A record of uninterrupted cures for nearly half a century has convinced sensible people that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best in the market. Why try new things when you know that you have what you need? It is infallible.

NOTED TEMPERANCE LEADER

The Forcible and Brilliant David Frost.

He Endorses Indian Sagwa.

The portrait of David Frost, the noted temperance lecturer, will be recognized far and wide.

DAVID FROST, BOSTON, MASS.

In a recent conversation with Mr. Frost, that gentleman said, "with the convincing earnestness which characterizes his remarks: "One of the greatest evils with which the friends of temperance have to contend is the cheap whiskey decoctions and miserable rum mixtures by which the market is flooded under the guise of 'Bitters,' 'Sarsaparillas,' 'Gingers,' and other patent medicines.

"I do not mean to say," continued Mr. Frost, "that all proprietary medicines come under this head, and in fact I know from personal experience of one which is not only a Great Medicine, a Splendid Tonic, and Unrivalled Blood Purifier, but which is innocent of all deteriorating ingredients and Free from Harmful Effects, no matter how much or how freely it may be used. It is not my wish to appear as the exponent of any public remedy, but in this case I deem it my duty to commend to at Grand Remedy of the Indian race, 'Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.'

"I speak from experience, for it has stood me in good stead. When half sick, worn out, and my most rebellious stomach refused to longer act in its normal capacity, 'Kickapoo Indian Sagwa' has restored me to a healthy condition when nothing else would. I have taken occasion also to learn something about this medicine and its origin, and know that 'Sagwa' is not only an old and tried remedy among the Indians, but that its Vegetable Purity and Harmless Curative Effects are still maintained, and that its manufacture is still carried on by modern methods exactly in accordance with the ways of the noble Red Man.

"Simple Roots, Barks, Leaves and Flowers from the Forest are all that enter into its composition, and the Strength which is gained from its use is not the false strength of the rum bottle but the Noble Exhilaration of Bounding Health, and the Purified Blood, cleansed of its poison, coursing through every Vein and Artery of the Human System."

Words fail to convey the earnest force of his remarks as expressed to the writer and the high regard he had for the remedy.

EXHIBITS BY THE TON.

DISPLAYS ARE DAILY INCREASING IN VOLUME.

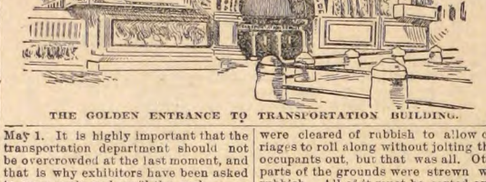
Installation Outclasses in Importance All Other Work Remaining to Be Done at the World's Fair Grounds—Big Job of House Cleaning.

Ready for the Big Rush.

Chicago correspondence:

Installation of exhibits outclasses in importance all other work remaining to be done at the World's Fair grounds. The great rush has commenced, and the displays are arriving in daily increasing volume. Rush orders have been sent out to all intending exhibitors. The department of transportation is thoroughly equipped and ready to handle ten times the daily bulk that has yet been received on the grounds.

Preliminary estimates give 30,000 car loads as the probable amount of exhibits that must be received, unpacked, and installed before May 1. Up to date only 2,400 car loads have been received. If, from now on, 500 car loads of exhibits should be received each day the last exhibit would not be installed by



THE GOLDEN ENTRANCE TO TRANSPORTATION BUILDING.

May 1. It is highly important that the transportation department should not be overcrowded at the last moment, and that is why exhibitors have been asked to come early and avoid the rush.

Chief Holcomb's department has already handled some unique exhibits. It has taken the trunk of one of California's mammoth trees into the grounds on ordinary flat cars, removed it with skids and rollers inside the United States government building, where it is now erected in the tall dome. The department has landed a United States postal car on the track inside the government building and swung it to its allotted place with special cranes and jacks. In the mines and mining building an exhibit of the Pottstown Iron company, consisting of a steel plate 150 feet long, 20 inches wide, and half an inch thick, has been put in place. In the same building the department has landed two pieces of red sandstone from Wisconsin each about twenty-two feet long and about three and one-half feet square, also six more cubes of the same material, measuring five feet on each side.

Methods of Installation.

