J. A. WEBSTER.

Our Picture Gallery.

It has been our pleasure during the last three years to issue from the STAR AND HERALD several numbers of this paper containing write-ups of the business interests of Dwight, and many pictures of substantial buildings and portraits of prominent citizens. But none have contained so much of interest, in our opinion, as this issue, and please excuse us if we feel rather proud of our undertaking. It will be noticed that one entire page is devoted to the Leslie E. Keeley Co., whose proud record and grand successes have been heralded to the world for the past three years by the great metropolitan papers all over the universe, and has given Dwight a name that is known far and near. A man may register in any large hotel in the world to-day as from Dwight. No state is necessary. It will also be noticed that we present half-tone portraits of Dr. Leslie E. Keeley, Major C. J. Judd and J. R. Oughton, members of the company Dr. J. E. Blaine, chief of staff; Dr. R. Broughton, Dr. Milton Keeley, Dr. W. Brown, Dr. Lonergan, members of the medical staff at present, and Assistant Secretary Howlett.

JAMES KELAGHER.

On another part will be found an elegant half-tone engraving of Mr. David McWilliams' handsome residence, the finest in Dwight; portraits of the founder of Dwight, Col. Richard Price Morgan, S. T. K. Prime, of the greatest Crop Bureau in the country, which bears his name; Hon. O. W. Pollard, Col. Parsons, Chas. M. Romberger, W. H. Ketcham and Frank L. Smith.

On still another page will be found the handsome C. & A. passenger station, none nicer in the state, and portraits of Messrs. E. T. Miller, J. C. Lewis, Geo. Kern, Dr. Conway, J. A. Webster, Jas. Kelagher, Walter M. Weese, Dwight Morgan, Dr. Barr.

The club house will be found elsewhere, also, the Livingston, Ladies' Home, "Deer Lodge," "At the Well" old club house, and portraits of Mrs. Dr.

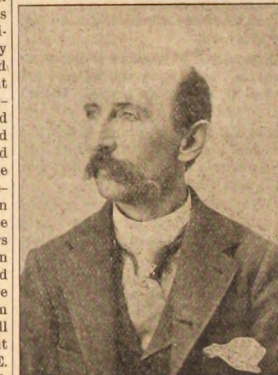

Broughton, president of the W. A. K. L., and Mr. Willard S. Brown, secretary of Keeley League No. 1 of Dwight. There are many other portraits and engravings we had wished to add to our collection, among whom were many we called upon who did not think they could afford the expense, and we could not or we would willingly; and others whom, after calling several times, we failed to see in time. We hope at some future time to have them all.

M. F. Reilly & Co.

The large and enterprising firm of Reddick, Ill., mentioned above, is very well known in this section. The members of the firm Mr. Reilly and Mr. Unz are among the thorough and accommodating business men of this section, and their honorable methods have won for them the respect of all, and a trade that would be a credit to a business house in good sized cities. Their stock includes almost everything that is needed by any family, including groceries, clothing, dry goods, boots and shoes, queensware, hardware, tinware and stoves, farm machinery, buggies and wagons, lumber, etc. They also buy grain and live stock in large quantities each year.

When it comes around to holiday times, M. F. Reilly & Co., are always right in it. They have a large supply of presents suitable for the little ones and sensible presents for all. They believe that principally something useful is what is wanted, and a.e always ready to supply anything for the holidays.

The firm have a fine reputation as regards prices, and only charge their customers what is necessary to make a fair profit on money invested, which is nothing more than right. Personally the members of the firm are pleasant people to meet and know how to get trade and keep it.

E. T. MILLER.

They wish to return thanks to their customers for past favors and hope to see them all in the future, and wish them all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

E. T. Miller.

Mr. E. T. Miller, whose portrait will be found in this issue, is an old resident of Dwight, but yet a gentleman of middle age. His father came to Dwight when E. T. was but three years of age and has resided here ever since, with the exception of three years in Bloomington. While in the latter place, E. T. clerked in a large dry goods store and was pleased with the business and in 1879 started the present business in Dwight which he has successfully conducted ever since. He has occupied the position of town clerk for three years and has been a member of the school board for one year and clerk for two years, and has filled the positions with credit to himself and the public. Read his announcement on another page.

The New Studio.

At the intersection of East and Chippewa streets we find the new studio of Evans & Crandall, a ground floor gallery, equipped with all the modern improvements for the production of the highest grade of photographic work. It is unnecessary to make any comment on the ability of the members of this firm to make first-class work. Mr. Evans has been in the photo business in Dwight for several years and has given the best work ever produced in this section of the country, and you will find his work in almost every home in this vicinity. Mr. Chas. Crandall needs no introduction to the people of Dwight, and his natural ability in this line will enable him to execute his part of the work in a conscientious and artistic manner.

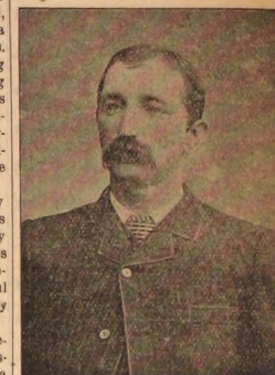

If you are in need of anything in their line don't fail to call on them.

Poor photographs are dear at any price. Don't take them. If they can't make something that suits you they don't want your money.

Foreign Missionary Tea.

The above society of the M. E. church gave a very pretty and interesting social at the handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brubaker, Tuesday evening. An excellent lunch of tea and coffee, sandwiches and cake was served early in the evening, after which a very nicely selected program was given as follows:

Music, male quartette.
Paper, "Thoughts Suggested by the World's Fair," by Mrs. F. Haise.
Music by Mixed quartette.
Reading, "Rock of Ages," by Miss McIlduff.

GEO. KERN.

Reading of Secretary Mrs. McLane's report.
Music by male quartette.
All present enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

Santa Claus.

"Old Santa" will be at the M. E. church in all his glory next Saturday evening, and the little ones will all be there to see him. The M. E. society are making great preparations to make the occasion one of profit and pleasure to all. There will be solos, duets, quartets, choruses, trios, dialogues, etc. The old and the young will take part, and the church will be handsomely decorated. Among those who will take part are the following: Santa Claus, "Guest"; Forest King, C. V. Bower; Goddess of Dreams, Emma Barr; Mirth, Cora Baker; Joy, Addie Fenn; Peace, Addie Barr; Hope, Fannie Conner; Love, Minnie Barr; Fairies 1st, 2d and 3d, Lettie Haise, Clara Naffziger, Hattie Morris; Daisy, Lura Wheatley and Jessie Perry; Drako and Krako, Roy Kyle and Roger Blaine, and lots of little ones. The entertainment will be in three acts and will be very nice. The admission will be only 10 cents.

McWilliam & Smith.

Three large double stores, well filled with dry goods, clothing and groceries.

DR. CONWAY.

the very best goods obtainable, is what the above firm have. Read the announcement in another part of this paper.

Our Advertisements.

Our advertisements include the live business men of Dwight. Our readers will save money by reading each announcement made in this issue, and profiting by the information.

Books Free.

To anyone who will bring us one new subscriber for one year, paid in advance, $1.25, we will present a nice cloth bound book of from 350 to 600 pages, plain print. The works are all by standard authors, and among them are some of the best works ever written. Remember, one book absolutely free for one new subscriber paid in advance.
