I Can't Sleep

I have a tired, worn-out feeling. This means that the nervous system is out of order. When this complaint is made, Hood's Sarsaparilla is needed to purify, vitalize the blood, and thus supply nervous strength. Take it now. Remember

A Dairy Humbug.

Black pepsin is made and sold by a man named Bane, under the style of "U. S. Salyx Company, New Concord, Ohio." According to Professor Kedzie, it consists of salts and coloring matter. It is sold for making two pounds of butter out of one pound of butter and one pound of milk. It is also claimed to be patented, and county rights are being sold in this State. But as the assignments which have come to my notice do not even contain the number of a patent, it is reasonable to assume that the claim is not true. Many people have been induced to buy the fraud in hope of making money out of it. Numerous inquiries have come to me as to whether this butter could be sold under our laws unadulterated. But as it is one-half butter and one-half milk, it could, of course, not be allowed to be sold.

It is true that a pound of soft butter and a pound of milk slightly warmed, churned, or shaken together, will unite in a solid mass weighing two pounds. But the black pepsin plays no part in this operation, as it can be accomplished just as well without as with it.

If you wish to make the experiment, put a pound of soft butter into a wide-necked bottle, add a pint of luke-warm milk and shake for a moment, and you will see how readily the milk and butter will emulsify.—Prof. H. A. Weber, Columbus, Ohio.

Spraying for a Hog Crop.

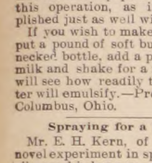
Mr. E. H. Kern, of Kansas, tried a novel experiment in spraying kerosene oil upon his hogs as a remedy against parasites, which he thus relates in Insect Life:

"I tried a little experiment during last August with our ordinary coal oil. I saw a number of my hogs were not doing well. They were continually rubbing against the fence or some post. I put one gallon of oil into my knapsack sprayer, put it on my shoulders, and walked out to the pen. I could not get my hogs quiet enough to spray well, so I put some corn chop into their box, and while they were eating I gave them an excellent covering of oil very finely put on by said sprayer. My neighbors said, 'The hair will come off;' others said, 'It will blister.' I awaited my result. Next morning, on examining their backs, I found great loose scales of dirt and mange, and under these and among them were thousands of dead lice. Result: my hogs are smooth and slick—like all gone. Have tried same in hen-houses to kill chicken mites; also lice on horses. A flannel cloth saturated with best coal oil and rubbed over eggs from bot fly on horses' legs causes eggs to loosen and drop in a short time."

Woman's Best Friend

It is the greatest of all rewards to receive such letters as the following from:—

Miss Louise Muller, who lives at 44 Michigan Ave., in Evanston, Ill.



She says:—

"As I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and have thereby become entirely well, I am recommending all my lady friends to use it. I am sure it will help them in all cases of womb trouble, leucorrhœa, irregular or painful 'monthly periods.'

"I am sure it is our best friend. I am so thankful to Mrs. Pinkham for the good she has done me that I wish every sick woman in America would write her at Lynn, Mass., and get her advice, or get her Vegetable Compound at any druggist's."

FIRE FIEND'S FURY.

THREE TOWNS SWEPT WITH THE BESOM OF DESTRUCTION.

Phillips, Wis., and Belle Plaine and Brooklyn, Iowa, Almost Annihilated—Thirteen Lives Known to Have Been Lost—An Unprecedented Disaster.

A Day of Horrors.

Thirty-nine buildings out of 700 stand amid smoke and ashes on the site of what was Friday the flourishing city of Phillips, Wis, the county seat of Price County, and one of the wealthiest and most prosperous of all the towns in the timber regions of Wisconsin. Three thousand people are homeless, and, except those who have been offered shelter in the neighboring towns, have no covering for their worn out bodies. Worse than all, at least thirteen people are known to have lost their lives. The dead are:

James Locke, butcher, wife and five children.

Frank Cliss, in charge of the dry kilns of the John R. Davis Lumber Company, and 2-year-old child.

Mrs. David Bryden, wife of the foreman of the Fayette Shaw Tannery, and two children. Mr. Bryden was also supposed to have died, but returned home that night, having been away from the city, only to hear that his family had perished.

Unknown man.

All the dead were drowned in Elk Lake while trying to escape from the fire, except the unknown man whose body was found in the ruins of the house of F. W. Sackett, editor of the Phillips Times.