The methods of installation are simple and yet so flexible as to be able to cope with any emergency. All exhibits arriving by train come in over the Baltimore and Ohio or Illinois Central tracks. From the railroad entrance to the grounds the installation department has laid tracks to all the important buildings. On account of the peculiarities of landscape gardening and the location of the buildings it is not possible to run these tracks directly into the buildings. Special push cars and transfer tracks are provided. There are no full-sized tracks in any of the buildings except machinery hall, where the exhibits are carried directly into the building without transfer. In Machinery Hall the immense traveling cranes span the center of the tracks, and are capable of handling twenty tons each. In the other buildings heavy exhibits are handled by lifting them from the ordinary cars to the push cars, when they are run inside the building to the allotted space. In this work the department uses two self-propelling locomotive trains with a capacity of twelve tons each. These trains can be moved around the grounds by means of turntables or massed in any one department if required.

Special methods are employed for installing exhibits in the Transportation Building. An ordinary transfer table, such as is used in railroad car shops, is employed to get the train exhibits into place. This table is so constructed that eighty-foot cars can be placed on it and shunted to the track for which they are designed. This transfer table sustains a weight of 200,000 pounds, and its lateral movement is directed by electric power.

The Krupp gun exhibit is nearly all in Jackson Park. There is one monster gun yet to arrive. The installation of the Krupp exhibit is one of the interesting sights at the park. The exhibitors do their own unloading, and have a track laid right up to the site on the lake front. They have some derricks which will lift 200,000 pounds as if the load were a feather.

Big Job of House Cleaning.

The buildings and grounds are scattered with debris and all of it must be removed before the gates are opened, about ten weeks hence. Director General Davis climbed into a wagon the other day and rode all over the grounds. He went through the buildings, tramped over the grounds, sized up great mounds of wrecked staff material and molds, and pried around among piles of building material. When he came back he said: "It will take 5,000 men a month to clear away this rubbish. We have the biggest job of house cleaning on hand that has ever been undertaken."

Comparatively little cleaning up was done last fall for the dedication exercises. The boulevards leading from several entrances to Manufactures Hall, where the speeches were made, were cleared of rubbish to allow carriages to roll along without jolting their occupants out, but that was all. Other parts of the grounds were strewn with rubbish. All of it must be carted away and the parks swept as clean as a lady's boudoir before the gates are opened. The park will probably be swept a dozen times before opening day. There are nearly 700 acres to put in shape, more than 150 of which are under roof. After the buildings have been thoroughly cleaned exhibitors will scatter rubbish from one end to the other in unpacking their exhibits and putting them in place in the pavilions. Then the army of scavengers will have the work to do over again.

"They will be sweeping rubbish out of every building on the grounds an hour before President Cleveland starts the machinery," said Colonel Massey. "The exhibitors will take all the time possible to arrange their displays, and we must prepare for a general cleaning up of the buildings the night and morning before the fair opens to the public."

Several of the big buildings, notably mines, machinery and electricity, have been the cause of considerable complaint lately on the part of exhibitors. The floors were too weak to stand the enormous strains of heavy machinery and masses of ore and stone heaped upon them. Exhibitors had to go to the expense of tearing out the floors and putting foundations of stone and brick under their exhibits. Some of them, especially foreign governments and State boards with scant appropriations, protested against the expense, but they were not allowed to bring their displays in until the foundations had been strengthened.

Trio Go to Prison.

The second of the series of Panama Canal trials came to an end Tuesday. Charles de Lesseps, accused of corrupting ex-Minister of Public Works Baihut to support the Panama lottery bonds bill, was found guilty. Baihut, who confessed his guilt in open court, was also found guilty, and Blondin, who acted as go-between in the bribery of Baihut, was also found guilty. All the other defendants are acquitted.

Royal Baking Powder
Is Absolutely Pure

WHILE there are so many alum baking powders in the market, the use of which all physicians decide render the food unwholesome and liable to produce dyspepsia and other ailments, housekeepers should exercise the utmost care to prevent any powder but the Royal from being brought into their kitchens.

In the use of Royal there is an absolute certainty of pure and wholesome food.

The official State Chemists report: The Royal Baking Powder does not contain ammonia, alum, lime, nor any injurious ingredients. It is absolutely pure and wholesome. The Government reports show all other baking powders to contain impurities.

In the use of any baking powder but Royal there is uncertainty if not actual danger.

It is unwise to take chances in matters of life and health.

Nothing Hidden.

