

The Troop's Unpopularity—A Chief of Police, Unsuccessful Politician—President Harrison to Buy the Old Homestead—Doctors Fight to the Death.

Congressional.

On the 12th, on motion of Mr. Hayes of Iowa, a bill was passed authorizing the Illinois and Ohio Railway and Terminal Company to construct a bridge across the Mississippi River at Moline, Ill. Representative Cooper, of Indiana, made a statement before the House Pension Office investigating Committee in detail and in explanation of the charges made against him by Commissioner Kauss. In the Senate Mr. Cullom introduced a bill to establish a branch of the Illinois of the Columbian Exposition, and it was referred to the Committee on Finance.

TOLD IN A FEW WORDS.

Mrs. Eddie E. Baker, of Staunton, Va., is in search of an eloping family, consisting of her two daughters, her second husband and his son. She says that after she had been a widow some time she married Mr. Baker, a widower living near by. He induced her to turn her farm into money and then started for Washington, ostensibly to see about a war claim. He took the girls, aged eighteen and twenty, along for his visit.

Some diversions flood news is coming from California. The "The Bigges" River rose over two feet higher than ever in its history. The town is full of people who come from the surrounding plantations, and are being fed by the citizens. The loss of life is great. Fourteen persons are known to have been drowned.

At Brazil, Ind., the Trooped murderer who had been in the house for several years past, his only companion being a large black Newfoundland dog, which growled and showed its teeth when the policeman approached the body in order to cut it down the dog sprang at him.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

Ring Mayberry and George Simmons two powerful men, quarreled on the streets of Hot Springs, Ark. Simmons was armed with a pair of slung shot and his antagonist with a large knife. Both men repeatedly plunged their weapons into each other. Before the men could be separated Mayberry was fatally wounded, and Simmons received injuries which may result in death.

Water in the Southern States is reported high and heavy rains, which are carrying away railway bridges and flooding the country, Texas is suffering from a drought which is ruining crops and causing the deaths of thousands of cattle.

Dispatches from points throughout Nebraska indicate an alarming loss of cattle during the late storms. Between North Platte and the city of Lincoln 1200 cattle lie drowned in the North Platte River. Several thousand calves perished in the blizzard.

John W. Wooley, aged 55, one of Quantrell's lieutenants during the war, was sentenced at St. Joseph, Mo., to serve a one-half year in the State Prison. He has not been at liberty six months at a time since the war closed. He acquired the habit of horse-stealing while a guerrilla and cannot break it.

Ralph Chandler, the ascending cashier of the Lake Shore Road, was held in custody on charges of embezzlement from Detroit, has been set at liberty.

Friday morning, at Toronto, Ark., A. Frazer was hanged for assaulting his 13-year-old stepdaughter.

Some diversions flood news is coming from California. The "The Bigges" River rose over two feet higher than ever in its history. The town is full of people who come from the surrounding plantations, and are being fed by the citizens. The loss of life is great.

At Brazil, Ind., the Trooped murderer who had been in the house for several years past, his only companion being a large black Newfoundland dog, which growled and showed its teeth when the policeman approached the body in order to cut it down the dog sprang at him.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

At Reading, Pa., Howard Hoyer, 15 years of age, was taken to the hospital on the charge of being the New York City boy who had been exposed. He confessed that he and two other boys turned the switches and placed a pick handle on the engine jump and the fun. Warrants are out for his companions.

The loss to the mill is $50,000, uninsured. A large volume of lumber in the river near the mill was burned.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Caston Chris Rath, the executioner of Mrs. Serratt and the other Lincoln conspirators, was suddenly bereft of reason at the trial. He had been a prominent agent for twenty years between Grand Rapids and Jackson, Mich.

Mrs. Florence Clark, of Newtown Conn., has just died in Florida of Cuban fever, and her husband, Abel Clark, is dangerously ill and may die. Five weeks ago the couple were married, after a courtship of twelve years, and went to Cuba on their wedding tour. Both were taken ill with the Cuban fever and hastened back to the United States.

