

Cruel, Cruel
To its victims it is inexorable for human peace, that destroyer of rest and frequent termination of human life—rheumatism. Like many another physical ill, it is easily remediable at the outset with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which expels the rheumatism from the blood through the kidneys. There exists the simplest evidence to prove that the medicine that restores the patient the Bitters has produced thorough and permanent results. But to temporize with this malady is folly. Attack it at once with the Bitters and it may be stopped in the bud. When mature it is the most obstinate of complaints. Kidney troubles, dyspepsia, neuralgia, tingling feet, constipation, malaria and liver complaint best a hasty retreat when the Bitters is summoned to the rescue. A wineglassful three times a day.

Opened a Grave 300 Years Old
The grave of a Swedish King was opened at Upsala recently in the presence of the Prince Regent, the Archbishop, and many prelates. The king was John III, King of Sweden, who died in 1593. On removing the stone, a copper coffin was found, within which was a wooden coffin, somewhat decayed, and lined with velvet in rugs. Beneath a leather cover lay the body of the Queen, clothed in velvet, and amid the folds of velvet lay her skull, an extremely small one.

Season of Marriage in China
The Chinese believe there is a season for everything, and in accordance with this belief, they think the opening year—the season when the peach petals burst from the calyx—is the most auspicious season for forming matrimonial alliances.

A FOOT-HOLD for Consumption is what you are offering, if your blood is impure. Consumption is simply Lung Scrofula, a serious condition, with a slight cough or cold, is all that it needs to develop.

But just as it depends upon the blood for its origin, so it depends upon the blood for its cure. The surest remedy for Scrofula in every form, the most effective blood-cleanser, flesh-builder, and general strength-restorer that is known to medical science, is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For Consumption in its earlier stages, and for Weak Lungs, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and all Bronchial, Throat, and Lung affections, that is the only remedy so infallible that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

No matter how long you've had Catarrh, or how severe, Dr. Sage's Remedy will effect a permanent cure. Write for it, or apply to the proprietors of this medicine, for an incurable case of Catarrh.

COLONEL KING'S CRIME.

How an Eminent Lawyer Was Lured to Ruin by a New Woman.
Colonel H. C. King, who killed David H. Poston, a prominent Tennessee lawyer, in Memphis, March 10, 1891, has, through executive clemency, had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment. The details of the crime have become of widespread interest, not only because of the domestic character of the crime, but because of the high legal ability and literary attainments of the murderer. On March 10, at about the noon hour, King, who had evidently been in waiting for his victim, stepped from an alley into a crowded street, and fatally shot David H. Poston, the wounded man expiring during the same day.

Henry Clay King's downfall can be traced entirely to his allurements from the path of honor by Mrs. Mary J. Pillow, widow of Gen. Gideon J. Pillow, who distinguished himself in the Mexican war, and who, during the siege of Fort Donelson, declined the command of the Confederate forces in favor of Gen. Buckner, the officer who was compelled to capitulate in a few days to the victorious Union army.

The first information that came to Vice President Baxter, of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Manufacturing Company, of the loss of the convicts, was from Victoria, which announced that no telegraphic communication could be had with Inman, the wire having been cut during the night. This news was an indication that the convicts had escaped. Then came dispatches stating that a special train conveying fourteen extra guards from Nashville to Inman had been captured by the miners at a trestle a short distance from Victoria, and that Varien, Burter, and the guards had been forced to Victoria, while the miners, rejoicing over the stoppage of the train and detention of the forces, had gone on to Inman.

Arriving at Inman they quickly overpowered the fifty-five guards stationed there, meeting with scarcely any resistance. They then seized the stockade, which was well fortified, and being thus in control of the property of the lessees, they proceeded to order the convicts to get ready to march at a moment's notice to Victoria. After a journey of several miles the convicts, who were guarded by the miners and the guards employed by the lessees, reached Victoria and were hustled into the cars. The engineer asked without delay, but this order could not be obeyed because arrangements had not been made for the right of way over the road. This being finally secured, the train moved out and Inman was at last free from convict labor.

