Cat-Tails as Food.

Savages find many sources of food supply where civilized people would starve. In Utah the flowers of cat-tails, which bloom in the spring, are regarded as a delicacy, either raw or cooked. Boiled they make a very good soup. California Indians make bread from the pollen of cat-tails, which they collect in large quantities by beating it off from the plants and catching it on blankets.

"Beauty without grace is a hook without a bait." That's what the French think. Whether it be true or not, there are many American women who do not even possess the hook—beauty and attractiveness are denied them. Why? Because they're languid, cross and irritable. They know not what it is to be without pain or discomfort half the time.

That's it; suffer in silence—misunderstood—when there's a remedy—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—the kind that isn't an experiment, but which is sold, by druggists, under the guarantee that if you are disappointed in any way with it, you get your money back by applying to its makers.

A signal service to weak womenkind is the finding of lost health—the building up of a "run-down" system. Nothing does it so surely as the "Favorite Prescription." None like it!

For overworked, debilitated women, teachers, milliners, seamstresses, "shop-girls," nursing mothers—one and all are cured by it.

THE DURBOROW BILL PASSED BY THE HOUSE.

Colonel Fellows Eloquently Talks for the Fair—Bailey for the Filibusters—131 For and 83 Against—Must Close the Fair Sundays.

Settled the Squabble.

The House has passed the amended Durborow World's Fair bill by a vote of 131 yeas to 83 nays. The bill was signed by the Speaker as soon as the result was announced and was immediately sent over to the Senate. As passed the bill gives outright to the Columbian Exposition $2,500,000 on condition that the doors be closed on Sundays. The pledges made to the friends of the Fair were kept in every instance.

At noon Friday the House resumed, in committee of the whole, the consideration of the bill. Mr. Cummings, of New York, opened the opposition with a bitter speech against a proposition which he characterized as one which was intended to loot the Treasury. The World's Fair proposition had so mixed itself up with the Government that it was difficult to tell which was the World's Fair and which was the Government. The remnants of former Congresses had covered the floor so that it could hardly be told whether the present Congress or the heel-taps of former Congresses ran the House. It was a matter of pride with him that he had filibustered against this looting appropriation.

Mr. Fellows of New York eloquently supported the bill. The work, he said, was a Governmental one. The idea of the fair had been born in Congress; it had its inception here. From the start to the finish it was a Governmental work.

The debate continued until 1 o'clock. Much of it was entirely foreign to the question pending and referred to the Commissioner of Pensions. Precisely at 1 o'clock the Chairman of the committee of the whole stated that under the order of the House the committee must rise. Having arisen, the Durborow bill was reported to the House. The pending amendment (and the only one) was a substitute offered by Mr. De Armond, of Missouri, for the first section of the bill. It provides that if the World's Columbian Exposition shall deposit at a mint of the United States a sufficient quantity of silver bullion it shall be coined and delivered to the exposition in half dollar coins in amount not exceeding $5,000,000. The substitute was rejected; yeas, 76; nays, 139.

The roll was then called for the vote on the final passage of the Durborow bill and the result was—yeas, 114; nays, 75. A second call was ordered and the bill was passed by a vote of 131 to 83.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table after a futile effort to filibuster was made by Mr. Bailey of Texas. This passes the bill finally in the House.

NEW CURE FOR PNEUMONIA.

Blood of a Convalescent Injected Into the Sufferer's System.

A novel operation was performed at the Philadelphia hospital by Visiting Physician W. E. Hughes in the presence of the resident staff and nurses, and the result has been so favorable that it is now the opinion of the medical men interested that a new and immediate cure for pneumonia has been discovered.

The operation consisted in a patient who was recovering from the disease being bled, and his blood being infused into the arm of the sufferer. The patient on whom the operation was performed was a white man who had been brought in by the district surgeons. The convalescent from whom blood was extracted was a colored man.

An incision was made in the white man's upper arm, and one of the veins was isolated for about half an inch. After it had been bound and the natural flow of blood stopped, a slit was made in it and a tube with a wide aperture was inserted. Then about a pint of blood, extracted from the arm of the colored man, was poured in. Gravity carried it into the veins, and soon the blood was coursing through the man's body. In order that the body should not be supercharged with blood a similar amount was extracted previous to the operation. This was black and unhealthy-looking, while the blood infused was of a bright-red color.

After the operation the man's temperature rose, and symptoms similar to those that were noticed after the Koch lymph injections followed. In a few hours, however, a change for the better set in, and the next morning the man's temperature was normal, and apparently he is a well man.

According to the theory acted upon, the system of a convalescent is full of the pneumonia bacteria antidote, and when the blood charged with this is infused into a sufferer it works a cure immediately.

