

CHICAGO'S SENSATION.

HER MAYOR AND CHIEF OF POLICE AT OUTS.

Triple Killing at Garfield Park in a Raid on Gamblers—Winter in Austria—Fears for Peary—Pauper Worth $10,000—Three Negroes Lynched.

Newspaper examination concerning the Garfield Park race track gamblers, Chicago's mayor, Washburne, says that Chief Police McLaughlin had told him the Hawthorn Racing Association would contribute $50,000 to the campaign fund if the police would close up the Garfield track. Chief McLaughlin swore he said no such thing, and relations between the Mayor and the Chief are very much strained.

A great and sudden change in the weather has occurred throughout Austria. It was only a few days ago that Vienna was suffering from tropical heat. Tuesday was cold and raw. The highlands around Aussee in Moravia, were covered with snow. The mercury dropped from 90 to 38 degrees in forty-eight hours. Snow has fallen throughout Styria. A railroad train was delayed in the tunnel near Bischofs-hofen owing to the rails being so heavily coated with ice that it was impossible for it to proceed.

Dr. E. J. Nolan, of the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia, says: If the reports of ice extending hundreds of miles south of McCormick Bay are true God help Peary and the Kite relief party. Considerable fear is felt as to the fate of the arctic explorers owing to the delayed start of the expedition. It is feared that the Greenland port of the same name. Most serious fears are entertained that the Kite has never reached McCormick Bay, but is stuck in the ice. As she took no extra supplies, and it is believed she will be forced to spend the winter in the ice, it is feared that the provisions will become exhausted before Jan. 1.

Health Officer Duffield of Detroit has completed his analysis of the stomach of Mrs. W. A. Leech, who died under mysterious circumstances, and who, it was feared had died of cholera, and reports that he found strychnine in large quantities. The coroner will inquest.

At New Orleans, George Dixon, colored, in his fight with John J. Skelly, the untied amateur, of Brooklyn, for a purse of $7,000 offered by the Olympic Club and a side bet of $5,000 each, won in eight rounds.

For a week, up to Tuesday, Chicago police have made daily raids upon the Garfield Park district, in an attempt to stop racing and betting. The officers of the club had been repeatedly arrested, but Col. James M. Brown, a horseman and noted character from Texas, always refused to be arrested without a warrant. Tuesday, in a running fight, he killed Officer John McGowan, in an attempt to kill Officer John Powell, and was himself killed.

During a drunken quarrel, Gamora Forte, an Italian, was shot three times by Vincenzo Borbato at Lancaster, Erie County, N. Y. Forte still alive, but can hardly recover. Borbato escaped. The men belonged to a gang of railroad laborers.

The authorities of the poor house at Belfast, Ireland, are endeavoring to discover the relatives of James Stewart, who was admitted as a pauper to the poor house and died suddenly soon after. On examination of his clothing after death it was found that he had nearly $10,000 in United States money and certificates of twenty mining shares stashed in the lining of his coat. The name of Stewart is not uncommon among the Scotch-Irish in Ulster, and it is believed that this Stewart belonged there originally, and had probably returned after a long absence in the United States. So far no one has identified him.

A syndicate of Colorado capitalists has just purchased the famous Trinity River gold mines in Southern California for $1,500,000.

Chancellor McGill's order dissolving the coal combine is believed to have averted a big strike arising out of the discharge of two engineers by the Reading's President. When the order brought the Reading's control of the Jersey Central to an end, the officials of the latter employed them and the difficulty was ended.

The Democrats carried the Arkansas State election by about 20,000 plurality. Dr. George S. Burroughs, of Amherst, will accept the Presidency of Washob College at Crawfordville, Ind.

Heavy frosts are reported in Minnesota and the Dakotas, but crops are so far advanced that little damage resulted.

Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, sprained his foot in a runaway accident at Belfast, England, and is confined to his room.