Reaching Bridgeport a special train was provided and the trip to Nashville was resumed. The convicts reached there and were met by the prison officials and a number of guards, who escorted them to the Penitentiary. The capacity of the prison is such that there were already nearly 1,000 convicts within its walls, the new arrivals were obliged to accommodate themselves as best they could to the surroundings.

Ordered to Arrest the Offenders.
When Gov. Buchanan had been formally notified of the seizure of the stockade at Inman, Adjutant General Norman telegraphed the Sheriff of Marion County to swear in as many deputies as he might deem necessary and to arrest as many of the offenders as possible. Judge Moon, of the Circuit Court of Marion County, ordered the Sheriff to proceed to the scene of the disturbance and enforce law and order. A telegram was received by Governor Buchanan from the Sheriff, who said that he was helpless and could do nothing. The best citizens of Marion County, who were in a superior feeling exists and the people generally are disposed to encourage the act.

Thirty negroes and some ex-convicts, it is said, were in the mob. Clarence Livingston was started from Wheeling in midday to notify the Inman authorities. The miners shot his horse from under him and caught and whipped him. The Marion County Circuit Court is in session, and it is presumed that Judge Moon will immediately take steps to secure the arrest of at least some of the miners who participated in the capture of the stockade and release of the convicts.

The Tennessee Coal, Iron, and Railroad Company has found occasion to go to Gov. Buchanan, asking that the State protect them in their rights. Later in the evening the company sent the Governor a formal notification to the effect that they would not receive or feed the convicts who had been captured by the miners at Inman and brought to Nashville without their consent. As soon as the communication was read, the Governor called a meeting of the Board of Prison Inspectors. The Inspectors decided to not only receive the convicts but also to supply them with food.

Mr. Baxter said: "The company is willing to surrender its lease contract and leave the State to make its own disposition of the convicts as the State authorities may deem best. The company offered this to the last extra session of the General Assembly, but no action was taken upon it. This offer has stood open to the State authorities since that date, and is now open to them. The company only asks that the law be enforced and the company be protected in the execution of the contract, or that it can do nothing more for itself."

The latest reports from Tracy City state that all is quiet there. There is much apprehension to the safety of Oliver Springs, where there is no State militia on night the miners went to the Inman stockade, pulled down one of the barricades, and demolished the buildings with axes. The loss to the owners of the property is $9,000. All of the work belonging to the company will close down.

DRIVEN OUT BY A MOB.

MINERS RAID ANOTHER TENNESSEE STOCKADE.
The stockade was not burned, as its destruction would entail that of the railway bridge in the immediate vicinity, but the miners informed the Superintendent that while they would not set it on fire they would tear it down.

TEA should never be boiled. It should be made in a china or porcelain teapot, for the chemicals in it will act upon tin, not only causing the beverage to lose its flavor but making it injurious to the system. COUGHS and sore throats may be much alleviated by glycerine and lemon juice diluted with water, taken at night. Hot water gargles, and the use of mentholated with rock-candy, is excellent also. For insomnia pillows are filled with the hair of the horse, and a number of pine needles will be found efficacious.

When Nature Needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should resort to remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Don't Suffer.

Don't suffer with rheumatism. Don't suffer with pneumonia or pleurisy. All these maladies come from one source. When the kidneys are inactive and fail to separate the uric acid from the blood, it remains in and poisons the whole life current. If it manifests itself in the joints it becomes pleurisy, and if it attacks the lungs it becomes pneumonia or pleurisy. If it attacks the brain it becomes apoplexy. If the heart, heart disease, it may produce any malady, such as blindness, paralysis, or the like. All these maladies have one common origin, and that is kidney trouble. The remedy of most of these ailments is found in the summer. It is that the people fall to take simple precautions. They get wet and expose themselves unnecessarily, and the result is they take cold. It settles upon their kidneys and produces any or all of the ailments mentioned above. When you feel that you are a sufferer in this respect get a bottle of REID'S GERMAN COUGH AND KIDNEY CURE and take it freely. Do not be afraid of it. It will not injure you. It is impossible to take an overdose. It contains no deleterious substance whatever. It can be given to children without any danger. Ask your druggist for it, and do not let him give you anything else in place of it. Sufferers from Rheumatism, GOUT, NEURALGIA, GRAVEL, etc., SILVAN REMEDY CO., Peoria, Ill.
