The Real Demon of the Marsh

Is not a spook, but a reality. It is neither a "bogie" nor a "kelpie," nor any other of those spirits which the credulous have supposed to haunt the banks of rivers and streams after dusk. Its name is malaria, and though invisible, it is very terrible and tenacious when it seizes you. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters drives it away, nor will it attack those whose systems are fortified with the great medicinal defensive agents. The miasmatic mists of early morning, the vapors exhaled at eventide may be safely breathed by those protected by the Bitters. In the tropics where every form of malarial disease threatens the sojourner, and is particularly virulent when developed, the Bitters is the best reliance of the inhabitant. For dyspepsia, liver complaint, lack of vigor, appetite and sleep; for rheumatism and nervousness the Bitters are a sure and safe remedy.

Enterprising London Tailors.

Some idea of the number of New York men who get their clothes in London may be gathered from the fact that this week there are twenty-three agents for English tailoring houses in that town. Most of the goods are brought into this country free of duty, and cost the wearer a little less than the same clothes made here. All the big London houses have places in New York City where alterations are made free of charge.

KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

DONALD KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, MASS.,

Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken.

When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

RIOTERS SHOT DOWN

Blood Is Shed in the Great Railroad Strike.

MOBS IN A WILD FURY

State Troops Called to Stop Acts of Violence.

Thousands of Soldiers and Police Will Oppose the Law-Breakers—Deadly Contests Have Already Taken Place — Strikers Madly Desperate — Authorities Determined—President Cleveland Resolved to Crush Out the Rebellion—Militia from Other States Will Be Ordered to Chicago if Such a Move Be Necessary.

The long-expected armed conflict began in Chicago Friday morning. Human lives have been sacrificed. Blood stains the ground at the suburb Kensington, and the mob, in a frenzy of rage, rioted throughout the Illinois Central yards, committing unheard-of depredations on the property of the company. A great force of police was dispatched to the assistance of the deputy marshals and deputy sheriffs, who, though using their revolvers with deadly effect, were unable to break the spirit of the mob. Four of the strikers are reported killed and many others wounded. Engineer Geogan, of an incoming Ft. Fayne train, was held up at 31st street and stoned almost to death. The rioting broke out early in the morning. With the opening of day returned the fury of the strikers which manifested itself so viciously at the stockyards Thursday night.

But the scene of the principal tumult changed from Lake to Kensington. In the town which lies over against the Town of Pullman and is inhabited principally by laboring-men and their families the mob began to gather in force. Before the morning was half over it had grown to such size as almost to overshadow the large force of deputies on the ground. Then the outrages began. The officers stood in a frightful hail of stones and coupling-pins. Bodies of the rioters charged repeatedly on the marshals and the Sheriff's men. Freight trains were derailed and thrown across the tracks. Thousands of strikers came over from Pullman and engaged in the work of destruction. At 11 o'clock there was rioting and fighting from the Pullman buildings to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois crossing—a territory a mile and a half in extent. The mob seized the milk train of the Illinois Central and upset the cars after detaching the engine. Then a dare-devil switchman leaped into the engine-cab, pulled the throttle wide open and sent the locomotive flying with frightful force into the wreck. After this all trains were blocked.

At this point the position of the officers became unbearable. They were struck with heavy missiles. They drew their revolvers and fired into the mob. The firing became general, many of the rioters retaliating with shots from pistols. In a melee on the Cincinnati express four strikers were fatally shot by special officers of the Michigan Central.

Mayor Hopkins was appealed to early, and he sent Inspector Hunt to the battle-ground. He also united with Sheriff Gilbert in wiring Gov. Altzeld, apprising him of the alarming situation. The Governor promptly responded by calling out the entire First Brigade, I. N. G. Two other regiments were also ordered to Chicago in case re-enforcements were necessary. Local authorities also made a vigorous appeal to Gen. Miles, in command of the Federal troops, to send an adequate force to Kensington.

Wild Mob in Control.