Skunks raided a gang of railroad laborers in West Virginia and an impromptu quarantine has been declared by the other gangs in that vicinity against their unfortunate brothers.

In Vatican circles it is reported that Mr. Feich will soon be fully restored to his former position, which he lost by reason of his unfortunate speculations with St. Peter's pence. The friends of Mr. Feich have always claimed that he had the written authority of the Pope for engaging in the speculations and that the Vatican Treasury shared in them so long as they were successful.

It has been decided at Buenos Ayres that Senor Romero, who opposed the issue of paper money by state, but will join President Saenz Pena's new cabinet as Minister of Finance, and that Senor Quintana will be Minister of the Interior and Senor Victoria Minister of War.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

The Guthrie, O. T., jail was burned. There were forty prisoners in the jail, and they were all hurried out and placed under guard. In the confusion two notorious horse thieves escaped and have not been captured. A new jail will be built at once.

The fast mail train on the Hudson River Railroad met with an accident at the New Hamburg draw bridge. The train was going at the rate of a mile a minute and the steamers just being closed after being struck a steamer got through. Several feet had yet to be closed just as the train reached the bridge. The engine jumped the gap but the rear end of the tender dropped enough to check the momentum of the train. Then the small car, crashing into the tender, pushed it against the locomotive. The rear end of the locomotive and the mail car were splintered. The engineer, Joseph Owens, of Albany, and the fireman, Edward Best, of Albany, were crushed under the fore end of the car and Chief of Police McLaughlin was killed. A New York, N. Y., clerk in the mail car, was also killed. The tracks were obstructed for some time. Conductor William Todd was injured about the head and John Hitchcock, a trainman, had his finger cut off. Much property was destroyed.

George Slavay, a farm hand, shot and killed George Lettner, his employer, and fatally wounded Lettner's wife and mother. He then placed the muzzle of the weapon against his own head and blew out his brains. The terrible tragedy occurred through a misunderstanding. Lettner, Olio Lettner, was discharged by his employer, and took his revenge upon the whole family.

Judge William R. Blaine, the ordinary of Glynn County and one of the most popular men in Georgia, was caught stealing money from the safe of Grocer Michaelson. He was arrested by the police and is now in the jail at the time. He has lost nearly $2,000 during the last six months, and he set a trap for the thief. A policeman was secreted in the store. The merchant went out, leaving the outer door open. Judge Blaine came in, unlocked the door, and took a handful of silver from the cash drawer. He was at once taken into custody by the policeman.

Tait Hall, the Kentucky desperado, was safely banished, Friday, at Wise Court House, Va. There were fears of an attempt to assassinate the man who had murdered a man who had been kept constantly under the influence of liquor during the last few days, made a speech on the scaffold. There were 3,000 people in and around the village, but they were very orderly. The particular crime for which Hall was sentenced to the gallows was the murder of Isaac Enos R. Hyton, at Norton, Va. Hyton was taking a prisoner to jail, when Hall demanded that he release the man, and, upon the officer's refusal, shot him in cold blood. Hall had eloped with Hyton's sister after murdering her husband, John Hyton. He was sentenced to hang on Oct. 22, with appropriate exercises, the New York Building at Chicago, which will be completed the middle of October, as this would not interfere in any way with the programme of the Chicago authorities for the dedication of the new building of the Exposition buildings. Gov. Flower will deliver the dedicatory address, and an original ode and poem will be marked features of the occasion.

The Right Rev. Bishop Wigzer, of the Newark, N. J., diocese, has issued a letter to the clergy of the diocese in accordance with the order of the Holy See, to stop immigration, as the expense of the quarantine will make the carrying of passengers a losing transaction to steamship companies.

MISCELLANEOUS. The general managers of the exhibit of the State of New York at the World's Columbian Exposition have arranged to dedicate at noon on Oct. 22, with appropriate exercises, the New York Building at Chicago, which will be completed the middle of October, as this would not interfere in any way with the programme of the Chicago authorities for the dedication of the new building of the Exposition buildings. Gov. Flower will deliver the dedicatory address, and an original ode and poem will be marked features of the occasion.

