What Your Great Grandmother Did.

She hetcheled the flax and carded the wool, and wove the linen, and spun the tow and made the clothes for her husband and ten children. She made butter and cheese, she dipped tallow candles to light the house at night, and she cooked all the food for her household by an open fire place and a brick oven. Yes; and when she was forty years of age, she was already an old lady whose best days were over. Her shoulders were bent and her joints enlarged by hard work, and she wore spectacles and a cap.

Her great granddaughter, with all the modern conveniences for comfort, refinement and luxury, may be as charming and attractive at forty-five as at twenty. Especially is this true if she preserves her health by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which wards off all female ailments and irregularities, cures them if they already exist, keeps the life current healthful and vigorous and enables the woman of middle age to retain the freshness of girlhood upon brow and cheek, the light of youth in her eyes, and its elasticity in her step.

Go to your drug store, pay a dollar, get a bottle and try it—try a second, a third if necessary. Before the third one's been taken you'll know that there's a remedy to help you. Then you'll keep on and a cure'll come.

But if you shouldn't feel the help, should be disappointed in the results—you'll find a guarantee printed on the bottle-wrapper that'll get your money back for you.

Can you ask more?

"A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills."

Thousands of women have been benefited by Mrs. Pinkham's advice, and cured by her remedies after all other treatment had failed. *Lydia E. S.S.S.
CURES
MALARIAL POISON

Nature should be assisted to throw off impurities of the blood. Nothing does it so well, so promptly, or so safely as Swift's Specific.

LIFE HAD NO CHARMS.

For three years I was troubled with malarial poison, which caused my appetite to fail, and I was greatly reduced in flesh, and life lost all its charms. I tried mercurial and potash remedies, but to no effect. I could get no relief. I then decided to try S.S.S. A few bottles of this wonderful blood medicine made a complete and permanent cure, and I now enjoy better health than ever.

WORK OF THE RIOTOUS IDAHO MINERS.

Troops Are Delayed—Threats of a Massacre of Non-Union Men if Soldiers Approach—Mines Charged with Dynamite and Fuses Attached.

Preparing to Fight.

A Boise City (Idaho) dispatch says: Gov. Willey has issued a proclamation placing Shoshone County under martial law. Word has been received that three companies of Federal troops from Missoula have arrived at Mullan. The other troops have not been heard from. Adjt. Gen. Curtis, who is in command for the State and who went to Cœur d'Alene in advance of the outbreak, has not been heard from and it is feared that he has fallen into the hands of the strikers. A dispatch to the Governor from Gen. Hey burn at Spokane says that union men drove 132 non-union miners out, firing on them and killing two.

At Portland, Ore., the Union Pacific Company has received word from Cœur d'Alene that the Northern Pacific railroad bridge, together with several hundred feet of track, was blown up by strikers west of Mullan. The company is preparing to take all non-union men out of the mines to Tekoa. The union men assert that the moment troops appear on the scene they will blow up Bunker Hill, Sullivan, Sierra Nevada and Gem mines. The burning of the bridge near Mullan will hold troops there, unless they march on foot to Wallace and Wardner, a distance of about ten miles. It is now reported that the union men have taken Van B. Delashmutt of Portland, William Sweeny and other mine owners and will hold them as hostages until the trouble is settled. It is reported that the telegraph wires to Wardner have been cut.

Superintendent Dickinson of the Northern Pacific telegraphed the Governor from Tacoma that their tracks and bridges have been destroyed in the vicinity of Mullan and Wallace, and that wires have been cut. They will hold the county responsible. Another message to the Governor says that several non-union men have been blown up and that the union men propose to fight the troops to the death.

A special train over the Union Pacific left Portland, bearing 200 troops of the Fourteenth Infantry from Van Couver, Washington, for Cœur d'Alene mines. A special train over the Union Pacific arrived at Pendleton, bearing troops from Idaho. Two companies have left Fort Sherman for the scene of the trouble. In all about 700 United States troops and militia are on their way to the mines.

Gen. Schofield has ordered as additional troops to the Cœur d'Alene district four companies of infantry from Fort Spokane, Washington, a troop of cavalry and six companies of infantry from Vancouver barracks, Washington. These troops, with those previously ordered from Fort Sherman and Fort Missoula, will give Col. Carlton a tive force of nearly 800 men.

WILL CLOSE SUNDAY.

The Senate Takes Decisive Action in the Matter.

The United Senate, by a vote of 51 to 14, has approved the $5,000,000 appropriation in aid of the World's Fair. Attached to the appropriation is the following important proviso:

"That the appropriation provided in this act shall be upon condition that the said World's Columbian Exposition shall be closed on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday."

Another condition of equal importance has been attached, although it is likely to be struck out on a reconsideration. It is as follows:

"Provided the sale of intoxicating liquor on the Exposition grounds shall be prohibited, except for medical, botanical, or scientific purposes."

