On account of expense the Dwight Art Company will discontinue coming to Gardner, but will furnish railroad fare to anyone in Gardner or Braceville, who comes to my gallery at Dwight, and orders one dozen cabinets for $3 cash.
Another sad accident occurred Saturday evening. About five o'clock Mrs. Dave Jones missed her little eighteen month old baby. She became alarmed and began to search for it; they hunted all night but did not find the little one. Sunday morning the citizens made up a searching party and began to hunt for the baby. They began looking in wells and after searching several with the aid of a mirror found the little one; it had fallen through a loose plank over a well and was drowned. The child was buried Monday in the Gardner-Braceville cemetery.
We had two quiet weddings in our town last Wednesday, the contracting parties were Mr. Wm. Gallagher, of Normal, to Miss Mamie Lees, of Gardner, and Mr. Bert Barber, of Chicago, to Miss Phoebe Eldred. They took the four o'clock train for Chicago, where they will spend a few days at the fair and taking in the sights of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher will reside in Springfield, while Mr. and Mrs. Barber will make their future home in Chicago. May they live long and be happy is the wish of their many friends.

We notice that the Clarke City boys are playing base ball, they must get discouraged with foot ball while playing in Braceville last.
Steve Alwater rode to Union Hill Saturday on his wheel, while his wife and cousin Bert Kewin, visited the latter's mother in Marseilles.
There will be quite a number of people from this vicinity go to the Dwight races on the 28th and 29th. There promises to be some great sport.
Now boys, when you go to Suffernville to kick foot ball, remember you are not playing with Bracevillites, but foot ball players, so take your best boys with you, and don't get the "big head."
E. G. Putman, age 88, died Tuesday morning, lingering for some time with a severe illness and old age. Mr. Putman is a very old settler on this prairie and was well thought of by all. He was buried Wednesday at 2 o'clock.
Two weeks' ago Mrs. Alwater enjoyed a visit from her ma and pa Kewin, of Gardner and two cousins who for years lived on the Isle of Man, but now living in Central Africa on the Sahara desert, 100 miles from any vegetation. They expect to be back there in about two months.

World's Fair.
From Prime's Crop Bulletin.
In just a little over one month from this date when the grandest exhibition of what civilization has done for the world in the last four hundred years will be closed. It is simply impossible to describe its beauty, vastness and extent. Millions of people have already seen it, and millions more ought to improve an opportunity of sight-seeing, pleasure and education which will not come to them again during their life-time.
The more and more I see of it the more I am impressed with it, and cannot but help admire the genius of the man who conceived it and the energy, pluck and perseverance of the men who have carried out the ideas of its architect, the late Mr. Root. If it is possible to accomplish the journey, do not fail to spend at least a week at the fair. Every one who has not seen it will regret it as long as he lives, if he does not avail himself of the opportunities which seem now to be within the reach of everyone, even of moderate means. There is no trouble about accommodations and they can be procured at almost any price. A great many erroneous accounts have been scattered wide-spread over the country with regard to extortion and the high prices connected with the Fair. Such is not the case. As to what is best to see first, that must be left to the taste of the individual, but one thing is very certain, that you will not be able to see it all and do justice to it no matter how long you may remain at the Fair; therefore, my advice is to see those things which you are not likely to see at home, but devote as much time as possible to the foreign exhibits and art galleries.
Moving South.
Convenient markets, good soil, pure water and excellent climate are advantages to be considered when looking up a home, business location, farm, etc. Maryland and the Virginia afford these, with many more advantages. Improved farm lands adapted to stock raising, dairying, grain, grass and fruit growing, can be obtained at low prices and upon easy terms. Thriving towns invite the merchant, mechanic and business man. Abundance of coal, timber, ore, water power, etc. Free sites for manufacturers.
For further information, address M. V. Richards, Land and Immigration Agent, B. & O. R. R., Baltimore, Md. Aug. 26, 2w, ow.
We are indebted to John McWilliams for a ride after one of his handsome blooded mares, and a visit to his Renfrew Lodge stock stables. We were shown the fine matched mares, one of whom has never been beaten in the ring, and is fresh from her Chicago victories. They are French coaches. The French coach and Percheron stallions are very pretty and fine animals. Mr. McWilliams has also at his stables several sucking, yearling and two year old colts, all bred from imported stock. The Renfrew stables are neat and clean and present a very fine appearance, and are creditable to Dwight as well as the owner. A large number of ribbons representing prizes won are displayed at the stables.
Prof. Wilson has a novel way of corraling truant scholars. He made a detail of high school boys Wednesday and took command himself, and scoured the town. The search was rewarded by the capture of four youngsters, who had been running away very often, much to the disgust of parent and teacher. The professor decided to have no foot races with the boys, so he just tied them together with a stout cord and kept one end in his hand and marched them back to school. In other words the professor had a string on them. Boys, don't do it again.
Last Sunday we enjoyed one of Mr. Kyle's special Sunday dinners, and to say we were well pleased is not fully expressing it. We were simply astonished. It is rare that such epicurean treats as we found there are served outside of very large cities, but be it to the credit of Dwight, and to Mr. Kyle in particular, that it has an institution where food from the plainest to the most dainty can be secured for a very moderate price. The service is all that could be desired.
Owen, Brown & Co., is the new firm that has started in the auction business. They will occupy one of the vacant stores corner Prairie avenue and Delaware streets. They will sell anything from a mouse trap to a threshing machine on a small commission. They will commence this Saturday-afternoon, and hereafter the announcements will appear in this paper. Orders can left with any of the proprietors or at Sargent's store.
W. H. Clow, of Forrest, late supervisor and republican candidate for nomination for circuit clerk, has stepped out with some money belonging to the township, and of the Modern Woodmen of that place, so say several newspapers of the county. He controlled just enough delegates to the last republican county convention to beat Frank Smith, of Dwight, out of the nomination, and subsequent election as circuit clerk.
