A passenger rate war is threatened between the C. & A. and other western roads who have been secretly cutting rates. It is rumored that the C. & A. may even go to the extent of making a straight two cent passenger rate. It is the only western road that could be profitably operated on such a basis.—Hopedale Review.
Bessie Huey entertained a number of her girl friends at a tea party last Tuesday eve, before the departure of several of them for the school year. Cora Eldredge going to St. Louis to resume her studies, Anna Dunlop to Evanston, and Jennie Cadwallader and Myrtle Martin to Oxford, Ohio.
Blossoming Kansas.
We clip the following from the Daily Walnut Valley Times, of Eldorado, Butler County, Kansas, regarding the investigations and purchases of people in this vicinity:
"Mr. Chas. V. Losee of Dwight, Illinois, was a caller at the Times office this morning. He has been in Butler county some time looking critically at her soil, products, people, towns and cities. He has been decidedly original in his investigations and has spaded up more Kansas prairie to discover depth and quality of soil, than any man who ever looked our country over. He sees the big crops of corn, wheat, oats, flax, etc.—but he is after the "inwardness" of things. He is highly pleased with Kansas and bears to his acquaintances and neighbors good tidings of the Sunflower state—the state whose "Calamity Howlers" have heralded that her people are poor while actually she has the best crops of any state in the union. The pleasant facts of Kansas seem to rarely reach the average reader east, but let a worthless farmer lose a crop and all the world knows it next day, and knows it magnified an hundred fold. This traveling of bad news about Kansas is an apt illustration of the old saying that a lie can travel a thousand miles with truth is putting on its boots. If in the sweet bye and bye the shiftless mortals who have had homes given them by our Uncle Samuel and then from very laziness or carelessness didn't and couldn't make a living from it, are to answer at the throne of grace for their unpropitious and lies about Kansas there will be surely a scorching time for them. So to of the down-easter who yawns without knowledge or conscience—the man who always hears and speaks of the bad and never of the good. Seeing, investigating, prove, just as Mr. Losee has proved that Kansas soil, Kansas products and climate are unexcelled on the globe. She is the only all round agricultural state in the Union—is tied to no one crop and produces all nearer to perfection than any sister state, no exceptions.
Mr. Losee is only prospecting, but he may invest here. He became interested here through the Trice Land Co. of which C. Y. Trice is the head. The same firm has sold Butler county land to a large number of Illinoisians—persons who knew a good thing when they saw it, and realized as all must had at such prices. Here is a partial roster of purchasers, most of them having purchased lands near Rosalia: Chas. Butler, John Spencer, John Seymour, Martha Fox, Chas. Sheldon, David Duncan, Geo. Pefferman, S. Pefferman, Jesse Little, Andrew Ross, Nick Flood, Mike Kline, Aaron Brickett, F. J. Hayes, Alice Carey, J. W. Routh, James Ferguson, P. Nomsen, Martha Seibert, Jas. S. Reynolds, Wm. McCaleb, Henry Knopel, J. P. Jones, J. H. Fountain, S. Knutson, J. B. Hall, W. F. Rickett, W. C. Foley, A. F. Nelson, H. Hill, Mr. Krackraban, F. J. Feiler, H. Feiler, Martin Shoen, Wm. Sawyer, J. Hampton, C. H. Dunn, S. S. Smith, Chas. and Wm. Burrows, Mrs. Pollock, M. Fleming, L. H. Guenther. Nearly every one of these will come and make their home among us—indeed some are already here. Do you, Illinois readers, and others who are landless because the land about them is high in price and held by a few persons, realize the facts we have stated here? Cheap, fertile lands still covered with the native sod awaiting the hand of the husbandman, thousands upon thousands of acres in Butler county. Why not try Losee's plan, come and see and "prove all things and hold fast to that which is good?"
[Since the investigation Mr. D. B. Stevens and Charlie Losee have purchased 320 acres of land through the Trice agency we understand. Ed.]
First Class Oyster House.
The Maxon restaurant will hereafter be conducted by Mr. Stanton as a first class oyster house. Last week after taking possession Mr. Stanton went to Chicago and purchased a complete oyster cooking and serving outfit, and is prepared to furnish these fine bivalves in any style. Mr. Stanton will also be prepared at all times to furnish the people of Dwight with any amount of oysters in bulk or by the can. It goes without saying that everything will be run in first class style, and that the patronage will be large.
