Queer Type of Gratitudes

Among the from laborers who worked almost day by side with the French convicts at Toulon was an Italian, who brought them extra food and addressed them like human beings...

An Eventful Day. "Well, well," exclaimed the editor, "if that wasn't a queer experience." "What was that?" said the foreman. "There was a man in here just now who didn't seem to know any more about how a newspaper should be run than I do."

Women, Isn't This Worth Believing? Such cases as this of Mrs. M. F. Fozzy, of Campello, Mass., speak volumes.

Menstruations have stopped suddenly. The pains all through my body were terrible. As a last resort I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound...

THE WAVE.

DAY OF UNTOH HORRORS ON THE GREAT LAKES.

MANY SHIPS GO DOWN. Men Drown in Sight of Thousands of People.

Terrible Disaster Wrought by the Tremendous Storm—Human Lives Lost and Fourteen Vessels Reported Wrecked at Various Points—Greatest Hurricane in Many Years Sweeps Lake Michigan—Shipping Tossed About—Crops in the Northwest Injured.

Drowned like rats in a cellar. Drowned while a great city looked on and wrung her hands in an agony of helplessness. Drowned even as their bleeding hands reached up from the waters and clutched the cruel sea wall.

Beginning on Thursday evening with a capful of wind, the storm increased in strength and finally swept with all the fury of an hurricane on the struggling shipping caught on the boiling waters of the lake. All day long the storm raged, says a dispatch, and it was not until late at night that the wind dropped sufficiently to allow the stranded schooners to enter the harbor.

With the lee shore so near, there was little chance for the vessels caught in the storm to run before the wind. The only thing they could do was to reach the port for the moment, and then failed to do so and the loss resulting from the storm is calculated to amount to several hundred thousand dollars.

Inside the breakwater everything seemed quiet and peaceful, but there was a dangerous swell, the water moving up and down like a sail belling under a strong wind.

Then the storm became so violent that the tugs were barely able to live in the sea alone, and the situation became serious for the anchored fleet. The anchors lost their hold on the bottom, and many of the boats settled steadily toward the shore.

At Pueblo, Colo., Louis Anselmo shot and seriously wounded a saloon-keeper named Keppo, and was in turn shot dead.

FRED L. ROUBLE, while watching a ball game at Milan, Minn., was instantly killed by being struck with a flying ball.

ILLINOIS G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT AT ROCKFORD.

Four Thousand Boys in Blue Meet to Renew Old Associations—One of the Most Successful Gatherings on Record—New Roster of Officers.

A radiant spring day welcomed thousands of veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic of Illinois, the opening day of the twenty-eighth annual encampment at Rockford.

The parade was the feature of the first day's exercises, and the children's reception of the army of old soldiers was the feature of the parade. It was grand sight to see the old soldiers marching in pairs to the discharge.

Preliminaries over, business came in quick order on the second day. Commander-in-chief Adams made an address, eliciting the order upon his strength and a good reception.