"In China a 'private house' is unknown. Anyone can go anywhere, and if there is the least provocation, he will do so." So says the Rev. A. H. Smith, after many years of missionary service in that country. To shut the door is a bad sign. "What is going on within that he dare not admit his fellow-townsmen?" people are likely to say. There are no newspapers, no objects of general and human interest to attract attention, and as men and women must be interested in something, it is natural that they should be fond of neighborly gossip. From Mr. Smith's account of the matter it is plain how very little Chinese and Yankees have in common.

Every Chinese has relatives beyond all count or remembrance. His wife has as many more. His married children add to the ever widening circle. By the time he is sixty years of age, a man is related to hundreds upon hundreds of individuals, each of whom is entirely conscious of the relationship, and does not forget or ignore it.

Not only do all the members of this army of relatives feel themselves entitled to know all the details of one's affairs, but the relatives—a swarm branching into infinity—will perhaps do the same. If his uncle is sick, or a magistrate, they certainly will do it.

One cannot make a business trip to sell watermelons, to buy mules, to collect a debt, of which every one will not speedily know all that is to be known. Chinese memories are treasure houses of everything relative to cash and to dates.

How much land each man owns, when it was acquired, when pawned and when redeemed, how much was expended at the funeral of his mother and at the wedding of his son, how the daughter-in-law is liked at the village into which she has married, the amount of her dowry, what bargain was made with the firm that let the bridal chair, all these items and a thousand more everybody knows and never forgets.

Though two men at a fair may do their bargaining with their fingers concealed in their capacious sleeves, it will go hard if the neighbors do not discover the terms at last.

There are no secrets in China. Everybody crowds in everywhere—if not in sight, then "behind the arras." Every one reads every dispatch he can get at. He reads "private" letters in the same way.

"What!" he exclaims, "not let me?"

No wonder the Chinese have an adage, "If you would not have it known that you do it, do not do it."

Birds of Passage

Between this and the other side of the broad Atlantic, in the shape of tourists, commercial travelers, and mariners, agents "on the road," steamboat captains, ship's surgeons, and "all sorts and conditions" of travelers, emigrant and new settlers appreciate and testify to the preventive and remedial properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in sea sickness, nausea, malarial and rheumatic trouble, and all disorders of the stomach, liver, and bowels. Against superficial influences of climate, crudely cooked or unaccustomed diet, and impure water, it is a sovereign safeguard, and has been so regarded by the traveling public for over a third of a century. No form of malarial fever, from the malarious fens of the Pacific, and the broken bone fever of the Mississippi, to its milder types, can resist the curative action of this beneficent preservative and restorer of health, a veritable boon to persons in feeble health or liable to incur disease.

On the Track of the Microbe.

Science is pressing relentlessly on the heels of the microbe. The latest method of coping with this minute but potent source of disease is to literally cast it out of the abiding place in which it has installed itself. Micro-organisms contain substances for the most part heavier than water, and this fact has led to the introduction of a method of separating them from water, milk and other liquids by centrifugal force. A speed of about 4,000 revolutions a minute serves to clear a large number of microbes from the liquid and render it limpid.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

An Experience with Snow.

"Talking about snow," remarked Archibald Lennox, at the Laclede, "reminds me of an experience I had with 'the beautiful' up in Vermont. I went up into the Green Mountains to spend the holidays with a gentleman who had the distinguished honor to command my regiment during the war. On the evening of my arrival a heavy snowstorm set in. The house set in a cozy valley hemmed in by hills. Before morning the wind rose, the snow began to drift, and by daylight everything but the high brick chimney was completely buried. Talk about the darkness that overspread Egypt! It wasn't a marker to the inside of that farm-house.

"We had plenty of provisions, and were not long in running a tunnel to the woodpile and barn. Then we dug our way up to daylight. The snow had blown down from the hills and almost filled the little valley. The weather turned piercing cold, and or more than a month the family emulated the cave dwellers. A flight of snow steps, over which water had been poured and allowed to freeze, furnished egress to the upper world."

Neat Rejoinder.

A Highlander who sold brooms went into a barber's shop in Glasgow to get shaved. The barber bought one of his brooms, and, after having shaved him, asked him the price of it. "Tippence," said the Highlander. "Na, na," says the shaver; "I'll gi'e ye a penny, and if that doesna satisfy ye, tak' yer broom again." The Highlander took it and asked what he had to pay. "A penny," says Strap. "I'll gi'e ye a bawbee," says Duncan, "an' if that dinna satisfy ye, pit on my beard again."