Justice Fassler, of the Court of Queen's Bench, and long a prominent figure in provincial and Dominion affairs, died at Quebec.

Miss Alice Durant Field, daughter of Cyrus W. Field, Field, was adjudged insane.

At New York, George W. Long, an expatriate in the United States, was found dead in his room. He had been taken to a hospital, where he died. His death was due either to opium poisoning or alcoholism. Long was 42 years old.

The Rev. Dr. J. A. Benton, one of the oldest Congregational ministers on the Pacific coast, and President of the Golden Gate Union, died recently in his residence in Oakland from bronchitis. He was born at Guilford, Conn., seventy-three years ago, graduated from Yale College, and went to California in 1849.

Mrs. McKee has been called to Washington by the illness of her mother, Mrs. J. H. McKee, who is seriously ill and, it is supposed, requires her daughter's attention. Mrs. Harrison has not been well for some weeks, doubtless due to some extent to the exacting duties of her position. She is suffering with an attack of bronchitis.

POLITICAL.

In the election in Rhode Island, Wednesday, the Republicans secured the Legislature by a small majority on joint ballot. The Democratic candidate for Governor polled a plurality, but as a majority is required, the election will be thrown into the Legislature. The same condition prevails as to all other State officers and to Senator Aldrich's re-election.

The Arkansas Republican State Convention, called to order by H. M. Cooper, talks with the delegates indicate that, while Blaine would have been the first choice of sentiment is now in favor of the renomination of President Harrison. A resolution has been adopted, countering the administration and favoring his nomination.

The bill providing for a constitutional convention passed the New York Assembly by a party vote.

Massachusetts Democrats at their State Convention, declared in favor of Cleveland for President.

The Fort Wayne (Ind.) Evening Sentinel, the leading Democratic paper of Northern Indiana, announces upon authority of a close political friend of Claude Matthews, the present Secretary of State, of the Indiana, that Matthews will positively be a candidate for Governor before the coming State Convention.

FOREIGN.

A revolution is threatened in Hawaii.

The petition sets forth that a tax of 3 cents per ton is levied for the maintenance of the river police and 2 cents per ton for sick months. The imposition of these taxes has provoked reprisals on the part of the United States, which levies 3 cents a ton on all vessels coming from Canada and the maritime provinces. It is this tax which abolished at Quebec the board is satisfied that the Canadian board would exempt Canadian vessels, as it did last year in the case of those of the British colony of Tobago.

Frank Johnson, a prominent lumber merchant of Fort Wayne, Ind., while superintending the building of a raft of logs in the Maumee River, was so badly crushed by a log rolling over him that he cannot live.

The steamskip Phidias, from Santos, arrived at New York short seven of her crew. While lying at Santos yellow fever broke out on board, and three of her crew were taken ashore and left. On the trip Ross, a doctor, died, and Patrick McCleskey, all members of the crew, died of the fever. Engineer Combs was drowned while taking a sea bath.

While Mrs. Loshen, wife of a well-to-do farmer in Centerville, N. J., was getting a cow some feed, the cow overturned the tub in which she was milking. Mrs. Loshen attempted to right the tub, when the cow suddenly raised its head and Mrs. Loshen was impaled on its horns. She screamed for help and when rescued it was found that she had been dangerously wounded in the stomach.

The Rev. William Henry Strickland, a Baptist minister of Augusta, Ga., was charged by a coroner's jury with involuntary manslaughter. It seems that about Feb. 12 Dr. Strickland, the principal of the Clark Street Academy, severely chastised the 15-year-old son of J. Nash, inflicting a number of blows. The boy subsequently died of blood poisoning. It is said, caused from the bruises inflicted upon him by Dr. Strickland.

R. J. Gunning, the Chicago sign-painter, and J. M. Rice, manager of the Household Loan Association, were arrested for violating the laws against counterfeiting by painting representations of Treasury bills on advertising boards.