DEPOSITORS DISGUSTED.

Discouraging Result of the Examination of the Bank of El Reno.

The committee appointed by C. L. Severy, assignee of the defunct Bank of El Reno, O. T., has just made a partial statement of the condition of the bank's books and the financial standing of the president of the concern, S. W. Sawyer. The deposits of the bank, as far as the committee has progressed, are shown to be a little over $7,000, but such vehement protests were made by the citizens, that the expert accountants have refused to act further as examiners. Sawyer figured his assets on the books at $25,000, but this amount represents city property, which is nearly all contested and is really of no value at all. The partial statements of the committee have intensified the feeling against Sawyer, and one of the most prominent attorneys in the city said that unless Sawyer or his wife made a speedy settlement with his depositors he would be prosecuted for larceny.

IT is said that few ladies continue their piano playing long after their marriage. But it is believed that this announcement is made in order to encourage young men to enter matrimony.

THERE is some truth in the remark of the humorist to the effect that many men lose their health in getting wealth, and then lose their wealth in getting health.

ETHEL—I hope the men aren't going to wear those horrid broad-brimmed straw hats again this summer. Maud—Why? "Because they muss one's bang so so!"

FIERY MARS IN REVIEW

UNUSUAL CAPERS OF THE MYSTERIOUS TRAVELER.

All the Telescopes of the World Pointed at the Planet—Much New Scientific Knowledge Expected by Investigators—Nothing Yet Proved.

Mars Is a Mystery.

Lick Observatory has replied to many inquiries received during the present opposition of Mars, by telegraph and by letter, said Prof. Holden the other day. These inquiries indicate widespread interest, but in very many cases, at least, they appear to be based on misapprehension of the kind of work which is now being done on the planet here and elsewhere. The case is not as if astronomers were pushing out on an unknown ocean expecting to find an unknown continent. In such a case the mere announcement of discovery would be all that was needed and expected. The actual circumstances are very different. It is as if some one had undertaken to make a new survey of the State of Arkansas. For example, he would begin by measuring the base lines and by setting stakes and by observing angles and distances. At the end of weeks and months he would have his note-books filled with figures, and after a long season of calculation he would be able to issue a new and accurate map of the region, more accurate, that is, than any preceding one. This is precisely the immediate object of the observations of Mars which are now being made. The circumstances are very favorable in that the planet is unusually near to us. They are rather unfavorable in that the planet is very far south and therefore low down in the sky and subject to atmospheric disturbances. Future oppositions, in which the planet will be seen at greater altitude, will be more favorable, even if the planet be then considerably more distant.

The immediate object of our work is to make the map in question, and we already have enough material to be sure that we can considerably improve existing maps, although some of them are very fine, especially that made by Prof. Schiaparelli, for example. Of course, the ultimate object of all observations is to determine every possible physical peculiarity of the object to be investigated. If it is a planet, we wish to know how nearly it resembles the earth and whether it is fit to be inhabited by beings like ourselves.

With respect to Mars it has been proposed by certain very enthusiastic astronomers to determine the question, Is the planet actually inhabited? and this is a more difficult as well as important question than the mere inquiry as to whether it is fit to be so inhabited. In my opinion the time has not yet come to even speculate on the larger question, and my reason for saying this is that I think it very doubtful if all observations yet made, numerous as they are, are at all sufficient to enable us to pronounce even the lesser inquiry.

There is very little doubt that by and by science will be able to interpret all or nearly all of the phenomena now seen and to arrive at certainties. Just now it must be confessed that only a few things are certainly known with respect to our nearest planetary neighbors. I may say that I observed the planet at the opposition of 1875 and at every opposition since that time, and that my colleagues at Mount Hamilton and myself have faithfully followed the planet at the oppositions of 1888, 1890, and 1892. In fact, we are now giving nearly all the time of the great telescope to this work.

The Lick telescope has a magnifying power of 2,000, which would bring Mars and its moons within an apparent distance of 17,500 miles from the earth at the time of the nearest approach. But Mars hangs at a declination of 22 degrees, and the greatest magnifying power that can be brought to bear upon him will not be over 700, it is thought. That means that Mars can be brought apparently within 70,000 miles of the earth, and will appear through the telescope as if it were an object 50,000 miles away viewed by the naked eye.

WORK FOR TEMPERANCE.

Total Abstinence Union Holding an Interesting Session at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis special: About 1,000 prominent Catholics from all parts of the country are attending the meeting of the National Catholic Total Abstinence Union. To-day's proceedings began with high mass at St. John's. Among the leaders in the Catholic temperance movement here present at the convention is Father Doyle of New York, who is well known throughout the United States as the leading missionary worker of the Paulus order of New York City. It is likely that he will be selected to superintend the total abstinence literary bureau, as he is considered one of the most energetic workers in that branch.