The Right Rev. Bishop Wigzer, of the Newark, N. J., diocese, has issued a letter to the clergy of the diocese in accordance with the order of the Holy See, to stop immigration, as the expense of the quarantine will make the carrying of passengers a losing transaction to steamship companies.

A letter received from Director General Davis by the director of the mint at Washington says that the Madrid head of Columbus will be adopted for one side of the souvenir coin and a cut of the Western hemisphere for the reverse side. Some other details, however, have to be decided before the engraving of the die can begin.

Again has the trotting record been lowered, at Independence, Iowa, by Nancy Hanks, the peerless mare of J. Malcolm Forbes, of Boston. Two full seconds were clipped off her record of 2:07 1/2, made during the recent Chicago meet, when she won in all her races. Her speed, when she was first trotted, was 2:10, and she has since won the thousands of spectators.

Mrs. Catherine Horan, wife of James Horan, captain of the canal boat of Green Lake, near Syracuse, N. Y. She was walking along the deck of the boat and her foot slipped, she fell, and a lead pencil which she carried in her hand was driven into the brain through her left eye, a distance of four inches. She was dead before her husband reached her.

At Little Rock, Ark., United States officers arrested J. C. Coffin, of Swifton, Ark., for selling a permit to sell liquor out license. The Internal Revenue Commissioner at Washington decided weeks ago that "hop tea" came under the same head as beer. This is the first arrest made in Arkansas for the offense, and the officers say it will follow, as the beverage is sold in all parts of the state.

At Pittsburg, Pa., R. S. Goffrey, Supreme Treasurer, and other members of the Order of Solons were on trial before Alderman McMaster on a charge of embezzling funds of the order. The information was made by W. H. McKelvey, the District Attorney. Mr. Goffrey, an expert accountant, who said that when he took charge of the Supreme Treasurer's books, he found a shortage of $1,563 and Sept. 25 last there was a shortage of $14,233. The hearing was adjourned until Friday.

The public debt was decreased $2,254,673 during August.

At Sault Ste. Marie the Canadian passenger steamer United Empire paid into the custom house $14. This is the first toll paid by a Canadian vessel. No other Canadian boats have passed through.

At Sault Ste. Marie, a poor school teacher of England, who has recently returned from some English attorneys that he is the only heir of his uncle, the late Lord William Moore, of England, and is therefore the possessor of that title as well as an estate of $2,000,000.

Archbishop Ireland pronounced as absurd the report that he was to be made a cardinal and sent to France.

Philip G. Wright, of Medford, Mass., has accepted the professorship of mathematics in the Lombard University, Galesburg, Ill.

It is reported that the Harpers will occupy the office of Harper's Weekly, left vacant by the death of Charles Curtis, to E. Lawrence Godkin, of the New York Evening Post. Mr. Godkin is in Europe at present, but is expected to return in a few days. He is a scholarly man and a most efficient writer.

The late Andrew Johnson, who died at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., from Deer Park, having on board Philip Minch, and C. F. Palmer, with the bodies of Mr. Minch Mrs.

Eagleby, and the body of one Brennan. Contrary to the reports received from the steamer City of Green Bay, no other bodies have been found. The body of First Mate Eagleby, which the steamer Nimble picked up in the lake, was found to have been killed by a lake preserver on Monday and buried. The request was granted, and for the last two years one of the most contented of the inmates of the home at Minnehaha has been Comrade Allen. Mr. Allen has been 50 and 60 years old.

It seems probable that but a few hours more of life remain for the old man, John Greenleaf Whittier. A slight blow which began on Wednesday suddenly developed serious complications on Sunday, and he is so low that his physicians give but little hope of his recovery.