As a result of the meeting of the representatives of the continental steamship lines, held in Europe, it is announced that an increase in steamer rates will be made. The Hamburg-American company rates are advanced from $25 to $30, the Red Star from $20 to $27.50, and the North German Lloyd from $24 to $30. It is said that the enforcement of the immigration laws, causing more expense to the companies, necessitates the increase in rates.

Every year about a million one thousand poll taxes left unpaid in Shrewsbury Township, N. J. The township committee has decided to enforce the tax by means of tax warrants, issued by a justice of the peace and served by a county police officer. If the poll tax is not paid, the delinquent will be sent to jail, to remain until tax and costs are paid.

FINANCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL.

Since April 1 the Southern Express Company has discharged about ninety express messengers for being members of the Messengers' Brotherhood. The move was entirely unexpected by the messengers, who thought all trouble between themselves and the company ended with the strike of the Brotherhood. The Brotherhood men are greatly discouraged, and admit that the prompt and decisive organization of the companies has robbed the organization of all potency.

Boston proposes to take half of all earnings of its street railroads above 8 per cent.

Bitters' Hostetter has been used for $1,500,000 at Baltimore for damages resulting from a deal in stocks.

William S. Hart & Co., iron and steel dealers of Philadelphia, have failed. They have been doing a business of $2,000,000 a year on a capital of $75,000.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO. CATTLE—Common to Prime, 8.75 to 9.00; Choice, 9.00 to 9.25; Sheep—Fair to Choice, 4.00 to 5.00; Wheat—No. 2 Red, 84 to 85; Corn—No. 2, 29 to 30; Oats—No. 2, 22 to 23; Butter—No. 1, 27 to 28; Eggs—No. 1, 17 to 18; Potatoes—No. 1, 3.00 to 3.25.

GROVER IS IN DOUBT.

SAYS HIS SELECTION MAY BE AN UNWISE MOVE.

The Ex-President writes a Letter to That Effect to a Chattanooga Democrat—Sentiment and Personal Devotion Should Be Thrown Aside—Decline in Wheat.

Letter from Mr. Cleveland. A movement was started in this State a few weeks ago, says a Chattanooga, Tenn., dispatch, to organize Cleveland Democrats in every city and town in Tennessee. The movement grew rapidly, and within a few days clubs were formed in Memphis, Nashville, Knoxville, Clarksville and Chattanooga. The club in this city was organized two weeks ago, when nearly all the local Democrats came forward and signed their names to the roster of members. James H. Bible made a ringing speech, in which he eulogized Mr. Cleveland and declared that the delegation from Tennessee must go to the Chicago convention, instead of voting for the man of destiny, as long as his name remained in nomination. Mr. Bible's address created great enthusiasm and his speech was printed in full in the local newspapers. Copies were mailed to Mr. Cleveland, and the following letter, the first in which the ex-President has referred in any way to his candidacy:

Lakewood, N. J., April 18, 1892. To James H. Bible, Chattanooga, Tenn.: My Dear Sir: I desire to thank you for the report of the meeting at Chattanooga, which you so kindly sent me, and for the copy of the address which you have given me. I am exceedingly anxious to have our party do exactly the right thing at the Chicago Convention, and I hope that the delegates will be guided by that spirit and not by true Democratic spirit and the single desire to succeed on principle. I should not be frank if I did not say to you that I often regret to have you and other able and successful friends as you say of me, and I have frequent misgivings as to the wisdom of again putting me in nomination. I therefore regret that I cannot do more than to measure personal devotion which has been checked when the delegates to the convention reach the period of deliberation. I am ever, therefore, your sincere friend and admirer. Yours very truly, GROVER CLEVELAND.

BIG SLUMP IN WHEAT.

May Wheat Drops Five Cents in Less Than an Hour at Chicago.

