

ON HIS LAST CRUISE.

SUICIDE OF A NOTED LAKE CAPTAIN.

Counterfeit $2 Silver Certificate About—Felling Our Country with Kitchen Rubbish—Young Will Make a Grand Showing—Long-Lived Family.

Told in a Few Words.

—Capt. G. D. Borey, of Chicago, who has been employed by the Goodrich Line as a lake captain for more than thirty years, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart. Captain Borey was 67 years old and was born in Burlington, Vt. At the age of 14 he shipped as a cabin boy on a sailing vessel known as the "Old Sam Ward". Early in the '50s he went to Chicago and has lived there since.

He had been captain of the Chicago, the Sheboygan, and the Muskegon, of the Goodrich Line, and until a few months ago was captain of the Indiana. Two months ago he was attacked with dropsy and heart disease, and was obliged to relinquish work. Tuesday, while his wife was down stairs in the kitchen, she heard a shot fired, and, rushing to her husband's room, found him lying on the floor, shot through the heart, with his revolver lying by his side. Captain Borey was a charter member of the Apollo Masonic Lodge, and leaves a wife and seven children.

—The secret service division of the Treasury Department has discovered a counterfeit of the new issue of the $2 silver certificate issued in 1902. The counterfeit is a horse and buggy. Two men alighted, one going some distance down the street and the other walking up and down in front of the bank. Their operations were watched, and the man on the sidewalk and the one in the buggy were finally taken into custody.

—An indictment for manslaughter has been returned against Puglist Jack Davis, who killed Dick Nolan in a recent fight in the rooms of the Memphis Athletic Club. He is still in jail, and will be held without bail to await trial.

—J. C. Britton, a brakeman on the Chicago and North Western, was literally killed north of Brazil, Ind., while coupling a train of cars. He was thrown on the rails, twenty-five box cars passing over his body. A collision occurred on the Vandalla switch running to the Brazil Block Coal mine.

—Bud Ritchey, a wealthy Scottsville, Ky., stock owner, was assassinated. He was driving along the road with his wife and baby when some one concealed behind a bush shot him. Ritchey was killed, and the wife and child were unhurt.

—The Western window glass manufacturers were in secret session at Cleveland for the purpose of considering the condition of trade and the price list. The States represented were Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. This is the first of a series of monthly meetings which it is proposed to hold in order that the price list may be changed whenever the necessities or opportunities of the trade make such a course advisable.

—Father Crowley, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Denison, Texas, has been suspended for six weeks for breach of discipline. Eleven other priests in that diocese have also been suspended on charges similar to those pending against Father Crowley.

—Lake Wood, N. J., dispatch: Edwin Booth is able to be about, but is not permitted to venture out of the hotel. He is constantly guarded by his daughter and her husband. He is in very feeble health and likely to die at any moment.

—The late Daniel Graves, whose death occurred at Salt Lake, Utah, on Saturday, was buried in a casket for which he planted and raised two walnut trees. They measured about eight inches in circumference when he had them cut down and taken to Provo Lumber Manufacturing and Building Company last season.

—The Marlon County, Ind., Grand Jury has returned an indictment against A. H. Hosmer, of Baltimore, who was Supreme Vice President of the order of the Iron Guard. No requisition papers have been issued. It is understood that Hosmer will surrender himself. If he does not he will be arrested, as his whereabouts are known to the Indianapolis officers.

—Bill Dalton, brother of the extermination outlaw, is in Coffeyville, Kan., and says he is going to bring to the city of Coffeyville for $10,000 damages because the pockets of the dead bandits were rifled after they were shot down. He claims they had $900 of their own money, and that he knows who got it.

—Nineteen buildings were destroyed by fire at Ste. Anne de Beppre. The famous sanctuary and shrine was spared.

