THE DEAD LYING IN THE STREETS.

During all of this plague heathen processions have constantly marched through the streets of Canton...

WINDS ARE WROTH.

They Sprung Up from the Sea and Wipe Out Russian Towns.

It was a wind of death. No other name can describe the cyclone that swept across the Sea of Azov Saturday...

It will be impossible for days yet, says a St. Petersburg dispatch, to compute the damage done by the cyclone...

The excitement is great among the American colony in this city, for it is feared that the party of American tourists were on the sea of Azov at the time the wind did its deadly work...

The wind was first felt at Nogaik. Nogaik is people mostly by fishermen, who were out on the water...

The village was razed, overturned—as if an immense plow had been pushed through it. Lying everywhere were smoking chimneys...

The shallow waters of the Sea of Azov were lashed to such a height that it was plain that every fishing-boat must have been sunk...

The cyclone swept on to the northeast after leaving Nogaik. It path seems to have been unusually wide...

At Marlinopol it devastated the country to a point eleven miles inland, and had its outer edge far upon the sea...

Marlinopol was practically blotted out of existence. In a hundred houses in a hundred were left standing...

RIVERS ON THE RAMPAGE.

Mexican Streams Swollen to Fury by Heavy Rains—Crops Are Ruined.

The Mexican Government has received official reports of heavy rains throughout the northern parts of the republic...

Damage has been caused to the growing crop in that part of the republic in the states of Sonora and Durango...

Where severe droughts had prevailed for the last five years, the Yaqui river overflowed and many thousand acres of corn and other crops were washed away...

A part of the crops were also drowned while attempting to save their stock and other property from the flood...

The Nazas River, in the state of Durango, also went on a great rampage owing to the unusually heavy rains in the mountains where it has its source...

Several hundred families who lived in the valley of this river were made homeless by the overflow...

Many cases of drowning are reported.

LYMAN PARKS, 20 years old, son of Dr. Floyd Thomas, director of the Indiana Prison South, lost his eyesight recently owing to a fall from a tree...

Through the explosion of the pneumatic tire of his bicycle.

Mrs. NANCY MARTIN died at Massillon, Ohio, aged 90 years, leaving considerable property, six children, thirty grandchildren and seventy-five great grandchildren.

Bl. true to God, to man and to himself.
