

BLAINE IS NOT IN IT, SAYS HE'S NOT A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE.

The Secretary of State Writes a Letter of Withdrawal, Announcing that He Will Not Go Into the Convention—What Politicians Say.

Blaine is not a candidate for the Presidency. He has made this official announcement in the following letter to Chairman Clarkson, of the Republican National Committee.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Hon. J. S. Clarkson, Chairman of the Republican National Committee. Dear Sir:—I am not a candidate for the Presidency, and my name will not go before the Republican National Convention for the nomination. I make this announcement in due season.

To those who have tendered me their support I owe sincere thanks, and am most grateful for their confidence.

They will, I am sure, find earnest effort in the approaching contest, which is rendered especially important by reason of the industrial and financial policies of the Government being at stake. The popular decision on these issues of great moment and will be of far-reaching consequences. Very sincerely yours, JAMES G. BLAINE.

In speaking of his withdrawal Mr. Blaine said: "I don't suppose any man would suggest the office can truthfully say he doesn't care for it. I confess I would like to be President, but I will never again risk my health and life in seeking it."

The office of Secretary of State is a broad enough field for me during the rest of my public career. Democrats agree with Blaine not being in the race.

White no one in Washington, writes our correspondent, questions that the ultimate effect of Mr. Blaine's declination will be the re-nomination of President Harrison, the immediate result will be to start up all the favorite son candidates.

Senator Cullom's expectation of a Cullom delegation from Illinois, with some support from the new States in the North-west, has already been set forth, and it is said the Illinois Senators will not start in as an avowed candidate and will have his name presented to the Minneapolis convention.

Mr. Reed really has the Presidential ambition and wants to get in training for a nomination. The only possible candidacy that excites much attention is John Sherman's.

Mr. Sherman himself is a staunch supporter of the administration. The nomination of Mr. Sherman at Columbus in January left some ill-feeling on the part of the Foraker people to the administration, and it was supposed that a fight between Foraker and Sherman for the nomination of Minnesota would be inevitable.

Some of the Ohio politicians of the Republican faith who have been here during the last week have been discussing the question as to whether or not Mr. Blaine would withdraw.

rest promised over the election of delegates. Blaine's withdrawal is exciting politicians all over the country, and both Democrats and Republicans are expressing themselves freely as to the outcome.

A prominent Minnesota Republican says: "It is difficult to foretell what the Republicans of the State will do under the changed condition brought by the withdrawal of Mr. Blaine's letter, but Mr. Blaine's withdrawal will probably add quite a number to those who favor the nomination of the President."

As to Senator Allison, a Des Moines correspondent sends a telegram, saying: "There is no one here who is in position to speak for Senator Allison, but it is known that when he was in Iowa during the campaign he spoke in terms of high praise of the administration of President Harrison, and expressed himself as favoring his re-nomination."

Henry C. Payne, Chairman of the Wisconsin Republican State Central Committee, said that if a new man is to be nominated it may be Secretary Rusk. Since it became generally understood that Blaine was to decline, Rusk's name, he says, has been very prominently mentioned.

Some of Senator Cullom's friends on being interviewed expressed themselves as being confident that the Illinois Senator would receive the solid backing of his State at Minneapolis, and would be the leading candidate before the convention.

Senator McMillan, of Michigan, said: "General Alger is now a candidate for the Republican nomination and will go into the contest with the solid backing from his own State, with support from Michigan, and with a stronger following than many people and better chance of success than most people think for."

It is the unanimous opinion among Republicans at Indianapolis that the letter takes Blaine entirely out of the question as a Presidential candidate, and leaves the President with a practically clear field for the party nomination.

In a small village in France a woman died labor. The physician present, but a knowing practitioner, operated by which he brought a living child into the world. This exhibition of presence of mind and expertise, resulting in the saving of one life was, however, contrary to man-made law.

FRENCH physicians report a curious and almost unexampled disorder in a woman only 21 years of age. She looks as though she were 70. She is said to have a decrepitude of the cutaneous system.

MR. KENNAN, who braved indescribable hardships of all sorts in his travels all over Russia, says: "The vilest stuff I ever saw was the human manure of the Caucasus Mountains. It was made from the feet of cattle, including the hoofs. The taste and smell of the stable pervaded the dish."

TESTS of human endurance, which have rather more of sensational than practical and useful influence, continue to be made—doubtless because somebody finds it possible to make something out of it.

AN EFFECTUAL Remedy. He—There is a certain young lady deeply interested in me, and while I like her, you know, still I never could love her. I want to put an end to it without breaking the poor girl's heart. Can you suggest any plan?

He—"Do you call her often?" He—"No, indeed. Not any oftener than I can possibly help." She—"Call oftener."—New York Truth.