—Obituary: At Berlin, Robert Franz, the German composer, at Goettingen, Germany, Prof. Adolf Loebner, the eminent authority on monometallic.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

—It now transpires that Isaac H. Vincent, Alabama's defaulting ex-Treasurer, now serving his time as a convict in Louisiana, spent four years of his life, while evading detectives, on a cotton plantation in the eastern part of Ouachita Parish, under the assumed name of J. F. Box. He reached Ouachita Parish in 1883, claiming to have come from the West Indies, bought the Boxman place in the colony now owned by Thomas and managed it as a cotton operation. His farming business did not prove a success, and after three years he sold his plantation and removed to Monroe, where he became quite active and prominent in political matters. Vincent is known as Scott Davis, and liked and was held in high esteem by his friends and acquaintances in his new home. His disappearance from Ouachita Parish was quite as sudden and mysterious as his appearance, and many believed that he was in Monroe, but a former lawyer of Monroe, but now a resident of Birmingham, Ala., claims that he recognized Vincent in the assumed personage of Box from a photograph that he had seen of the noted Alabama fugitive while they both were in Monroe, but acting on the principle that no good could come from talking, he kept his lips sealed on the subject.

—An unknown man, while at Chicago riding on a Cottage Grove avenue cable at 67th street, Thursday night, met with a horrible death. A team, belonging to James F. Coffey, of 70th street and Calumet avenue, collided with the grip car, and the tongue of the wagon struck the unknown man, who was sitting on the front seat of the car, in the stomach, passing entirely through him.

—An attempt to rob the Brighton Five Cent Savings Bank at Boston was nipped in the bud by the arrest of two suspicious characters, who have been loitering around the bank for several days, several times entering it ostensibly to obtain change. The conspirators were a man carrying a horse and buggy. Two men alighted, one going some distance down the street and the other walking up and down in front of the bank. Their operations were watched, and the man on the sidewalk and the one in the buggy were finally taken into custody.

Great Britain, the United States and Germany are all agreed that the present situation in Samoa is insupportable, and that the work of the convention must be amended.

—The British steamer Borrowdale is ashore near Lindt, Zanzibar. She lies in a very bad position and will probably be a long time before she can be refloated. The Borrowdale was under charter to the British government, and had on board three colonial steamers that were intended to be conveyed into the interior of Africa and used on the lakes.

MISCELLANEOUS.

—The civic parade, Thursday, at Chicago, was the most notable affair of the kind ever seen in this country. Eighty thousand men on foot and on horseback, many mounted and in carriages, tramped over the route between the densest masses of people on sidewalks. The spectators numbered over a million, and were so closely massed that for four hours men and women were actually confined in their places.

—Lawyer E. B. Magee, of Boston, commissioner of resolves in 1857, is now missing for about six weeks, and it is said that he owes some of his friends and clients large sums of borrowed money. In other cases he is said to have given worthless checks in payment. One rumor says that he has fled to New York, and another that he has fled to London.

—The bills of Columbus week engaged the attention of an auditing committee of six members of the House of Representatives. The committee expects to come out about even when everything is cleared up. No decision was reached in regard to the award of prizes for the best design for decoration and illumination. The committee members are: Speaker Cannon, Chairman; Mr. Jones, Mr. Smith, Mr. Brown, Mr. White, Mr. Black, Mr. Green, Mr. Gray, Mr. Blue, Mr. Yellow, Mr. Purple, Mr. Pink, Mr. Red, Mr. Orange, Mr. Olive, Mr. Lavender, Mr. Magenta, Mr. Cyan, Mr. Teal, Mr. Maroon, Mr. Burgundy, Mr. Plum, Mr. Slate, Mr. Steel, Mr. Tin, Mr. Lead, Mr. Zinc, Mr. Iron, Mr. Copper, Mr. Brass, Mr. Silver, Mr. Gold.

—Cleveland, O., policemen discovered the body of a man floating in the lake. A rope was twisted around the neck, and tied to the ends of it were two car coupling links. A satchel strapped over one shoulder was tipped open, and the contents, which had been taken down from the vest, and there was no money in the pockets. The body was identified as that of F. G. Eldredge, of Akron, O., a former railroad man. It is apparently a case of robbery and murder.

—The American Government publishes a decree reforming the customs tariff by reducing the duties on cotton 20, on printing 30, and on hogs and cattle 33 per cent. The duties on Virginia tobacco, lead, iron, glass, and articles necessary for numerous manufacturers are also lowered. The decree sets forth the Treasury Department's policy with reference to foreign commerce in the direction of lowering some import duties and placing light, merely fiscal, duties on various articles, which heretofore have been free.

—Committees from the trunk lines and from the Toronto, Montreal, and Winnipeg Branches of the Great Northern, N. Y., the object of the conference was to agree upon a system of grazing Canadian export grain. It was decided that as soon as the export grain began to move, Manitoba products will be inspected at Winnipeg, and given certificates according to established grades. All grades of grain from the provinces of Ontario and Quebec will be graded at points on the frontier. The Canadian representatives accepted this proposition.

