufficient guarantee that when he undertakes supplying this light to the citizens it will be a perfect success and at reasonable rates.
