

M. Kate Reed.

Mrs. M. Kate Reed, wife of Col. Nate A. Reed, of the Banner of Gold, is the accomplished lady who presides over the "Woman's Department" of the above journal. She has shown great ability and unerring judgment in her management of her department, and has been largely instrumental in bringing about the organization of the Woman's Auxiliary Associated Bichloride of Gold Club, which will hold its sessions in the Congregational church, through courtesy of Rey. Cole and the Congregational society. The portrait we present of Mrs. Reed is a very fine and lifelike one.

Opie Read.

The great author Opie Read whose portrait we present, is another of the brilliant men of the century, who has tested, and not found wanting, the great Keeley cure. The portrait presented is a very fine one, and is a perfect reproduction. He is a very large man in stature and weight, as well as intellectually. Mr. Read has but lately returned from New York, where he witnessed the first production of his new play "Kentucky Colonel," which bids fair to be very successful. Mr. Read is a visitor to the great convention, and is probably the most popular visitor here.

Chas. Eugene Banks.

Mr. Chas. Eugene Banks, the poet author, and associate editor of the Banner of Gold, has partially turned his back on the world in the portrait we present to-day, but he has turned his head so that a profile of his intelligent face may be seen. Mr. Banks graduated from the Keeley Institute at Dwight, a year ago last February, and has improved every shining hour since, and was even so influenced by the good being accomplished that he decided to assist in starting a newspaper, which among other things would proclaim Dr. Keeley's achievements to the world. This has been accomplished in the Banner of Gold. Mr. Banks is a pleasant gentleman, just like all newspaper men, and there is no one present that is taking more interest in the convention than he.

of Illinois, Elder Dick Haney, who resides at Monmouth, Ill. Rev. J. W. Harvey is an old time friend of Dr. Leslie E. Keeley and remembers with pride of the time when the Gold cure was first being experimented with, and says that from the day years ago, when Dr. Keeley first spoke to him of his experiments and showed him through his then small laboratory in Dwight, he had implicit confidence in him, and had been loyal to Dr. Keeley and his wonderful remedies from that time to the present, and it afforded him great pleasure to again visit Dwight and tell the assembled audience what he knew about Dr. Keeley and his remedies.

Governor Fifer.

A dispatch from Gov. Fifer Tuesday morning announced that he was unable to be present, on account of sickness, but would request Gov. Ray to be present. He arrived and addressed the convention in the forenoon.

Tuesday Evening.

Tuesday evening the Dwight opera house was crowded to the doors with an intelligent and cultured audience of ladies and gentlemen assembled from all parts of the United States, and a few foreign countries, to listen to the speeches and addresses made by prominent ladies and gentlemen who were in attendance on the National Convention of the Associated Keeley Bichloride of Gold Clubs. The following program was carried out:

- Song, Male Quartette. An address by Dr. Leslie E. Keeley. Recitation, Albert E. Hyde. Address, Hon. John V. Farwell.

Albert E. Hyde.

The above gentleman is one of the galaxy of young men that have been saved by Dr. Keeley. He is the author of "A Marvelous Experience," a little pocket volume that has had a circulation of hundreds of thousands. Its influence has brought many to his way of thinking, regarding the Keeley cure. Mr. Hyde is taking part in the convention.

Dr. Talmage.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., the eminent divine, of Brooklyn, visited Dwight last April, after delivering a lecture in Chicago. He dined with Dr. Leslie E. Keeley, inspected the offices of the company, and witnessed the giving of the hypodermic treatment. He conversed with the patients, and a large number obtained his aughtograph in their

They Are All Right.

The following Ohio gentlemen made us a pleasant call Monday afternoon; Capt. A. H. Mattox, of Cincinnati, business manager of the Keeley Institute, Madisonville, Ohio, and secretary and manager of the Keeley Institute, Cuyahogo Falls, Ohio; James E. Bergin, assistant manager of the Keeley Institute, Cuyahogo Falls and editor of "The Ohio Keeleyite," Jno. E. Hopley, president of the Keeley Club, Bucyrus, Ohio. These gentlemen were the advanced guard, and are taking a particularly fine one, as also was the one made by Hon. John V. Farwell, of Chicago.

An Old Dwight Preacher.

Rev. James Haney who was pastor of the Dwight M. E. church some twenty-four years ago, was in town Tuesday on his way to attend the Methodist conference, and by special invitation made an excellent talk before the Convention. Rev. Haney is a son of the celebrated pioneer preacher little books.