Father Hanagan, of Philadelphia, is another delegate. He has the honor of being the president of four temperance societies and is noted for his earnest efforts in building up total abstinence unions throughout Pennsylvania.

The most striking delegate in appearance is Father Garland, of Ohio, whose white, wavy hair and finely cut features give him a distinguished appearance.

John O'Brien, the millionaire Catholic of St. Paul, is also present. He was chairman of the St. Paul committee that made the handsome contribution recently of $25,000 toward the endowment of the Father Mathew chair in the University at Washington. One of the interesting addresses was by Father Elliott, of New York, who advocated total abstinence in all the Catholic churches. To-night a mass meeting attended by several thousand Catholics was held in Masonic Hall.

Fools measure actions after they are done by the event; wise men, beforehand, by reason and right. The former look to the end to judge the act. Let me look at the act and leave the end with God.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

THE FIRST SESSION PASSES INTO HISTORY.

The Fair Bill Signed by the President—Members Hurry Away from the Capital Thrashing-Machine and Pitchfork Used to End Two Lives.

Finished Its Labors.

The first session of the LIId Congress has passed into history. The final adjournment came at 11 o'clock Friday night. One of the final acts of the session was the passage of the Durborow bill giving $2,500,000 to the World's Fair. President Harrison signed the World's Fair bill at 9:10 o'clock, and the pen which he used was surreptitiously captured by Col. Elliott F. Shepard of New York as a souvenir.

President Harrison drove to the Capitol at 8:30 o'clock in order to sign all the bills as might be passed during the expiring moments of the session. The President was accompanied by Secretaries Foster and Noble, Private Secretary Halford and a retinue of White House attendants. They went to the historic President's room in the lobby of the Senate, where the President immediately set about clearing away the pile of bills which were engrossed and ready for his signature. He was in light and breezy attire, with a white flower in his buttonhole, and the absence of a vest showed a broad expanse of white shirt-front. He came to a number of minor bills to which the Presidential signature was affixed. Then came one more bulky than the rest. It was the Durborow bill, carrying $2,500,000 to the World's Fair. The President read it through carefully and then, without hesitation, picked up his pen to sign. "Here, take this pen," said Secretary Halford, extending an ordinary stub pen instead of the one which the President had been using. Mr. Harrison took the pen and scratched his name on the parchment. Mr. Halford at once possessed himself of the pen and bore it away triumphantly. It was not until half an hour later that the World's Fair people learned, with not a little chagrin and indignation, that Col. Shepard was to be the possessor of the pen which made the World's Fair appropriation an assured fact.

Agreed Upon Adjournment.

It was agreed by both houses that the adjournment hour should be eleven o'clock. Promptly at that time Speaker Crisp stopped the stream of small legislation which was proceeding and announced that the session of the House was adjourned without day. Immediately the air was filled with flying papers as members flung on high the bills which had expired.

As the scene was being enacted the correspondents in the press gallery observed a historic custom of chanting the doxology. At the same time Vice President Morton was ringing down the curtain in the Senate, and the first session of the LIId Congress was over.

BIDWELL FORMALLY NOTIFIED.

The Prohibition Candidate Officially Made Aware of His Selection.

San Francisco special: Gen. John Bidwell, of Chico, was officially notified Friday night in Metropolitan Hall of his nomination for the Presidency by the Prohibition party. Upon the platform sat members of the local county committee of party representatives from different parts of the State, and a few from other States. Col. Eli F. Ritter, Chairman of the national convention which nominated Gen. Bidwell, was introduced by the President of the evening, J. M. Glass, of Pasadena. Colonel Ritter said the Cincinnati convention was composed of men of intelligence and of ideas, and when they searched among the great names of their party the choice fell on General Bidwell, who was as well qualified as any man in the nation to represent and lead the party. It afforded him the greatest pleasure, he said, to notify the distinguished Californian of h s nomination. General Bidwell replied at some length. He thanked the convention for the honor given and the people for the confidence expressed. He gave hearty assurance that he would do all in his power to exercise that trust with all the faithfulness and dignity its importance demanded. The speaker was frequently interrupted by applause, which broke into cheers when Mrs. Bidwell was escorted to the platform and took her husband's side. The address of the evening was by Colonel Ritter upon the political issues of the campaign.

MURDER SUCCEEDS MURDER.

Thrashing Machine and Pitchfork Used to End Two Lives.

