We have some subscribers that are behind two and three years, and have notified them repeatedly. You know who you are by looking at the slip. Those bills will be found in the hands of a collector if not settled immediately. We can't run business that way.

This office is very much in need of money. Please look at the slip on your paper or wrapper and if you are back call on us at once, and save us the trouble of sending out bills. Those indebted to us for advertising and job work are aware of the same and should call and settle immediately.

The tail end of the national republican ticket was in town Tuesday looking for something to sit on. We mean Coroner Zimmerman, of Fairbury. John believes in the scriptures so far as "the last shall be first" is concerned, since last election. He was the last on the ticket, but about the only republican that came out ahead.

General Chas. P. Mattocks and wife, of Portland, Maine, spent last Sunday in Dwight as guests of Col. and Mrs. Parsons. General Mattocks is the executive commissioner of the state of Maine to the world's fair, and was a wise selection on the part of Governor Cleaves. He superintended the construction of the beautiful state of Maine building located near the lake shore in the fair grounds, and built of granite from Maine. He has since remained in and will continue to do the honors of his state during the fair. General Mattocks has an enviable war record, fighting his way through all the grades from lieutenant to general. He is prominent in Masonic and G. A. R. circles, is a lawyer of note, a genial gentleman and his wife a very capable and charming lady.

Obituary.

James Benjamin Bell was born near Barnesville, Ohio, May 16, 1847, and died after a long and lingering illness, at Dwight, July 20, 1893.

From early childhood his life was most exemplary, always patient and willing to endure with greater fortitude the vicissitudes common to all.

At fifteen years of age he became a member of the U. P. church, where he served as assistant clerk, which position he occupied for about three years, when he transferred his membership to the Presbyterian church, where he continued a faithful and consistent member until six years ago, when he identified himself with the Congregational church, where he remained in useful service until called to the church triumphant.

When but a boy, he possessed a strong desire to obtain an education and become a teacher. After diligent application, he passed through the prescribed course, completing it with honor and began his chosen profession at the age of seventeen and rose rapidly, until at twenty-two he was known as one of the foremost educators. His health becoming somewhat impaired he abandoned the work and removed with his father's family to Illinois, and located near Dwight in 1869, where he has since resided, with the exception of one year, which was spent in Iowa, having lived up to the time of his death nearly twenty-five years, in or near Dwight.

In 1873 he was married to Miss Ella Thompson, who with four children still survive him, one child having preceded him to the better land.

He was well known for his sterling qualities and gentleness of disposition during any conflicting circumstances, always willing to respond to appeals for relief of any suffering and ever ready to extend kindly sympathy for any in distress.

During his protracted illness he continually evidenced the noble traits of character so common to him all through life, being ever submissive to the will of his Divine Master, looking forward to the blessed immortality which is promised to all those who are faithful unto death.

Having a conception of the reward awaiting him, he was fully resigned for the relief which only death could afford and when realizing the end was near he was exultant with praise, bidding all farewell, committing his family to the care of the Lord and desiring all his friends to meet him in heaven.

The community has lost an honorable and trustworthy citizen; one whose motive always was to act from an incentive of right rather than personal favor.

He was a dutiful son, a devoted husband, an indulgent father and most helpful brother, always faithful to the best interests of those with whom he came in contact; and in his death an irreparable loss is sustained by all.

The last sad rites were held in the Congregational church at 9 o'clock, Saturday, July 22, where had gathered a large number of old friends and acquaintances to tender their last regards. Services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Fisher assisted by Rev. A. M. Conrad, after which the remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground at McDowell's cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

The family, aged mother and all the relatives, wish to return their sincere thanks to all the kind friends who lent their assistance and sympathy during the sickness and death of James Benjamin Bell.

CHAPTER 20.

RAILROADS.

SECTION 1. Be it Ordained by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Dwight, That all railroads, corporations or companies are hereby prohibited from running, propelling or driving any locomotive engine or engines at a greater rate of speed than six miles per hour within the inhabited portion of said village, and any railroad corporation or company which shall violate this section of this ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, forfeit and pay to the said village of Dwight the sum not exceeding fifty dollars for every offense.

SEC. 2. That no railroad corporation or company shall obstruct or cause to be obstructed, any street, alley or other highway of said village by suffering or permitting any of its locomotives, trains or cars to remain in, upon or across such street, alley or other highway for a longer period than ten minutes at any one time, and any such railroad corporation or company which shall violate the provisions of this section of this ordinance shall forfeit and pay to said village the sum not exceeding fifty dollars for each and every offense.

SEC. 3. No such corporation or company shall be held to have violated the second section of this ordinance so far as the same relates to obstructions by trains of cars, provided such corporation or company shall when it becomes necessary to let a train of cars remain standing in the corporate limits of said village for a longer period than ten minutes) unoccupy, divide and separate such trains at street, alley and highway crossings of said railroad in such a manner as to leave a clear and unobstructed passage along such street, alley or highway of said village for both teams and travelers.

SEC. 4. All railroad corporations owning or operating any railroad through the said village of Dwight are hereby required to construct and keep in repair suitable crossings, ditches, sewers and culverts at all intersections of streets and alleys of said village with said railroad, and to keep in repair the streets through which their track may run, any such corporation or company which shall fail or refuse to so construct and keep in repair any such street, crossing, ditch, sewer or culvert for twenty days after notice served upon station agent of such corporation or company, at said village, by the street commissioner or supervisors of streets of said village, specifying the street to be repaired or the crossing, ditch, sewer or culvert to be constructed or repaired shall forfeit and pay to said village the sum not exceeding twenty dollars for each and every day that they shall so refuse or neglect such construction or repair after the expiration of twenty days.

SEC. 5. All penalties and forfeitures imposed or provided for in this ordinance may be recovered by an action of debt before any justice of the peace or a police magistrate of said village. And service of process may be had upon any such corporation or company in the manner provided by the statutes of Illinois.

HENRY FOX,

President of said Village of Dwight, Ill.
Attest: F. A. HASKINS,
Clerk of said Village of Dwight.
Passed and approved by me this 25th day of July, A. D. 1893.

HENRY FOX,

President of said Village of Dwight, and Ex-Officio President of the Board of Trustees of said Village.