The funeral of the late George William Curtis took place Friday afternoon in New Brighton, S. I., and was strictly private. The immediate relatives and a few intimate friends of the deceased attended. There were no flowers or pall-bearers, and the funeral was conducted in the plainest possible manner. It was held at the residence of the Rev. Dr. Chadwick, of the Unitarian Church in Brooklyn, an intimate friend of Mr. Curtis, read the burial service. The remains were conveyed to the old Moravian churchyard at New Dorp S. I., followed by the carriages containing Mrs. Curtis, the widow; Dr. Frank G. Curtis and Mrs. Curtis, and a few relatives of the family, where the interment took place.

FROM WASHINGTON. President Harrison is in Washington, considering measures to stop the spread of cholera, which was brought to New York by the carriages containing Mrs. Curtis. It is said that the entire stoppage of immigration is contemplated. It may be necessary to call a special session of Congress.

President Harrison has given cholera its notice. This country will take no more chances. The experience with the Moravia has been enough. The quarantine on all vessels sailing after Sept. 1 from any European point for the United States and carrying immigrants. The quarantine will not apply to vessels already afloat nor to vessels not carrying immigrants. The circular is issued by the Treasury Department prescribes a thorough fumigation of all mails arriving from cholera-infected countries, and a detention of twenty days at quarantine for all vessels sailing on and after the 1st conveying immigrants. The effect will be to virtually stop immigration, as the expense of the quarantine will make the carrying of passengers a losing transaction to steamship companies.

At San Francisco, Cal., County Clerk Blatter turned over to "Lucky" Baldwin a deed from Hamilton M. Heuston of the land on which the Baldwin Hotel stands. This is the end of litigation. Baldwin purchased the land for $70,000, but Heuston refused to give up the land, because the Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the lower courts that the sale must stand.

Hugh O'Donnell and four other members of the Homestead Advisory Committee have been held in $2,000 bonds for trial on the charge of conspiracy. Mark Baldwin, the once-bell piteer, has also been held for $2,000, because of being one of the Homestead rioters.

The Nebraska State Bank of Crete, Neb., closed its doors. The bank is capitalized at $50,000, and was recently reorganized. George D. Stephens, the former cashier, held the controlling interest. He left for Chicago, Aug. 22, and has not been seen since. His present whereabouts are unknown.

Notices have been issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to all freight agents and officers who have charge of stations relative to the disinfection of all buildings along the entire line. It is the intention of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, if possible, so that in the event of cholera reaching this country the disease will not gain a foothold on the road.

R. G. Dan & Company's weekly review of trade says: While industry and business were improving daily, and prospects for the brighter future were added, alarm about cholera came to cause some hesitation. It is even said that buyers from the South who had ordered for New York goods, because they were afraid of detention by quarantine there. There is reason for the utmost precaution against importation of the disease, which is not creditable energy. But there is yet no ground for supposing that the pestilence will obtain a foothold here this season. The outlook, however, is not so prosperous as better than a year ago, and nearly all accounts showed actual increase in business. Crop prospects are better, however, and the outlook is brighter. Supply everywhere, and industries are producing more than ever before. Fear that exports may be curtailed by pestilence in Europe, and the previously strong, has depressed the markets.