The final contest on the World's Fair items came up in the Senate Wednesday afternoon as the climax to the three successive days of debate which have been given the subject. Through a fiction of the Senate the bill was not before the Senate itself, but before the "committee of the whole" for preliminary revision and amendments. It was in this committee of the whole that the important action was taken, so that there is still opportunity for change when the committee of the whole reports to the full Senate. The votes were so decisive, however, that there is no possibility of changes upon the $5,000,000 appropriation or upon the Sunday question.

According to a Washington dispatch, there is a certainty that an effort will be made to strike out the liquor prohibition, and, as this was passed by only two majority, the prospects are that the prohibition will be eliminated. The two Illinois Senators who voted for the liquor prohibition have determined to change their votes, which is sufficient to change the narrow majority which was given on the first vote.

Femininities.

We hear of men sowing wild oats, but who ever heard of a woman sewing anything but tares.

Miss Tompkins says that every unmarried lady of forty has passed the Cape of Good Hope.

An Indiana woman claims to have worn a corset for seventy years. A rather protracted stay.

Glynn County, Ga., has a woman hermit who has only spoken to three persons in sixteen years.

Daniel Baugle, Sr., a resident of Jeffersonville, Ind., claims to be 103 years old. He is in good health.

Mrs. Kimball, of San Francisco, asks for a divorce because her husband toted coal upstairs for another woman.

A young man declares that his sweetheart is so tender-hearted that she cannot be persuaded to strike a light.

When a woman declares she has ceased loving you, she means she is going to take a new start and love you more than ever.

Playing four-handed pieces on the piano is the favorite and almost sole (save dressing) amusement of the Princess of Wales.

There is no special style in engraving engagements rings. A spider's web with a fly in it has been suggested as a pretty device.

A Frenchman has succeeded, it is said, in producing an excellent driving belt parchmenting the leather instead of tanning it. The belts have greater durability and do not stretch.

WHAT OF THE WEATHER

FOSTER'S FORECASTS TELL THE STORY.

The Weather Will Continue Very Warm—Drouth in the Cotton Belt—Winter Will Be Late and Fall Wheat Should Be Sown Late.

Meteorological Matters.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from 17th to 21st, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the western mountains by the close of the 23d, the great central valleys from 24th to 26th, and the Eastern States about the 27th.

The weather will continue to average very warm, and the principal storm waves and rainfalls will range northward. Portions of the cotton belt will suffer greatly from drouth, while in some of the Upper Mississippi Valley States excessive rains will occur.

A good stage of water for navigation purposes will continue in the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers.

In the Northern States the time for fall plowing is near at hand, and the ground is expected to be in good condition, with moisture sufficient to give fall sown crops a good start. Winter will come late, we will have a late fall, and the winter crops will make a large growth before the first of December, therefore where a large growth of fall wheat is not desired, it will be best to sow late.

In the Southern States the weather will be more favorable to winter gardening than last winter was.

Local Forecasts.

Weather changes move from west to east across the continent, and each local forecast is made for within 250 miles east and west of the magnetic meridian mentioned, and for all the country between 25 and 50 degrees of north latitude. These local weather changes will occur within twenty-four hours before or after sunset of the dates given:

The Earth's Geology.

If the atmosphere at one time contained all the carbon now stored away in the earth, it is claimed that plant life would then have grown 1,000 times more rapidly than now, because carbon, in the condition of carbonic acid, is the food of plants. That may be true, but I do not believe it.

The sunshine is necessary to the growth of plant life, but too much sunshine will kill the plant. Water is necessary to plant life, but too much water will destroy it. Carbonic acid is necessary to plant life, but let us increase the amount now in the atmosphere 1,000 times, and who will say that it would not destroy plant life?

The Upas valley in Java is not necessarily a desert, but as no vegetable grows there, it is believed that the carbonic acid, which is eighteen feet deep, is the cause of its bare fields.

Things are not what they seem. The beautiful evening star we see following the sun as it sinks in the west is as bright as any of the blazing orbs that are supposed to be on fire, but none of our astronomers hold that Venus is a burning world. In fact there is no proof that any of the planets contain more heat than does the earth, while it is well known that Jupiter and Saturn shine, to some extent, of their own light. In fact, the earth shines of its own light through its aurora, or northern lights, and these lights will yet be recognized as of the same nature as the inherent light of Jupiter, Saturn and the sun.

Every astronomer declares that the moon is a burned out, dead body, devoid of water, and without an atmosphere to collect and decaying world. Prof. Proctor says that the moon has a perceptible influence on our magnetic needles, and as magnetism is the source of light and heat, the magnetism, light and heat of our earth are affected by the cold, dead moon.

Then it is not necessary that the sun be a dead body, for its magnetism is all sufficient to produce the light and heat in our atmosphere. The supposed inherent heat of the sun is what leads geologists to the theory that the earth was once a burning body, as the sun now is.

