

MR. POWDERLY IS OUT

SUCCEEDED BY J. R. SOVEREIGN OF IOWA.

The New Tariff Made Public, and Wall Street Gets a Stirring-Up - Trying to Brilic the Cronin Jurors - Sharp Earthquake in Canada.

Told in a Few Words. The General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, and during a portion of that period the autocrat of the labor world, holding in his hands a power which ruled the welfare and destinies of hundreds of thousands of men...

The new tariff bill, as reported from the Committee of Ways and Means was made public Monday. At New York sugar and whisky got mixed up in unequal proportions on the stock exchange...

The Chicago and West Michigan east-bound passenger train, leaving Chicago at 4:55 p. m., struck a misplaced switch half a mile north of Genoa, Mich., on Thursday night. The baggage car, smoker, and day coach went off the track, and for a hundred yards plowed along the right of way, taking down a telegraph pole and stopping all communication.

While preparing for a gunning trip at Barnege Park near Tom's River, N. J., Chateau Larned accidentally shot and killed the following men: William H. Larned was so crazed by excitement that he ran coatless and hatless through the storm into the woods. He did not return and searchers were unable to find him.

Three boys, Garfield Michaels, aged 12 years, and Thomas Maschal and John Williams, both aged 10 years, broke through the ice and were drowned while skating on the Greenwood Colliery Dam, near Scranton, Pa.

Mrs. Elizabeth Colby, wife of Prof. George Colby of the University of California, residing in Claremont, committed suicide by shooting herself through the heart. She had been suffering at intervals from cancer for the past five months and had attempted suicide a number of times.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

Freight train No. 85, west-bound, on the St. Louis and San Francisco Road, ran into an open arch in the yards at Van Buren, Ark., and was wrecked. The engine and three cars were killed and a fourth so badly injured that it cannot live. The men were employees of the Long Bell Lumber Company, and were pushing a train out of the way when the freight, going at fifteen miles an hour, dived the cars upon them.

Father J. B. Eix, of the Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart, Columbus, Ohio, was fired upon by a mob of men who surrounded him while robbing his house. One bullet struck him in the right forearm, making a painful wound, but the plucky priest ejected them both from the house.

At Denver, Charles Maul, 35 years of age, was known for some time as a tough. He objected, and a quarrel followed in which, after he had whipped four of them, some one stabbed him with a pocket-knife. The wound will prove fatal.

James Kendrick and Patrick Quirk, employes in excavating rock for the Post street bridge just above the falls, met with a terrible death. They were working on a narrow ledge of rock forty feet above the Spokane River, at this time a raging torrent.

At Grand Island, Neb., a fast freight making up lost time dashed into an open switch. Two of the trainmen were fatally hurt. The Chicago and West Michigan east-bound passenger train, leaving Chicago at 4:55 p. m., struck a misplaced switch half a mile north of Genoa, Mich., on Thursday night.

While preparing for a gunning trip at Barnege Park near Tom's River, N. J., Chateau Larned accidentally shot and killed the following men: William H. Larned was so crazed by excitement that he ran coatless and hatless through the storm into the woods. He did not return and searchers were unable to find him.

Three boys, Garfield Michaels, aged 12 years, and Thomas Maschal and John Williams, both aged 10 years, broke through the ice and were drowned while skating on the Greenwood Colliery Dam, near Scranton, Pa. Mrs. Elizabeth Colby, wife of Prof. George Colby of the University of California, residing in Claremont, committed suicide by shooting herself through the heart.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Obituary: At Columbia, Mo., Prof. E. P. St. Clair, President of Christian College, aged 40; at St. Joseph, Mo., Dr. W. M. Leach, aged 96; at Dubuque, Iowa, William P. Largo, at Columbus, Ind., John C. Moore, at Toronto, Ont., Henry S. Northrop, aged 73; at London, England, George Osborne, the pianist and composer.

Obituary: Edson T. Stickney, prominent in Democratic circles in Ohio, died at Parkersburg, Ohio, of a heart ailment, at the residence of his son, John C. Stickney, at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Obituary: At Columbia, Mo., Prof. E. P. St. Clair, President of Christian College, aged 40; at St. Joseph, Mo., Dr. W. M. Leach, aged 96; at Dubuque, Iowa, William P. Largo, at Columbus, Ind., John C. Moore, at Toronto, Ont., Henry S. Northrop, aged 73; at London, England, George Osborne, the pianist and composer.

Obituary: Edson T. Stickney, prominent in Democratic circles in Ohio, died at Parkersburg, Ohio, of a heart ailment, at the residence of his son, John C. Stickney, at Davenport from an attack of heart disease.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Obituary: At Columbia, Mo., Prof. E. P. St. Clair, President of Christian College, aged 40; at St. Joseph, Mo., Dr. W. M. Leach, aged 96; at Dubuque, Iowa, William P. Largo, at Columbus, Ind., John C. Moore, at Toronto, Ont., Henry S. Northrop, aged 73; at London, England, George Osborne, the pianist and composer.

Obituary: Edson T. Stickney, prominent in Democratic circles in Ohio, died at Parkersburg, Ohio, of a heart ailment, at the residence of his son, John C. Stickney, at Davenport from an attack of heart disease.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Obituary: At Columbia, Mo., Prof. E. P. St. Clair, President of Christian College, aged 40; at St. Joseph, Mo., Dr. W. M. Leach, aged 96; at Dubuque, Iowa, William P. Largo, at Columbus, Ind., John C. Moore, at Toronto, Ont., Henry S. Northrop, aged 73; at London, England, George Osborne, the pianist and composer.

Obituary: Edson T. Stickney, prominent in Democratic circles in Ohio, died at Parkersburg, Ohio, of a heart ailment, at the residence of his son, John C. Stickney, at Davenport from an attack of heart disease.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.

Obituary: At Davenport, Ia., Lafayette Park, aged 83 years old, died at Davenport from an attack of heart disease. Dr. Edward E. Eggleston, Franklin, N. Y., died from the effects of a surgical operation at a Chicago sanitarium.