THE MARKETS. CHICAGO. CATTLE—Common to Prime, $4.50 @ 5.50. HOES—Ship, $2.00 @ 2.50. SHEEP—Fair to Choice, 4.00 @ 5.50. WHEAT—No. 2 Spring, 73.50 @ 75.00. CORN—No. 2, 33.00 @ 34.00. BUTTER—Choice Creamery, 22.00 @ 25.00. EGGS—Fresh, 17.00 @ 18.00. POTATOES—New, 1.00 @ 1.25. INDIANAPOLIS. CATTLE—Shipping, 3.25 @ 5.25. HOES—Ship, 2.00 @ 2.50. SHEEP—Common to Prime, 3.00 @ 5.00. WHEAT—No. 2 Red, 70.00 @ 72.00. CORN—No. 2, 28.00 @ 30.00. OATS—No. 2 White, 26.00 @ 27.00. ST. LOUIS. CATTLE—Common to Prime, 3.00 @ 5.00. HOES—Ship, 2.00 @ 2.50. SHEEP—Fair to Choice, 4.00 @ 5.50. WHEAT—No. 2, 72.00 @ 74.00. CORN—No. 2, 32.00 @ 34.00. OATS—No. 2, 28.00 @ 30.00. CINCINNATI. CATTLE—Common to Prime, 3.00 @ 5.00. HOES—Ship, 2.00 @ 2.50. SHEEP—Fair to Choice, 4.00 @ 5.50. WHEAT—No. 2, 72.00 @ 74.00. CORN—No. 2, 32.00 @ 34.00. OATS—No. 2, 28.00 @ 30.00. DETROIT. CATTLE—Common to Prime, 3.00 @ 5.00. HOES—Ship, 2.00 @ 2.50. SHEEP—Fair to Choice, 4.00 @ 5.50. WHEAT—No. 2, 72.00 @ 74.00. CORN—No. 2, 32.00 @ 34.00. OATS—No. 2, 28.00 @ 30.00. PITTSBURGH. CATTLE—Common to Prime, 3.00 @ 5.00. HOES—Ship, 2.00 @ 2.50. SHEEP—Fair to Choice, 4.00 @ 5.50. WHEAT—No. 2, 72.00 @ 74.00. CORN—No. 2, 32.00 @ 34.00. OATS—No. 2, 28.00 @ 30.00. MILWAUKEE. CATTLE—Common to Prime, 3.00 @ 5.00. HOES—Ship, 2.00 @ 2.50. SHEEP—Fair to Choice, 4.00 @ 5.50. WHEAT—No. 2, 72.00 @ 74.00. CORN—No. 2, 32.00 @ 34.00. OATS—No. 2, 28.00 @ 30.00. NEW YORK. CATTLE—Common to Prime, 3.00 @ 5.00. HOES—Ship, 2.00 @ 2.50. SHEEP—Fair to Choice, 4.00 @ 5.50. WHEAT—No. 2, 72.00 @ 74.00. CORN—No. 2, 32.00 @ 34.00. OATS—No. 2, 28.00 @ 30.00. PORTLAND. CATTLE—Common to Prime, 3.00 @ 5.00. HOES—Ship, 2.00 @ 2.50. SHEEP—Fair to Choice, 4.00 @ 5.50. WHEAT—No. 2, 72.00 @ 74.00. CORN—No. 2, 32.00 @ 34.00. OATS—No. 2, 28.00 @ 30.00.

INSULTED THE FLAG.

BELUCOSE CANUCKS MAKE FOOLS OF THEMSELVES. Telegraphers' Convention Fizzled Out—Bad Freight Wreck—McAuliffe Is Champion—Fires at Detroit and Braddock—The New York Standard Has Suspended From Far and Near.

At Montreal, Quebec, during a performance Monday night of the "White Birch," a patriotic American drama, the stars and straps were tossed from the galleries. The actor playing the American admiral was also hissed and a missile was thrown at him. The mob went to the front of the theater where flags of various nations were displayed, tore down the United States flag, and dragged it along the street. A policeman refused to make any arrest, and said it was a pity all the flags had not been pulled down.

The telegraphers' convention at Kansas City, Mo., seems to have fizzled out. The proceedings have been kept secret, but it is understood there was an ugly fight over the code of laws to be adopted. Many of the delegates that they left the convention and the city. Sunday there were only twenty-seven delegates at the meeting. They decided to call the new organization the United Telegraphers of North America, and elected G. W. Bain, of Topeka, Kan., chief officer.