The Chicago wheat market started off Monday as it were going out of sight; it finally collapsed and dropped as if a bomb had burst in the market. It had resulted, it was a most remarkable affair, however. Without the collapse of any corner, without any sensational failure, without any panic of any sort, there was a straightaway decline in the price of five cents. This big drop was charged to the period of deliberation. It was a drop from under 85 cents, which people had orders to execute were in distress every minute. Although the market had the semblance of a big one, it was impossible to execute big orders at anything like the usual price. It was charged that it was impossible most of the time to execute orders for 25,000 at one price. These difficulties were advanced early, when the market was advancing, as they were later, when the market was going to pieces. The scalp of the market fluctuations was afraid to act. "Kicks" from customers were innumerable. Explanations were almost impossible, because traders themselves hardly knew why it was they were doing so poorly.

The first incident was the receipt of weak cables, a surprise all around. The Government report Saturday afternoon had made the condition of winter wheat 81, a very low figure, as almost everybody on this side thought. It was the expectation that the foreigners would look at it in the same way. An opening decline at Liverpool was a stunner. The trade didn't know what to make of it. A heavy thought struck one bright fellow. Liverpool was laboring under a misapprehension. There had been a drop in the price Saturday, and there also had been the Government report. The drop in the price had preceded the Government report, and had had nothing to do with it. But here was the discovery; Liverpool, the bright man said, thought the Saturday decline at Chicago was the Government report. Pretty nearly everybody adopted that idea, and it was charged that it was with being stupid, and declared that the closing Liverpool cables would be higher. The theory helped the price of wheat. May had opened at 84. It got to 85. But it did not hold. It fell to 83. London set the leading. Messrs. Baring, Phillips & Co., of London, a concern known to grain people the world over for thirty years, were announced suspended. The jig was up from that moment. Wheat started down. From 85 cents it got to 83 cents in 20 minutes. It was down from 83 cents to 82 cents. At 83 cents it was at 80 cents for May, 5 cents under the price of the early morning. The close, 80 cents, was only a little over the bottom.

St. Louis. In the stomach of a dead St. Louis man was found a pint of old iron. He had eaten it for years before it finally entered his soul.—Columbus Post.

In the stomach of a man who died in St. Louis the other day was found an ass's head of broken glass. He had not been drinking Milwaukee water. He was merely a professional swallower of odds and ends.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The professional living skeleton who proposes to sue a doctor in one of the public institutions for $200,000 for not removing the skeleton—the doctor, not the doctor's—seems to have just ground for complaint. He must be a mean surgeon that would rob a dime museum skeleton of his muscular tissue.—New York Post.

St. Louis. The 4th of July last year Albert Simon, aged 16, of Gainesville, Pa., has through various accidents broken his right arm twice, each of his legs once, three ribs, his nose, collar-bone and his left arm. Young Mr. Simon would like to take his round in small parcels labeled "with care."—New York World.

A few days ago a man died in St. Louis who for some time past had been in the habit of swallowing nails and pieces of iron and glass, apparently without injury. He died in New Jersey from the effects of two grape seeds which lodged in his stomach several months ago. The human stomach seems to be an eccentric organ.—Indianapolis Journal.

THE NATIONAL SOLONS.

SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Our National Lawmakers and What They Are Doing for the Good of the Country—Various Measures Proposed, Discussed, and Acted Upon.

Doings of Congress. In the House, the first bill introduced by Mr. Breckinridge of Kentucky to repeal the tariff, was three times extended. Mr. Breckinridge was accorded an ovation when he closed, and for fully two months the House suspended business while members from both sides of the chamber crowded about him to congratulate him on the eloquence and force of his speech. Before the Senate, the Russian Minister, strove, said that the Russian Government would ever be the friend of the United States and this Government. In great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already cut about $100,000,000 for the relief of the famine-stricken people of Russia, and this Government, in great commendation for the magnificent manner in which they had come to the front in the war, and that the Russian Government had not been suffering from a loss of crops; that the Russian Government had already