The most tragic of double murders imaginable was enacted near Celina, Ohio. Ballenbaugh Brothers' thrashing machine was at work on Henry Schlense's farm, and John Shrybock and Frank Day, two old enemies, were helping operate it. Shrybock let his knife slip and cut Day's hand. He at once apologized, but Day threatened, because it happened again, to throw Shrybock into the machine.

Presently Shrybock again let it slip and cut Day's hand. Day, to the horror of all present, then proceeded to carry out his horrible threat. Seizing Shrybock around the waist he hurled him head first into the machine. The engineer stopped the machine and caught Day just as he was about to run away. With the greatest possible difficulty the mutilated remains of Shrybock were extricated from the machine. He was literally torn to shreds and to recognize him even for what had once been a human being would have been impossible.

Henry Shrybock, his brother, was hastily summoned. When he learned what had happened his rage knew no bounds. Despite everything that could be done, he seized a pitchfork and, rushing upon Day, plunged it thrice into his body. Day dropped dead at once. Shrybock gave himself up to the authorities, and was locked up on a charge of murder.

IN Mindinao, the farthest southeastern island in the Philippine group, upon one of its mountains, the volcano Apo, a party of botanical and ethnographical explorers found recently, at the height of 2,500 feet above the sea level, a colossal flower. The discoverer, Dr. Alexander Schadenberg, could scarcely believe his eyes when he found a specimen in full bloom, a five-petaled flower nearly a yard in diameter, as large as a carriage wheel, in fact. Weighing these when opportunity served, it was found that a single flower weighed over twenty-two pounds.

Frightful and Nothing Less

Are the ravages in physical stamina caused by diseases of the kidneys and bladder. Oftentimes, moreover, they are swiftly progressive to a fatal termination. Beginning with simple inactivity of the organs, renal disease, if unchecked by intermediate death or relief, winds up in destruction of the kidneys. This is terrible to contemplate, dreadful to undergo. Anticipate the danger by arousing and regulating the kidneys, when inactive, with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a most effective diuretic as well as a general alterative and tonic of unexampled excellence. It performs a further good office for the system in promoting activity of the kidneys, in that it more effectually expels through these channels impurities which produce rheumatism and dropsy. Malaria, constipation, biliousness, liver trouble, nervousness, dyspepsia, all succumb to its beneficent action.

One Cause of War.

In the year 1006, some soldiers of the Commonwealth of Modena ran away with a bucket from a public well belonging to the State of Bolo na. The bucket which probably was not worth more than a shilling, produced a quarrel which was worked up into a long and bloody war. Henry, King of Sardinia, assisted the Modenese to keep possession of this bucket, and in one of the battles he was made a prisoner. His father the Emperor of Germany, Henry II. the Holy, offered a chain of gold that would encircle Bologna, which was seven miles in circuit, but in vain. After twenty-two years' imprisonment he pined away and died, and his monument may be seen in the Church of the Dominicans. The fatal bucket, the cause of the war, is still on exhibition in the tower of the cathedral at Modena, inclosed in an iron cage. Both Bolonga and Modena were in 1860 incorporated in Italy.

Delavan Lake.

Friday and Saturday of each week the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway sells excursion tickets to Delavan, Wis., and return for $2.65, good for return until Monday. Special Delavan Lake train leaves Union Depot every Friday and Saturday at 3 p. m.; additional trains, except Sunday, at 8:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Delavan Lake is one of the most attractive resorts in Wisconsin: has plenty of good hotels; good fishing and boating; and is in every respect a delightful place to spend a short or long vacation. Thought Deeper than Speech.

No man does anything well who does not feel the unknown surrounding and pressing upon the known, and who is not therefore aware all the time that what he does has deeper sources and more distant issues than he can comprehend. It is not only a pleasing sentiment, it is a necessary element of power—this reverence which veils its eyes before something which it may not know. Irreverence everywhere is blindness and not sight. It is the stare which is bold, because it believes in its heart that there is nothing which its insolent intelligence may not fathom, and so which finds only what it looks for, and makes the world as shallow as it ignorantly dreams the world to be.

The Gospel of Health.

A sick man is a sinner. He can't be otherwise, because a perfect man must be a well man. Sin and suffering are identical. You may be an unconscious sinner. You may have taken cold; paid no attention to it. By and by you are conscious of a backache. You are dull, sleepy, listless, out of sorts. You did not know that your cold had settled on your kidneys, but this is the fact, and in nine cases out of ten, in summer, this is what ails the patient. If you will get a bottle of REID'S GERMAN COUGH AND KIDNEY CURE, and take it according to directions, you can be cured of all the uneasy feeling that comes from taking cold; and remember that a summer cold is fully as dangerous as one caught in winter. More people die from getting overheated, and then suddenly cooling off, than from any other one circumstance. Get this great remedy of any druggist.
