The manager of the opera house has always been very good about keeping order during performances and the same thing should be continued. We feel sure that had some of the Dwight boys acted in the same manner some others did Thursday night they would have been called down very quick. Right is right.

See William Wykes & Co. before you contract your ice for next season. They are in the business to stay and will make a lower price than anyone will offer to secure the trade. They have contracted northern Wisconsin ice enough to supply the trade of the town and will sell at lowest prices, regardless of profit.

A. J. Diefenbach, former proprietor of the Mazon barber shop, has moved back to his old stand, one door south of Leach & Reeb's, and here he will be pleased to meet all of his old customers and as many new ones as can be accommodated. He has been in business in Dwight for the last twelve years and has always succeeded in pleasing all his patrons.

The services at M. E. church every evening are being largely attended and much interest is being had. Rev. Ayling invites all to attend. The meetings will be continued every evening but Saturday and there will be prayer meetings every afternoon from three to four o'clock except Saturday and Monday. Rev. Ayling will lead in the Epworth League meeting Sunday evening.

Mr. John Buffham received the sad intelligence of the death of his aged mother at her home in Plainfield, Ill., and left Monday morning to attend the funeral. The deceased was quite well known to many here, having visited her son. The funeral was held Tuesday and was largely attended. Mr. Buffham's many friends will be pained to hear of his great bereavement and extend their sympathy.

"A Breezy Time" at the opera house Thursday evening was well attended and was one of the funniest and generally most pleasing presentations ever given in the opera house. Fitz and Webster deserve a great deal of credit for getting together such a combination. Every one is a star and they are all right, and will receive a warm reception should they return here another season. The next is "A Turkish Bath," one week from next Monday, which is highly recommended.

Gus Levy has sold the Livingston hotel barber shop and bath rooms to Anton Diefenbach, a young gentleman well known in Dwight. Gus has now been in business here for over two years and has worked up a good trade, and is an all-around good fellow. He and his family have made many warm friends in Dwight, who will be sorry to hear of their departure. Gus informs us that he expects soon to go into business for himself on the west side in Chicago. A. Diefenbach, "Young Tony," as he is familiarly called, is an excellent workman, has first class assistants and will undoubtedly do a good business.

Chris Anderson was taken to Pontiac Monday, for the county judge to determine on his sanity. The first real symptoms were shown only a few days ago when he mounted Ed. McWilliams colt in the pasture and rode until thrown off. He wandered out in the country then and made his appearance at a farm house acting in a strange manner. He was brought back to Dwight and cared for until Monday, when he was taken to Pontiac as a last resort. It is sincerely hoped he will, under proper treatment, regain his mind and usefulness soon. He has been in the employ of D. McWilliams as coachman for the past two years.

Anyone with horse sense ought to know that a newspaper run by a corporation to be used for advertising their business could not get through the mails as second class matter. Even newspapers run in the interests of fraternal insurance orders, like the M. W. A., are refused the mails as second class. This decision comes direct from the postoffice department at Washington, D. C., and still there are some people mean and contemptible enough to infer that the recent action of the department in a Dwight matter was brought about by a ring. They all know better, but it is simply the outcropping of inveterate meanness. People that stoop to such things come a good ways from being honorable and upright with their fellow men.

Homor Kenyon, former postmaster and resident of Dwight since 1857 until a few years ago, now of Chicago, was in town several days this week calling on our old friends. His business in Chicago is increasing rapidly. He is a favorite in Dwight and receives a warm welcome here. Mr. Kenyon called at the STAR AND HERALD office and in the course of his remarks said he thought he had been keeping well posted regarding Dwight, but since his visit he had been all over town and was much surprised at the rapid improvement, and he did not believe there was a small city in Illinois that could show the progress Dwight could. He thought there was no place of the size with so many comfortable homes, so well lighted and such good sanitary conditions, etc. This came from a man who has lived here and moved away and then comes back after a time and notices these things quicker than most people. Dwight is all right, you bet.

OUR TAXES.

Much has been said about the taxes in Dwight, and some people have raised their hands in holy horror regarding the same. The sewer tax has, of course, been a hardship to some, and the financial crises and lack of work has made it worse still, yet the tax is being generally well met. In reviewing the tax books a great many interesting facts are found, which should forever lay at rest the vapors of those who howl, because they want turmoil instead of peace in the community, or with a desire to deceive at election time, and make all the trouble possible. To the credit of our people most of the talking is being done by those who do not pay much, or if they do, would kick no matter how low or high the taxes were.

We find the total tax of Dwight township is $18,940.75. Of this The Leslie E. Keeley Co., and the members thereof, pay $6,078.20, almost one-third of the whole tax.

The corporation or village tax is $7,368.89. The company pay $2,992.80, within $691.65 of one-half of the whole tax.

It will readily be seen that deducting what the Keeley Co. pays and what the newcomers to Dwight pay, from the total, that the taxes are no higher than heretofore, and in many cases are reduced. Also that the wild talk amounts to nothing, and is only kept up to cause dissatisfaction among our people.

There are those here who complain of the times and that Dwight is dull. All such we would advise to visit some of our neighboring towns and look around. They will all come back yawning they lived in the best, the prettiest and liveliest little city in the country.

The visitors to Dwight Keeley Institute are leaving here outside of what is paid for treatment, from $1200 to $1500 each week. It is impossible to point out a place of its size in the country where such receipts are thrown into the channels of trade without the effort on the part of the masses. The factories are closed and money is scarce almost everywhere, and failures are rampant, but not one in Dwight. Our people are prosperous and happy, and in most part contented, peace-loving and law-abiding citizens. Let us all appreciate our condition.

School Notes.

Yes, we all heart you, Floyd.

What's the matter with the High School Botanical garden?

Otis Luther is absent this week on account of sickness in the family.

Through some mistake of ours Master Henry Kern's name was omitted from the list of roll of honor pupils in Miss Hade's department.

We would advise the assistant organist to resign, if he does not intend to relieve the organist of part of the monopoly of presiding at the organ.

The roll of honor pupils in Miss Conrad's department, the West Side Intermediate, are as follows: John Lonergan, Lura Wheatley, Sophia Riecke and George Kern.

E. T. Miller had forwarded to him from the state board of health several vaccination certificates that had been sent to them from here. We will say this is altogether useless.

The number of pupils enrolled in the schools are 417; 123 were successfully vaccinated preceding July 1, 1893; 246 that have been successfully vaccinated since July 1, 1893; 113 have been re-vaccinated since July 1, 1893.

We would advise the Juniors not to ask assistance of the Seniors, not that we are unwilling to grant it, but we do not wish folks to think that you are getting exceedingly bright, as they thought of one of the members.

One of the young ladies of the high school is now working on a new arithmetic. We have been unable to get but two points, one in addition as follows: eight plus four equals ten, the other in division as follows: one divided by one-third is four-thirds.

With the program of studies we need few explanations of the abbreviations: 8th for eighth grade, J. for Juniors, M. for middle year class, and the recitations commence at the time marked in program as all classes close five minutes previous.