We cannot have a correct basis for weather changes till we arrive at a correct theory as to the physical forces and the building of a universe, and all my arguments on geology and physical astronomy are directed toward the overthrow of the false basis upon which these inferences are placed. When I shall have shown the earth could not have come to its present condition along the lines pointed out by astronomers and geologists, I will then put forth the only true basis on which to build the sciences of physical astronomy, geology, and meteorology.

The French Are Not "Doggy."

The French are waking up about their dogs. Till a few years ago things were in a very bad way. Breeds were scarcely recognized, many of the old strains were almost lost, classification was impossible. Then an annual dog show was started. The idea took; it was at once English and patriotic, and it became fashionable. This year's show has been opened in the Tuileries, and it has beaten all the others. It is clear that the French will never be "doggy" as the English are. The show itself proves it. A Frenchman has a poodle to amuse his children and his wife, or he has his sporting dogs if he is a sporting man. Of these last he is very proud and will tell you that the English got their best pointers and setters by crossing with the French strain. But of the infinite variations of dogs, from toy terrier to St. Bernard mastiff, fairly well known even to the cockney, the Parisian is quite ignorant.

The best breed of French sporting dogs came from a Scotch kennel. They are now known as the Talbot race. Their ancestors were bred by a M. de Large, an enthusiastic sportsman of just a hundred years ago. He had to fly from France during the revolution, and to save his dogs he cut their ears and tails and thus disguised their breed. He himself escaped to England, but his love for his kennel caused him to return to Paris, when he was denounced and guillotined. After the Reign of Terror ended another great sportsman tried to collect such of the race as remained, and has been able to perpetuate the strain. These dogs are the great attraction of the present show.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Great Men's Visions.

Pope saw an arm apparently coming through the wall, and made inquiries after its owner.

Swedenborg believed that he had the privilege of interviewing persons in the spirit world.

Dr. Johnson heard his mother call his name in a clear voice, though she was at the time in another city.

Sir Joshua Reynolds, leaving his house, thought the lamps were trees, and the men and women bushes agitated by the breeze.

Oliver Cromwell, lying sleepless on his couch, saw the curtain open and a gigantic woman appear, who told him that he would become the greatest man in England.

Ravaillac, while chanting the "Miserere" and "De Profundis," believed that the sounds he emitted were of the nature and had the full effect of a trumpet.

Ben Jonson saw the watcher of the night an interested spectator of a crowd of Tartars, Turks, and Roman Catholics, who rose up and fought around his armchair until sunrise.

Opening the Canal.

The most acceptable proposition that can be made to persons troubled with chronic constipation is to open that important canal—the bowels. That proposition can be carried out by the parties interested if they resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most effective, most genial alterative extant. It is the mistake of many otherwise sensible people, that they resort to drastic, or, in other words, violent purgatives. Without exaggeration, this is highly injurious, since such medicaments make the bowels besides convulsing both them and the stomach with pain. Relief sought from the Bitters comes freely enough, but they never produce pain, excessive action, or subsequent weakness of the bowels. Liver and kidney trouble, malaria, dyspepsia, lack of stamina and a tendency to rheumatism, are remedied by this pleasant substitute for drenching cathartics.

Longevity.

It appears that the most dangerous of all callings is that of coachmen, most of whom die from consumption or bronchitis. The result is ascribed largely to indulgence in alcoholic drinks. But it is equally likely that their extreme susceptibility to diseases of the respiratory system is due to inhalation of dust. Our medical correspondent says: "In general terms the callings in which man inhales dust, and particularly hard dust, have a marked influence on the duration of life—those, for instance, in which iron is filed and those in which mineral substances are ground." Soft dusts, as those of flour, are very deleterious to health, also, but less so than the gritty, insoluble dusts, though the life of a baker is found to be by no means salubrious. The most favored persons are market gardeners, teachers, and clergymen.—New York Herald.

It Shut Them Up.

Hans Von Bulow on one occasion rebuked the feminine half of an oratorio chorus which he was rehearsing. While the tenors and basses were singing their parts, the sopranos and altos indulged in conversation. They were called to order several times, but paid no attention. Finally Von Bulow rapped upon his desk and called out: "Ladies, Rome does not have to be saved to-night," which remark produced the desired effect, to the delight of the men and the chagrin of the women.

Why He Died.

"He was overheated and took a drink of ice water. He soon began to complain of an intense pain in his stomach, and died in spite of everything that could be done for his relief." This is the statement that one finds in every newspaper nowadays. It will be repeated a great many times during this heated term, because people will be so foolish as to drink too much ice water while they are overheated. When you are in this condition, or having exposed yourself to a draught while perspiring freely you feel that you have taken cold, do not lose a moment, but get a bottle of Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure, and take it freely. It contains no poison, but it will restore your circulation to its normal condition, and thus relieve you of your trouble. There is nothing else in the market that equals it.
