For the accommodation of their many patrons the Empire steam laundry has established offices at Diefenbach's, Roeder's and Reeb's barber shops. Their work is excellent and promptly done.

Chas. Nord, superintendent of the telegraph lines from Braidwood to Chenoa, and the Branch, is a busy man, having to run over the line most every day. He is supplied with instructions to ride on any train, engine or anything that travels on the Alton line. He can stop any train at any time and hold it until his work is finished if necessary.

Mr. P. J. McGraw is the oldest employe as conductor on the C. & A. except Mr. M. V. Shaver, of Bloomington. Twenty years ago Mr. McGraw took charge of his first train out of Bloomington for Chicago as conductor, with engine 49, Mr. Lew Van Buskirk, as engineer. The latter is now at Venice, superintendent of machinery for the C. & A. What can be justly said of Mr. McGraw for his services for so many years can be said of few railroad men. He has not cost his company one dollar through neglect or carelessness.

Last But Not Least.

The last entertainment of the series given under the auspices of the Slayton Epworth League of M. E. church, at the church Monday night, was the best of all. The Walter Emerson Concert Company was the attraction and it surely was an attraction. Every selection was excellent.

Edwin M. Shonert in his instrumental selection is very fine. He can make a piano talk.

Miss Mae Fowler's readings were excellent features of the entertainment. Her rendering of "Bivouac on the Battlefield," with the assistance of the company, was one of the prettiest things ever listened to in Dwight.

Pretty Little Miss Bertha Webb, the accomplished violinist, is almost perfect in her renderings and was encoored after every selection.

The contralto soloist, Miss Mannie Babcock, captured the audience with her sweet voice, and was forced by applause to respond to encores after every appearance.

Mr. Walter Emerson's appearance on the platform was greeted with applause, and his selections on his cornet more yet. He is a great blower, is Mr. Emerson, and the tones from his instrument are as clear and perfect as possible.

The Epworth League of Dwight deserve great credit for their enterprise in securing for the people of Dwight such excellent entertainments for the amusement season. Every entertainment has been first-class in every particular, and the engaging of such companies was a great risk for any society to run. The companies cost the League $100 each or $500 in all, and the expense of printing, etc. The total expense has been $560 and the total receipts about $570. Thus it will be seen that the labors of the League have been more for the public than for themselves.

The financial success is due to the young ladies who sold the season tickets, and to J. P. McWilliams, who secured the attractions at a lower figure than generally charged. All connected with the affair deserve praise, and we hope to see them repeat their efforts next year with better financial success.

Speaks For Itself.

The following was received from Joe Reed, the genial editor of the Delavan, Ill., Press. Much obliged Mr. Reed, but we would like to distinguish the color of some of that wealth you speak of:

MESSRS. ZIMMERMAN & DUSTIN, Gentlemen.—Enclosed find 20 cts in stamps. Be kind enough to mail me your daily. You are making a great paper out of the S. & H., and I predict much future wealth for your coffers. Respectfully JOSEPH.

President Moore.

We present to-day a fine portrait of President S. B. Moore, of the Bichloride of Gold Club of the World.

Mr. Moore first saw the light of day in Pittsburg, Penn., January 17, 1850, and therefore is 42 years of age—comparatively a young man. He is a resident of Pittsburg, Penn., and a man of wealth, of excellent social standing and influence, and is at present engaged in the real estate business in a suburb of Pittsburg. Mr. Moore is one of the whole-souled, liberal minded and liberal hearted gentlemen that it is a pleasure to meet. Since his graduation at Dwight he has been the means of accomplishing much good for humanity.

Walter M. Weese.

A portrait of Walter M. Weese, "our village blacksmith," is presented to-day. Mr. Weese was the first secretary of the Bichloride of Gold Club, and owner of the shop in which the club was first organized. Mr. Weese is a young man and has been a resident of Dwight for several years, and is well known as a jovial, every day (including Sunday) gentleman. Walter is just the same always, whether in his shop or not and always ready to give and take a joke. He is a genial gentleman and popular in this community.

Treatment Hall.

The interior view of the treatment hall of The Leslie E. Keeley Co. on the first page with the patients in line is not as good a cut as we expected to present, but will give an idea to those who never witnessed it, of the formation of the patients as they pass the physicians for hypodermic treatment. We expect before long to present another cut showing the lines and the physicians desks and typewriters and book keepers on either side.

D. H. S. A.

All alumni of the Dwight High School are requested to meet in the high school room Saturday, Feb. 20, at 2 o'clock p. m.; for the purpose of re-organizing the Alumni association, electing officers and making arrangements for a banquet in June, '92.

By order of a self-appointed Com.

Tuesday Morning Session.

The Dwight club held their regular session Tuesday morning, Chairman McNeil presiding.

Fourteen members were admitted.

After the disposal of routine business Mr. Newton, of Ohio, who graduated last night, talked a few minutes from the platform, several interesting letters were read from old members, among them from Chas. K. Warner, and Dr. A. D. Douglass. Lagage Pratt was appointed to succeed Mr. Hopley, of Ohio, on the amusement committee.

The club then adjourned in order to call the convention at the regular time.

"SHOTS."

Mr. O. B. Stanton, of the Livingston, is an interested delegate at the convention.

Several of the Keeley faculty listened to the lecture of Dr. Keeley at the convention last night.

Among those who came down from Chicago and heard Dr. Keeley's lecture last night was O. W. Nash, ex-chairman this club, and present president of the Chicago club. Mr. Nash was a very popular man when here and his election to this office at Chicago is a just tribute.

James A. Heft, of Dixon, Ill., a prominent club member and member of the club orchestra while here, came in Tuesday morning and will represent his club at the convention.

Sculptor Birt is making sketches of prominent delegates for the Banner of Gold.