—The scene at the dedication of the World's Columbian Exposition was one that amazed the throng of nearly 200,000 people who attended, and it was one which has never before paralleled in the history of the universe. In the vast building devoted to manufacturers there were fully 100,000 people, most of them seated, and twice that number would not have crowded the structure. The decorations were lavish in proportion to the size of the building. The monuments were of the most impressive order. Naturally, but a small proportion of those present could hear the addresses, and in consequence the throng outside the building gazed that inside. The fireworks display on the evening of three parks simultaneously was most elaborate, and was seen for miles about.

—Indians throughout the Canadian Northwest are in a high state of excitement. They declare that two new-born infants on the Sorcerer reservation, near the line of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, had spoken and predicted that a great storm would sweep the country in a very short time and destroy trees, houses, and everything in its course. This absurd story has been taken throughout the country by Indian rangers, and the Indians are alarmed to such a degree that they are now all engaged digging large pits to seal each other in, and to take refuge when the storm comes. Neither white settlers nor missionaries can persuade the redskins that their fears are absurd.

—Six officials of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company were in Coffeyville, Kansas, Thursday afternoon, to distribute the $5,000 that the company gives to the families of the four murdered citizens. They decided to give each of the families of the four murdered citizens $1,000, and divide the remaining $1,000 among five other citizens. John Klecker being one of them. The relief fund, besides this contribution, amounts now to $5,700.

—At some places around Port Clinton, Pa., it is actually necessary to guard the tanks of the locomotives to prevent the people from carrying off the water. It is likewise stated that on one of the divisions of the Great Valley, the water is so scarce that the locomotives are transported for a long distance by engines. Reading is one of the few cities in the Schuylkill Valley whose water supply has not been affected by the drought. Owing to the drought mountain fires have broken out at several places.

—At the closing session of the Presbyterian Synod at Albany, when the Briggs discussion was resumed, Professor Willis J. Beecher, of Auburn Seminary, offered this substitute for both the minority and majority reports: "In the matter of the Briggs case, the committee finds the complaint to be in order, but recommends that it is expedient to take action at the present time, because the case, through the action of the General Assembly and of the Presbytery of New York, is again before the synod. The synod of New York will there fore have their remedy in their own hands. And in case the remedy there be found insufficient they will afterward have opportunity by appeal or complaint to bring the case again before the synod." Dr. Beecher's substitute was accepted by a vote of 125 yeas to 75 nays.

—Father Halre, who has been pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, Baltimore, a little over a year, has been appointed Superior of the Order of the Sisters of Charity of the United States.

—There is great excitement in Catholic circles at New Haven, Conn., over two remarkable cures reported to have just been effected on persons who have been worshipping at the shrine recently set up here with a relic of St. Ann. Annie Higgins, aged 14 years, who had been crippled since youth, was cured of her lameness. The substitute was then adopted as the report of the judicial committee.

—The aggregate value of the taxable property of the State, as shown by the report of the Auditor of Public Accounts, is $831,108,305, divided as follows: Personal property, $143,967,645; lands, $116,659,655; lots, $284,288,202; total railroad property assessed by local assessors, $2,737,803; railroad property assessed by the Board of Equalization, $77,108,390; capital stock of corporations assessed by the board, $6,549,202. The total assessed value is $1,822,109,425, so that the increase of the year's assessment over that of last year is $1,200,877. In the process of equalization the State Board deducted from the lands assessments $22,384,265, and added to town and the city lots $247,238, and other articles of property $1,675,030, thus making a net gain of equalized value over assessed value of $1,639,068.

—The State Board of Health is seriously concerned about the increasing prevalence of diphtheria in many localities in the State. Schools are being closed on account of it, and a condition bordering on panic exists in some places. Investigations by the Secretary and by sanitary inspectors of the board reveal in every instance where the disease has gained a foothold that it is due to grave sanitary defects in the locality and failure to enforce the only known means of controlling the disease, by suppressing this domestic pestilence, to wit: isolation and disinfection. The Board calls attention to the fact that diphtheria is spread not only by exposure of the well to those suffering from the disease but also through articles of contact with the sick. In 100 recent outbreaks in different localities where isolation and disinfection were enforced the total number of cases was limited to 286, and the total number of deaths was sixty-eight.