The mob was in complete control along the lines of the railways and in the Stock Yards district. In Packingtown 10,000 men congregated and swore that not a train of any kind should pass them. And they kept their oaths. At Fortieth street an engineer who attempted to drive his locomotive through the crazy multitude was dragged from the cab of the machine and beaten nearly to death. Along the Rock Island and Lake Shore track thousands of men congregated, overturning cars, wrecking switches and doing everything in their power to prevent the passage of trains.

The few soldiers on duty at those points were jeered and hooted at and the mob dared them to shoot. With most admirable patience the soldiers endured all this in silence and the crowd became merry at their expense. So much had the troops endured that some of the more turbulent of the rioters thought the soldiers would never turn their guns on their tormentors.

At 6 o'clock Friday evening some 10,000 armed men were in the field against the strikers, with orders to "shoot to kill."

Washington dispatches say that the administration regards the situation in Chicago as serious in the extreme. The President is in constant communication with General Miles. The law must be obeyed, and President Cleveland will see that it is obeyed if it takes every soldier in the regular army to compel obedience.

FLAMES MAKE HAVOC.

Unparalleled Scenes of Riot, Terror, and Pillage in Chicago.

All the previous efforts at lawlessness were eclipsed Friday night by a single fire. Not less than 800 box and other cars were burned up, together with tons upon tons of coal and numerous switch-houses and towers. An area laid with tracks two miles long by half a mile wide, occupied by the Panhandle yards at Fifty-fifth boulevard and Western avenue were fired and destroyed. The loss, at the lowest estimate, amounts to $1,000,000. It was about 7 o'clock when a mob of 6,000 visited the yards, howling like demons. From this moving mass of shouting rioters squads of a dozen or two departed, running towards the yards with fire-brands in their hands. They looked in the gloaming like specters, their lighted torches bobbing about like will-o'-the-wisps.

Soon from all parts of the yard flames shot up and billows of fire rolled over the cars, covering them with the red glow of destruction. The spectacle was a grand one. Thousands besides the strikers and the incendiaries were attracted by the great bonfire. Before the cars were fired those filled with any cargoes were looted. The strikers, helped by their women, broke into every locked car and took from them everything portable. The men and women stripped the cabooses of cushions, desks, and other furniture, and were seen hastening through the night with their ill-gotten plunder. Some of the cars were loaded with household furniture, and women were seen walking away with bedding on their heads. Children carried chairs away, and men helped to steal benches and car seats. There were 150 cars of coal in the yards. Women plundered them, carrying the black diamonds away in their aprons, taking off the skirts of their dresses and shawls and filling them with coal. It was pandemonium let loose, the fire leaping along for miles and the men and women dancing with frenzy. It was a mad scene, where riot became wanton and men and women became drunk on their own excesses. The mob had its own way, played its game of devilry without interruption, unmolested by any semblance of authority.

STRIKERS BURNING CARS AT BURNSIDE.

STRIKE SWEEPING EASTWARD.

A. R. U. Decides to Tie Up Every Line Entering Cleveland.

Slowly but surely the great railroad strike is sweeping eastward. After an all-night session of the members of the A. R. U. at Cleveland, Ohio, in which every road running into the city was represented, it was decided to tie up every line centering in Cleveland. At 10 o'clock every road leading into the city, with the single exception of the Nickel Plate, had felt the effect of the strike, and freight traffic on all lines was more or less congested and the suspension of passenger traffic in many cases seemed imminent. The Nickel Plate had generally abandoned passenger trains for the West in consequence of the tie-up on the western end of the road.

PRESIDENT DEBS' STATEMENT.

He Issues a Manifesto on the Strike and Its Causes.

President Debs, of the American Railway Union, has issued an address to the public on the strike situation and the causes that led to the present trouble. It recites the course of Mr. Pullman with his employes, the repeated refusal of Mr. Pullman to arbitrate, asserts that the union asks for nothing beyond the consent of Mr. Pullman to refer the disputes question to an impartial committee. It asserts that the railway companies organized to uphold Pullman, and that the strike has extended from line to line because the railways have so supported Mr. Pullman. It says that the union has been and is now willing to arbitrate. As to his own part in the strike, Mr. Debs said that it was not ordered by himself nor by any other individual. He had never ordered nor called anybody out. Under the rules of the A. R. U., members could only strike when a majority of their number so decided. One vote of the delegates in this instance was unanimous. Wherever men have struck they have done so of their own will. He had simply served the notice after the men had determined to quit.

