

Everybody in New York is buying Christmas presents; yet the crush of the crowds is so great in the streets and stores, to shop by mail is a saving of time and money.

For the lady of either sex the sets of Jans' Hygienic unshrinkable underwear, shown at 311 Broadway, constitute a gift of great benefit.

An item of unusual interest to the thousands of women (and men, as well) who are finding an occupation in the new and growing field of typewriting is the success attained by the pioneer makers of typewriters in their last and greatest achievement.

From the centers to the surface is an excellent maxim for medical men, and why not for compositors of such specialties as Druggists, Dentists, Triclistas, prepared at the well-known stand corner of Broadway and Barclay street, New York, and sold by mail or express on receipt of $1.

To anxious inquirers we would say, recommend Dr. Woodbury's Facial Soap, supplied in 50-cent boxes for samples at $1. It is a skin cleanser of inestimable value, and acts as a soothing stimulant upon red, raw, and chafed surfaces.

The czar of Russia is reported to have presented the Stanford University, in California, with a complete collection of Russian and Siberian minerals.

SUNSHINE comes, no matter how dark the clouds are, when the woman who is borne down by woman's troubles turns to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If her life is made gloomy by the chronic weakness, delicate derangements, and painful disorders that attend her sex, they are completely cured.

A Boston banker, visiting in Paris, bought for the two delicious Paris, felicitating himself upon his cheap acquisition for 3 francs at the hotel.

The city has twenty wards, each governed by a Mayor and two Deputies. On a superficies of about 45,000,000 square yards it has some 83,000 houses, containing 2,250,000 inhabitants.

One key unlocked the mysterious cabinet of the administration of Paris—economy. The French meaning of that term can never be comprehended in America. It is not meanness.

Cold and Dripping Wet Hands. There is a girl in San Francisco, says the Examiner, who can cure headaches—cure them without a bit of medicine.

There's something peculiar about the girl's hands. They are white and shapely and very nice to look at, but to touch—ugh! they're as cold as ice.

Engaged in Practical Philanthropy. A gentle woman of England, Lady Humbrey, has made a move in practical philanthropy that not many housekeepers will have the strength of mind to imitate.

The knowledge drawn from experience is of quite another kind from that which flows from speculation or discourses.

A chemist of Paris not long ago traced certain mysterious nocturnal rappings to their source, and stated two possible disturbers of nervous people.

Novel Flytrap. An uptown pharmacist has a novel flytrap in his store window. It is run by a little electric motor, and gazers in the files with great curiosity.

A Dangerous Trip. All who have ever gone under Niagara Falls will understand how Mr. Mason, cashier of the International Trust Company, of Boston, was lost by being swept from the foot of the falls.

Are You Squirming? And is it pain that causes you to squirm? Rheumatism will make anyone wince. Consider it, as you can readily do, at the outset with Hoeater's Stomach Bitters.

An Ancient Shoe. A curious shoe has been found in an old house built in 1700 at Newburyport, Mass., and which was recently demolished.

Cakes with Flavored Syrups. An eating house in Philadelphia has inaugurated the spreading custom of serving hot cakes with any flavored syrup the customer elects to call for from the soda-fountain list.

How I Write Ben Hur. A story by Lew Wallace, is one scrap from the voluminous and prodigious output of the prolific and interesting author, which The World has published in its entirety.

It is conceded that the Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest of all the baking powders.

The purest baking powder makes the finest, sweetest, most delicious food. The strongest baking powder makes the lightest food.

That baking powder which is both purest and strongest makes the most digestible and wholesome food.

Why should not every housekeeper avail herself of the baking powder which will give her the best food with the least trouble?

Avoid all baking powders sold with a gift or prize, or at a lower price than the Royal, as they invariably contain alum, lime or sulphuric acid, and render the food unwholesome.

Certain protection from alum baking powders can be had by declining to accept any substitute for the Royal, which is absolutely pure.

How a Bee Flights. An observer writes that he is satisfied that there is just as much rivalry between hummingbirds and bees in their quest for honey as there is between members of the human race in their struggles for the good things of life.

The Disraeli Swamp. The Disraeli Swamp in Virginia, one of the largest of the swampy tracts in America, is also one of the most promising areas for reclamation. It contains fully 1,500 square miles, and is at present little value, except for a supply of timber.

The Fat Farmer Was Stuck on It. A good anecdote is told of M. Carnot, who is about to visit Savoy. As usual, he will take with him a collection of decorations and other distinctions for distribution among the notables of the towns he will pass through.
