OBITUARY.
From Odell Outlook.
Richard Judge was born in the county of West-Maid, Ireland, January 12, 1810, and died at his home in Odell May 6, 1900, aged 90 years, 3 months and 24 days.
Mr. Judge received a good education, and was married to Miss Mary Gowen, of his native place, January 15, 1829. They came to this country in 1842, locating at Burlington, Vermont, where he acted as superintendent of the female seminary, for five years, after which he removed to Oswego, New York, where he had charge of a cotton wadding manufacturing establishment until it was destroyed by fire, after which he removed to Ottawa, Illinois, and engaged in contracting and building in which he was quite successful. Thence to Kendall county and began farming. He moved from there to Livingston county in 1869, and bought a farm of 240 acres valued at $40 per acre, here he remained a number of years, moving into Odell in the spring of 1887, where he has since made his home. He was a successful financier and a much respected citizen. Mr. and Mrs. Judge were the parents of eight children, five boys and three girls, all of whom survive their father.
Funeral services were held at St. Paul's church Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, conducted by Rev. P. Griffin, and the remains were laid to rest in St. Paul's cemetery. Mrs. Judge and family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.
Miss Florence Newman, who has been a great sufferer from rheumatism, says Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the only remedy that affords her relief. Miss Newman is a much respected resident of the village of Gray, N. Y., and makes this statement for the benefit of others similarly afflicted. This liniment is for sale by A. K. Beltzhoover.

Joliet has secured an additional appropriation of $50,000 to be used in the construction of the new postoffice at that place. This is the second $50,000 set aside as available for that purpose.
The recent rains of the past week have been most welcome as gardens and lawns in the town have needed it badly, while in the country it was especially welcome to the hay and oats fields.
William T. Bedford, editor of the LaSalle Tribune, has been appointed supervisor of the census for the fifth Illinois district, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of W. E. Birkenbauer.
At the commencement of the College of Medicine, at the University of Illinois, held at Central Music Hall on the evening of April 19, 1900, 136 graduates received their diplomas from President Draper.
Attention is called to Miller Bros. advertisement this week. This firm does a business second to none in the county and they claim their success is largely due to advertising. It pays to advertise.
At the meeting of the county farm committee last week the contract for doctoring at the county house for the ensuing year was let to Drs. Pearson and Ross, of Pontiac, they to alternate monthly in their work, and to receive $225 for their services.
A silver watch was plowed up on the Southwick place near Odell the other day, which had been underground for four years, and which was lost in that field by a hired huster. The watch case is still bright but has rusted inside and cannot be easily opened. The owner has it and with a little fixing it will probably run as well as ever.

The Tuesday Night Club, a literary organization composed of the young ladies of Dwight, met this week with Miss Cora Adams. "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream" was taken up and the first two acts read, a full attendance being out in spite of the stormy weather.
Most of the farmers in this vicinity are pretty well along with their work, although spring has been a little backward. The oats fields are looking first rate and a number of the fields are ready for corn, which will be planted as soon as the ground is dry enough to receive it.
Bob Orr was in Odell last week in search of bloodhounds to use against the marauders who have been entering the citizens' homes. He found they were engaged, but has arranged for their use upon the slightest disturbance. Earnest measures to stop this lawlessness are taken and the citizens will be protected. A blood-hound or a posse of them will make short work of such house breaking.
Peoria Star: For the past two weeks large quantities of spirits have been shipped from this city to Japan, at one time an entire trainload being dispatched for the Pacific coast. These foreign orders have been filled and for the time being there is a lull in the export trade. Most of the spirits sent to Japan is to be used in the manufacture of smokeless powder, so it is evident that the enterprising Japs would just as soon try conclusions with Russia as not. When they shoot Peoria whiskey into the Russian bear in the shape of smokeless powder the chances are that he will feel like hunting a Keeley Institute.
Result of Council Meeting.
At the regular meeting of the council of the village of Dwight, Tuesday, the officers were filled as follows: I. Perry, night police and watchman; W. Miller, day constable; W. Patterson, street commissioner and day police; L. A. Naffziger treasurer.