—A sensational attempt at suicide, which had a doubtful result in its death, was made by Albert Antrim, of Cairo. Going into the gun store of John A. Koehler, he asked to be shown some revolvers, saying that he wanted to buy one to use in case burglars should try to enter his home at night. Having selected one, he asked Mr. Koehler to load it and show him how it worked. This was done, and Antrim, taking the pistol in his hand, then said: "That's one way and here's another." Before an effort could be made to prevent him he raised the pistol and fired it into his own chest. The ball entered his skull above and a little back of the right ear, ranging downward, and inflicting a fatal wound.

—When the Cotton Belt train arrived at Cairo the other morning F. Bunting, of Steadard County, Missouri, was lying on the ground with a stroke of apoplexy. He was carried into the depot and died. His age was about 64. His remains were taken home.

—At Ottumwa, Iowa, a man calling himself Carr, but whose real name is Carr, while walking on the track was instantly killed by the fast mail train. Papers found on his person and at his boarding place show that he was one of a gang of burglars who recently operated at Glendale, this State, robbing freight cars.

FINANCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL.

—The strike on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad is off and all trains are running on time.

—Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, who has been in conference with the officials of the Amalgamated Association for several days past, left Pittsburgh for Philadelphia. Before leaving he said to a reporter that he would recommend to the Federation that a boycott be instituted on all Carnegie steel articles that come from the United States. This step will result either in innumerable strikes or in the rejection of Carnegie's material by all employees of Federation members. He said the Federation is contributing weekly to the support of the Homestead strikers.

ILLINOIS INCIDENTS. J. C. LEWIS,

BOBER OR STARTLING, FAITHFULLY RECORDED.

Illinois' Beautiful Building at the Fair—Taxable Property in the State Worth Nearly a Billion Dollars—Killed a Drunken Man.

From Far and Near. JOHN KING, a young farmer living near Pawnee, while hunting, accidentally shot and killed himself. The top of his head was blown entirely off.

Bishop RYAN, of Alton, dedicated the Sacred Heart Church—English Catholics—in Effingham Sunday. Clergymen were present from many of the surrounding towns. Fathers Hickey, of Springfield, and Crowe, of Jacksonville, delivered the addresses. The building cost $15,000.

A PARTY of Vandalla fishermen discovered some male wearing apparel, a full suit of clothes except hat and trousers, lying beside a tree on the river bank, south of town. In a pocket was a tiny type of an old man and woman. An artist's memorandum card was inclosed with the pictures. An empty valise and two railroad tickets were also found, but nothing to show to whom they belonged. It is believed someone committed suicide.

During the exercises at Jackson Park, the Illinois Building was one of the most admired within the inclosure. Its lofty cupola towers above them all, being the highest of its kind in the world. It was fit and proper that the State honor with the site of the exposition should be especially liberal in its own appropriation, and in its structure reach an uninvited altitude. When all is taken into account Illinois may be said to be the center of America.

Midway between the two gulfs, its commercial capital, it is the only one of the continent, could not afford to be second to any other in its expositional expenditures.

UNDER the contract between the city of Quincy and the water company, the latter was to put in all the hydrants at the actual cost of the same. Instead of doing this the company charged the city $75 each, claiming that on an average they cost that much. By accident Mayor Walker opened a letter addressed to the Water Board of Quincy, and this proved to be a bill for hydrants, which, according to that letter, would cost $38 each. Suit was then brought for overcharges, and the city was given a judgment. The water company appealed and a decision has now been rendered by the Appellate Court affirming the decision of the Circuit Court.

W. ROGERS, a section foreman, was recently killed by the steamboat, of Mount Vernon, a prominent jeweler and music dealer. Rogers, who was in an intoxicated condition, was trying to gain an entrance to Davenport's residence. Davenport was awakened by the noise and asked who was there, when the latter replied he was going around to the front door and try to get in there. Davenport advanced toward the door with a revolver in his hand and fired two shots through the curtain and glass door, one shot taking effect in Rogers' heart.

At the trial of Davenport was placed on the ground and will pay $300. And in case the remedy there be found insufficient they will afterward have opportunity by appeal or complaint to bring the case again before the synod.