He was introduced to the patients by Dr. Keeley, and delivered an eloquent and feeling address, which was published in full in the STAR and HERALD. He closed his address with the following lines:

Courage brother, do not stumble, Though thy path be dark as night, There's a star to guide the humble, Trust in God and do the right. Some will love thee, Some will hate thee, Some will flatter, Some will slight, Cease from man and look above thee, Trust in God and do the right.

The STAR and HERALD has received a large number of new subscribers this week. Much obliged gentlemen. We have room for more. All the home club news every week for $1.25 a year.

The firm of Liggitt & Fenn has this day dissolved partnership. Mr. Elmer Fenn retiring and Mr. Fred Liggitt continuing the business at the same stand. All accounts of the firm will be settled by Mr. Liggitt at the store. FRED LIGGITT, ELMER FENN. September 1, 1892.

Notes.

Amos Cole is here with his violin. STAR and HERALD $1.25 for the whole year. Ohio headquarters are in the Kepplinger block. Thirty states are represented in the convention. Rev. Hardin Davis' remarks were highly appreciated. Will Murphy, of Rockford, made us a call Wednesday. Mr. Yale, of Rockford, was a caller at this office Wednesday. J. J. Flinn, of Chicago, presented the gavel to the convention. J. W. Modie, of Independence, Mo., visited this office Wednesday.

Bill Nye on Country Roads.

Bill Nye doesn't always write nonsense. He certainly expressed a high-grade article of good sense when he gave his view of country road making: "Our wagon roads throughout the country are generally a disgrace to civilization and before we undertake to supply Jaeger underwear and sealskin covered bibles with flexible backs to the African, it might be well to put a few dollars into the relief of galled and broken down horses that have lost their health in our miserable highways. The country system, as I recall it, was in my boyhood days, about as poor and inefficient as it could well be. Each township was divided up into road districts and each district was presided over by an overseer of highways, whose duty it was to collect so many dollars from each tax payer in the district. Of course no tax payer would pay a dollar when he could come and make mud pies on the road all day, and visit and Joliet is well represented. About thirty-five graduates are in attendance.

The poems rendered by Chas. Eugene Banks, were highly appreciated.

Miss Ellen Phinneys' address Tuesday evening was listened to with wrapt attention.

The glee club from Colorado, under the esopnage of Col. Harry Ensley, is a fine one.

Le Gage Pratt presided at the Illinois state meeting, and C. McNeill acted as secretary.

Chas Henry, of Rockford, editor of "Frantiden," made us a fraternal call Wednesday.

gossip with the neighbors and save his dollar too. The result seemed to be that the work done was misdirected and generally an injury to the road. With all due respect to the farmer, I will state right here that he does not know how to make roads. An all wise providence never intended that he should know. The professional road builder, with the money used by farmers and self-made road architects, would, in a few years, make roads in the United States over which two or three times the present sized load could be easily drawn, and the dumb beasts of the republic would rise up and call sublesed for doing it."

Returned from Chicago.

Miss Burger and Miss Maymie Barnum have returned from their annual fall trip to Chicago. They visited all the large wholesale houses and made the best fall and winter selections that could be found. Miss Barnum remained in Chicago a week, trimming in a fashionable house and is consequently well posted in all the latest singer, is in the convention, and his sweet voice is heard in the land and opera house.

D. McNaughton, of Grand Rapids, Mich., paid his respects to us Wednesday, and will read the STAR and HERALD a year.

Rev. Cole has worked hard for the success of the club and convention. He was honored by an invitation to open the sessions with prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Welch, called at the STAR and HERALD office Tuesday evening. Mr. Welch is advertising manager of the Banner of Gold.

First Class Oyster House.

The Maxon restaurant will hereafter be conducted by Mr. Stanton as a first class oyster house. Last week after taking possishon Mr. Stanton went to Chicago and purchased a complete oyster cooking and serving outfit, and is prepared to furnish these fine bivalves in any style. Mr. Stanton will also be prepared at all times to furnish the people of Dwight with any amount of oysters in bulk or by the can. It goes without saying that everything will be run in first class style, and that the patronage will be large.

styles. She will be found from this time on at Miss Burger's handsome parlors, where where will be pleased to meet old and new friends. Miss Burger will receive new goods every week from this on, which will include everything new and nice for the fall and winter. Call and see.

Where to Locate New Factories

Is the title of a 150 page pamphlet recently published by the passenger department of the Illinois Central railroad and should be read by every mechanic, capitalist and manufacturer. It describes in detail the manufacturing advantages of the principal cities and towns on the line of the southern division of the Illinois Central and the Louisville, New Orleans & Texas railroads, and indicates the character and amount of substantial aid each city or town is willing to contribute. It furnishes conclusive proof that the South possesses advantages for the establishment of every kind of factory working wool, cotton, wood or clay.