STRIKERS IN CONTROL.

Railway Companies at Sacramento, Cal., Absolutely Helpless.

A San Francisco dispatch says that the strikers at the Oakland yards and along the Mole and on the narrow gauge lines effectually maintain the blockades on all lines running down the Mole. Wherever the strikers find a live engine they promptly take possession of it, raise the fires, blow off the steam and leave it dead on the tracks. After the failure of the State troops to dislodge the strikers in the depot yards at Sacramento it is reported that the United States Marshal expressed an intention to declare martial law and dispatch United States regulars to the scene. The striking railroad men placed Oakland under siege. They are absolute masters of the ferry system. They have stopped the trains on both lines and connection by rail with all the cities across the bay has been cut off. They have seized the railroad yards at West Oakland; they are in possession at the Oakland Mole. Not a wheel is moving.

The present indications are that Buffalo is selected by Mr. Debs as the next objective point to tie up. With two such railroad centers as Chicago and Buffalo embarrassed traffic between the West and the East would be seriously impaired.

The A. R. U. met at Joliet, Ill., and decided to support the strike. The engineers refused to work without their own firemen.

"LIGHTS OF THE HAREM."

They Rap Two American Tourists Over the Head with Pokers.

While the two Americans, Messrs. Allen and Sachtleben, who made a bicycle tour around the world, were in Aradan, Persia, a present from the village khan was announced, as they relate in the Century. In stepped two men bearing a huge tray filled with melons, apricots, sugar, rock candy, nuts, pistachios, etc., all of which we must, of course, turn over to the khan-keeper and his servants, and pay double their value to the bearers, as a present.

This polite method of extortion was followed the next morning by one of a bolder and more peremptory nature. Notwithstanding the feast of the night before at our expense, and in addition to furnishing us with bed-clothes which we really ought to have been paid to sleep in, our oily host now insisted upon three or four prices for his lodgings. We refused to pay him more than a certain sum, and started to vacate the premises. Thereupon he and his grown son caught hold of our bicycles. Remonstrances proving of no avail, and being unable to force our passage through the narrow doorway with the bicycles in our hands, we dropped them and grappled with our antagonists. A noisy scuffle, and then a heavy fall ensued, but luckily we were both on the upper side.

This unusual disturbance now brought out the inmates of the adjoining anderoon. In a moment there was a din of feminine screams and a flutter of garments, and then—a crashing of our pith helmets beneath the blows of pokers and andirons. The villagers, thus aroused, came at last to our rescue, and at once proceeded to patch up a compromise. Cuts, in view of the Amazonian re-enforcements, who were standing by in readiness for a second onset, we were more than pleased to accept. From this inglorious combat we came off without serious injury; but with those gentle poker taps were knocked out forever all the sweet delusions of the "Light of the Harem."

The Beautiful Cyclamen.

Florists say that the cyclamen, which bears those marvelous winged blossoms that seem to hover over the plant rather than to be part of it, produces finer blossoms when raised directly from the seed than when the bulb is planted and allowed to germinate. Amateurs, when they attempt the cyclamen, usually buy the bulbs, and a single bulb sometimes costs nearly as much as a small blooming plant.

He Didn't Get It.

When the tramp banged away at the kitchen door he thought of course a woman would open it, and he was ready for her. His spirit underwent a change, however, when the door opened and a strapping big man appeared.

"What are you doing here?" asked the man without any preliminary politeness.

"Nothing," replied the tramp humbly.

"What's that under your coat?"

"Nothing."

"What do you want?"

"Nothing."

"Well, you don't get it," exclaimed the big man merrily. And he gave the tramp a booting that lifted him out to the gate in two jumps.
