GAY TIMES IN GOTHAM.

GRANDEST CELEBRATION EVER SEEN IN THIS COUNTRY.

Thousands of Enthusiastic Visitors Block the Streets of the Eastern Metropolis—Impromptu Parade of School Children—Grand Spectacular Pageant—Gorgeous Fireworks, Etc.

The City of New York did the handsome thing by the memory of Columbus, and did it right well. The Jews inaugurated the celebration on Saturday, their Sabbath, with song and sermon in their synagogues, of both which the subject-matter was Columbus and the discovery of America.

Monday was the schools' day, and school children of the public, private, and parochial schools marched by thousands through the newly decorated streets.

The Columbian exercises. From dawn the waters of the harbor, the bay and the broad channels of the Hudson were literally alive with craft of all sorts and sizes, from the small yachts trimmed and draped with gay flags and bunting, forming ever-changing pictures as they darted to and fro in confusing maze.

PARAGUAY ALLIGATORS.

They Are Numerous and Hard to Kill, but Not Dangerous.

Of course, since there are no hunters to kill them, wild animals are very plentiful, says a writer on Paraguay, who writes from the interior of the country. Jaguar and deer even from the deck of the steamer. But most of all alligators abound.

They are the highest they roam over the flooded lands, seeking the small animals, water birds and fish, on which they live; at that time they are not so common along the river channels, and only now and then may be seen in the shallows, with the top of his head and eyes above the surface of the water.

Dangerous Use of Kerosene.

Building a fire with kerosene is becoming a fixed habit in this country, and should be discouraged by intelligent people.

At the City Hospital in Boston may be found at almost any time a victim of this dangerous habit. The only thing to be said in its favor is that it saves time and kindlings—a trifling economy when compared with the serious, if not fatal, results which may follow.

The effect of the burnt particles with the degree of the injury. Be careful in moving the clothes to save the skin unbroken. The contents of blisters should be carefully let out with a needle, and the true skin pressed gently down upon the true skin. The first object is to exclude the air. This can be done by applying pure olive oil or vaseline.

Every good housekeeper should do away with the possibility of this accident.—The Household.