An Ontario and Western mixed freight was wrecked near Peckville, Pa., twelve cars being thrown into the Lackawanna River and the engine badly derailed. Two oil tanks burst and the petroleum, being ignited, destroyed much of the freight. Besides the other damage, brakeman George Thatcher was jammed between the wrecked cars and fatally injured. The other trainmen escaped unhurt. At Oilphant several men were put under arrest for setting the floating oil on fire, and for some time great difficulty was experienced in getting the train started.

The first of the three big prizes offered by the New Orleans Olympic Club for its pugilistic carnival was pulled down by ticket Jack McAuliffe, of Brooklyn, who on Monday night knocked out Billy Myer, the "stronger Cyclone," after fifteen rounds of the most terrific pugilistic ever witnessed.

The fire broke out in the extensive wood yard of the manufactory of Berwick, Sherwood & Co., and in two hours the entire plant was a mass of ruins. The company did a large business and had customers in all parts of the United States. James Calnan and Henry Sprank firemen, were severely injured by falling walls. The loss is approximately $150,000, with insurance of $100,000.

It is announced that Henry George's single-tax organ, the New York Standard, has suspended. The paper was a product of the Mayoralty fight of 1886, and was started by Mr. George shortly after the election. It is said the paper suspended because the subscribers who were behind it were tired of putting up money for its support. Mr. George withdrew all personal interest in the paper a year or so ago. He was succeeded by Louis F. Post, a lawyer, and one of the most prominent single-taxers of the city.

Paris editors and the public are beginning to wonder at the delay in the decision in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies in 1894, opinion being divided as to whether Carnot will be re-elected or one of his three rivals—Floquet, Freycinet and Ribot.

At Waco, Texas, Friday, the deadlock of the Seventh Congressional District Convention was broken on the 1,516th ballot by the nomination of Lieutenant Governor Pendleton.

Sixty Lemona, the leader of the band of brigands who attacked and robbed the residence of T. Yela Marlan, Treasurer of the State of Tlaxcala, Mexico, of $3,000 and plate to the value of that amount, has been captured by the detachment of Government troops who went in his pursuit. He was captured by the soldiers, one of the boldest that ever occurred in the section. Senor Marlan was bound and forced to divulge where the money and bandages were hidden on pain of death. The booty was loaded upon burros and carried off through the streets of the town to the rendezvous of the bandits. It is believed the money will be captured and summarily dealt with.

There has been hardly a day within the past three months that Guadalajara, Mexico, has not been severely shaken by earthquake, and the people are becoming greatly alarmed at the frequent seismic disturbances.

The eruption of Mt. Etna has increased in violence. The chestnut woods of the mountain slopes have been devastated. A large mass of lava has descended from the crater and pouring down the side of the mountain.

The bright prospects of a fine yield of cotton along the Brazos have vanished. The caterpillar worm and the boll worm as well as devouring the crop. Heavy dews and showers wash the poison off, so farmers have lost all hope.

Daniel Dougherty, the Philadelphia lawyer and orator, who was thought to be recovering from an attack of paralysis, prostrated him for weeks, took a relapse, Monday and died last night.

The 10-year-old son of ex-Councilman Thomas Barrowman, of Brazil, Ind., met with an accident which resulted in his death. While in his father's yard cutting weeds he stepped on the stubble of a sprang weed, which entered the eye, and he fell, and the pain became so intense at last that it resulted in lockjaw and death.

The Provisionals of Connecticut have nominated a full State and electoral ticket, with Edwin P. Angers for Governor.

Nurses in the various hospitals in Paris have refused to accept the resolution of the Board of Health releasing them from the compulsory attendance on cholera cases. They held a meeting Friday and passed a resolution declaring that it would be inhuman and cowardly to withhold their services on such occasions.

Bettlin Rix, a wealthy farmer who lived near Hennington, Neb., started to cut a pasture in which was kept a fence bull Monday morning. Shortly after noon the mangled remains of Rix were found strewn all around. He had literally been torn into fragments.

