How to Cure Sick Headache.

What is known as sick headache is generally caused by the presence of bile in the stomach. The departing organs have not thrown out the impurities as fast as they accumulated, and an excess of bile formation has been the result; either that or the bile has been retained in the gall-ey, and at intervals been discharged in excess, to such an extent that it has found its way from the duodenum, back through the pyloric orifice, and up into the stomach. This later organ resents the presence of bile, and is making an effort to get rid of it. There is nausea with the headache, and this may be followed by vomiting. A common form treatment in these cases is to give a glass or two of tepid or warm water, and thus help the stomach to reject its contents: there may or may not be food to come up along with the bile. As soon as the stomach is emptied the patient will find relief, at least from the nausea; and if the congestion in the brain is not too great, the pain there may also cease. Sometimes it will be impossible to make the patient vomit, though the nausea still continues. In such cases give the patient two or three glasses of very hot water, as hot as he can drink; this will make the stomach contract, forcing its contents down in the other direction, and relief will follow.—From "Headache: its Causes and Cure" in Demorets Magazine for December.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions became a part of the interesting proceedings of the Teachers Institute at Pontiac last Friday and Saturday, and pays a fine tribute to the old county superintendent and extends the hand of friendship and fellowship to the new one:

Inasmuch as the county superintendent of schools of Livingston county, who has served the interests of the cause of education in such an able manner for the past four years, and the worthy assistant superintendent, who for eight years has so effectively given her attention to the bettering of the schools of the county, are now closing their administration, be it hereby

Resolved, That it is the sense of this association of teachers, here assembled, that it is most fitting that we extend to Mr. Foster an expression of our high appreciation of his untiring labors in placing the schools of Livingston county among those in the foremost rank in the State of Illinois, and that as he relinquishes the duties of the office of county superintendent, it is with the highest esteem of the teachers who have worked under his efficient direction.

Resolved, That to Miss Hamilton, who has been a most zealous worker for the advancement of the cause of education, and who has spared no effort in making our professional horizon broader and our vision as to our needs as teachers clearer, we express our sincere appreciation, and that, while she goes from us to a broader field of usefulness, we wish her success as abundant as her eminent qualifications merit.

Resolved, That to Mr. Tombaugh, upon whom the duties of office will soon be incumbent, we extend an expression of our highest esteem and heartfelt good will, that we are determined to unite with him to carry into effect such plans as he may formulate for the advancement of the cause of education in Livingston county, and that he may be confident of our heartiest cooperation.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Institute, that copies of the same be presented to Miss Hamilton and Messrs. Foster and Tombaugh, and that copies for publication be sent to the leading papers of the county.

Our enterprising transfer and express man, Will Morris, has made arrangements to put a bus and baggage wagon on his small route, between the C. & A. and I. railroad stations. The first of the year he will be ready to answer calls night or day.

Harper's Magazine.
IN 1895.

The Simpletons, a new novel by Thomas Hardy, will be begun in the December Number, 1895. Whoever may be continued to November, 1895. Whoever may be one's favorite among English novelists, it will be considered by all critics that Thomas Hardy stands foremost as a master artist in fiction, and The Simpletons may be expected to arouse enthusiasm not inferior in degree to that which marked Trilby—the most successful story of the year. Another leading feature of the December Number is the series of the "Lionel Lincoln Recollections of Joan of Arc," by the Sieur Louis de Conte, her Page and Secretary, under which guise the most popular living American magazine writers will present the story of the Maid of Orleans. In the January Number will appear a profusely illustrated paper on Charleston and the Carolinas, the first of a series of Southern papers.

Northern Africa is attracting more attention than at any other time since it was the seat of empires. The next volume of Harper's Magazine will contain four illustrated articles on this region, and three of them will depict the present life of the Sahara. Julian Huxley will prepare for the Magazine a series of eight stories, depicting typical conditions and manners. Besides the long stories, there will be in the January Number the first chapters of A Three Part Novel by the author of "The Sign of the Cross," the longest work yet attempted by this writer. Complete short stories by popular writers will continue to be a feature of the Magazine.

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED PROSPECTUS.

The Volumes of the Magazine begin with the Numbers for June and December of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the issue of the month specified in receipt of order. Cloth cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid. Title-page and index sent to subscribers free of charge.
