

ON A GOLD BASIS.

We sent out several notices recently notifying subscribers of the expiration of the time the STAR AND HERALD is paid for. Please respond immediately. We need our money.

Mr. Gray, of Chicago, a graduate of about three years ago, visited Dwight during the week. He gave some interesting experience regarding his and other cures Monday evening, and encouraged those in line now, greatly.

Capt. A. H. Mattox, of Ohio, was a visitor in Dwight Monday. The captain is now conducting four institutes in Ohio and they are all doing well. He held a long interview with Dr. Keeley while here, and left for home Monday p. m.

We enjoyed a pleasant call Tuesday from Ex-President C. Edward Clarke, of Viroqua, Wisconsin. He left this week for his home, much improved in health and spirits, and determined to do all in his power for fallen men. Mr. Clark made a very fine speech to the club at Tuesday morning's meeting.

The Convention.

The coming state convention of Keeley League Clubs, June 27 and 28, will bring into Dwight some two or three hundred delegates, alternates and visitors from all parts of the state. The meetings will be held in the new club house, if large enough, or in the opera house if not. The meeting is called for the purpose of strengthening the state organization, becoming better acquainted with each other and systematizing the state work, and making arrangements for the national convention to be held in Chicago in September. Every Illinois graduate should be interested in this matter through state pride, and every state delegator to Chicago should receive a hearty welcome. Every League in Illinois should send its full quota of delegates and alternates. We understand that No. 12, of Chicago is preparing to send a large delegation. No. 1, of Dwight, the largest club in the world, elected the following delegates and alternates last Tuesday:

Delegates—W. G. Dustin, J. J. Miller, W. T. Prime, Harry Lawrence, Willard S. Brown.

Alternates—J. R. Webster, Gus Levy, B. F. Norton, J. D. Bevans, John Parvin.

Pool Kickers.

It would seem strange that souls abound so infinitesimally thin that they will shrink and crack when their owners are dunned for a dollar, but there are. About once a month, on an average, some dwarfed specimen of artificial dignity goes on his ear because we poke an overdue subscription at him, and stops his paper because we "imply" he isn't good for a dollar. If those people only knew with what gratification we mark their names off the list, and how glad we are that they no longer disgrace the pages of the subscription book, they would be surprised, to say the least. If there is any one man more than another we don't want anything to do with, who we don't want to read the paper, it is the gottistical ass who delights in asserting that he "won't let any man dun him." He is of that class who by dint of saving and slaving, scrimping and squeezing, has managed to get a few dollars ahead, and as he is not used to prosperity it swells his head. Every merchant and business man runs across such people every now and then in the course of ordinary business, and discover they mortally insult them when they happen to present an overdue bill. This class, in fact, is so numerous that some merchants have the words "statement of account" printed on their bill heads for fear of giving offense. No person who is a good business man, an experienced business man, and a gentleman, will take any exception to the presentation of a bill, no matter how small. It is the only method known to commerce by which collection may be made, and the person who don't like to be dunned, and stops his paper or withdraws his patronage because he is dunned, simply makes himself extremely little and ridiculous in the eyes of the creditor. The Press makes it a rule never to ask a subscriber why he stops his paper. It is none of our business. We concede to all persons just as much right to discontinue their subscription as to make it, and we mark a name off the book just as cheerfully as we write it on. And when subscriptions become due we propose to present bills to any and all persons. Whether they like it or do not like it makes not a particle difference.—Delavan Press.