The miners at Coal Creek and Oliver Springs, Tenn., are getting ugly again and firing has been going on at the pickets. Additional troops from Nashville and Harrogate are being sent to the mine. All union miners have quit work, which is a mystery now when their busiest season is approaching.

VOYAGERS TERRIFIED.

PANIC ON THE STEAMER NORMANNIA. Kept in Ignorance of the Cause of Detention Until Sunday Noon—Six Deaths in the Pest-Laden Fleet—Crematory at White Head.

First Heard of the Scourge. Six deaths from cholera occurred on the quarantined pest-laden fleet of New York harbor Sunday among the steerage passengers. Whether there had been any deaths among the cabin passengers has not been reported. Confusion and panic reigned supreme on the Normanna. The 1,000 odd passengers were kept in a dense ignorance of the true state of affairs during the entire voyage. They were told that the deaths which had occurred were from natural causes. Saturday and early Sunday morning they were laughing and joking at the mishaps which had befallen them. In quarantine and sure of being shortly released.

At noon they learned better. Newspapers and letters were brought on board. They discovered that they were prisoners for an indefinite length of time, checked by law, with the terrible scourge. The scene that transpired is indescribable. Women were crying and wailing, men were cursing, and all were terror-stricken. One passenger offered the health officers $2,000 in cash to take him ashore. Others passionately laid their hands on the throat of the health officers, and begged that they be allowed to hide in the boat on the return trip. The health officers were overcome by the piteous scene, and made haste to depart.

At noon they learned better. Newspapers and letters were brought on board. They discovered that they were prisoners for an indefinite length of time, checked by law, with the terrible scourge. The scene that transpired is indescribable. Women were crying and wailing, men were cursing, and all were terror-stricken. One passenger offered the health officers $2,000 in cash to take him ashore. Others passionately laid their hands on the throat of the health officers, and begged that they be allowed to hide in the boat on the return trip. The health officers were overcome by the piteous scene, and made haste to depart.

The steerage passengers were transferred to Hoffman Island, which had been made ready for them, and the six patients were sent to the hospital building at Swinburn Island. On board the Rogina and Moravia the imprisoned emigrants were given very little knowledge as to what was going on, and they made considerable little trouble. But the air of going to Swinburn Island, and the fact that in Moravia, the original pest ship, had departed. Suddenly the emigrants were massed against the sails, watching the pleasant panorama which is always unfolding at this busy gateway of the sea, and wondering how long their banishment would last.

The crematory resort on Swinburn Island has been kept at a white heat night and day since the first pest-ship, the Moravia, arrived. At midnight Saturday it received its first dead, the three who died during the day. The bodies of all those in quarantine will be cremated, unless friends are prompt in making other arrangements. It is possible to embalm the bodies in such a way as to kill all cholera germs, and conveniences for this process are at hand.

The four black bulls of the cholera fleet swung lazily at anchor with the tide Sunday. Nearest the city was the Rogina. A few hundred yards away lay the Moravia. Alongside it was the Stubbenhuk, and nearest the Jersey shore the big pest-ship, the Normanna. When tugs carrying newspaper men approached the latter steamer a curious crowd was seen aft. This was before the passengers had learned of the danger they were in. Lottie Collins, of "Ta-ra-ra," commanded the big tug, and she was in the boat, stood tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon in charge of the quarantine says that we are a clean, healthy crew. We will, however, stand tapping her toe on the polished deck. Beside her was the venerable John R. McPherson, United States Senator from New Jersey; on the other side, A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager. Clustered around the Senator were a host of curious soubrettes, gay, careless, flippant, frivolous. Beside them was an Episcopal clergyman—white tie, round collar on, waistcoat buttoned close to the chin, and blue glasses on nose.

McPherson and asked him if he would like to say anything to the country. Bidding the reporter wait a few minutes, he retired to the cabin, reappearing again with the following message: "We are here in the lower bay quarantine, and we have had five deaths on the ship since leaving Hamburg, but none from cholera or anything like it, so the surgeon