GLOYN-BOWER.

Miss Ethel M. Gloyd, of Chicago, and Dr. E. E. Bower, of Morris, were quietly married at the home of Rev. Aaron Bower, of this city, at high noon, Wednesday, June 8, Rev. Aaron Bower officiating.

The groom is a son of the Rev. Bower, and is well known here, having visited here for sometime several years ago.

The happy couple will reside at Joplin, Mo., and many best wishes go with them from friends here.

BROWN-KEELEY.

Miss Ethel Brown and Henry A. Keeley, brother of Major M. R. Keeley, of Dwight, were married at Murphysboro, Ill., June 2, ceremony being at the home of the bride's mother.

Only the family and immediate friends were present, the wedding being a very quiet one as preferred by those interested. They will reside at Murphysboro.

Major M. R. Keeley, of Dwight attended.

LONGE-REIDY.

Miss Alice E. Longe, of Dwight, and Mr. James Reidy, of Odell, were united in marriage at St. Patrick's church in Dwight, Monday morning, June 4.

The wedding was very quiet and only a few near relatives were present. John Reidy, of Chicago; Thomas and William Reidy, of Odell, were the out of town guests. Monday at 11:10 the happy couple departed on their wedding tour.

The bride is one of Dwight's popular young teachers and is a prominent member of the Catholic church, and has many best wishes from warm friends.

The groom is a prosperous farmer living near Odell, and is well known throughout the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Reidy will be at home to their friends after June 10, at the groom's home three miles northeast of Odell.

The STAR and HERALD join their many friends in best wishes and congratulations to the happy young couple.

OPERA HOUSE

Struck by Lightning and Burned to the Ground.

Tuesday night, or rather Wednesday morning about 2 o'clock the handsome Dwight opera house was burned to the ground and the opera season ended very suddenly. The building was struck by lightning and it being a frame structure made a great fire.

The fire department made a great fight but it was no use, it all went. It burned about an hour, and it was lucky for Dwight that a continual rain kept up, as fire brands went high in the air and landed in yards and on top of buildings a half mile away, but the rain kept them from spreading fire everywhere. The wind blew from the southeast and the brands went up hundreds of feet and lit up the heavens. About half of Dwight was out in the rain.

The opera house was built in 1892 and the actual cost was about $15,000 including everything, and the insurance $5,500.

The venture has never been a paying one, the house having lost money every year, and it will not be rebuilt. This is too bad and places Dwight in the back ground as far as theatricals and entertainments are concerned. There was no city of the size in the state which had better facilities, and now we simply have no place for entertainments.

Here is a chance for some enterprising man to put up a house including lodge rooms, stores, offices and an opera house in connection, and the STAR and HERALD believes it would pay good interest on the investment.

The opera house was built by the Keeley Company, but Major C. J. Judd became the owner several years ago, and the loss is his, and probably he will be able to stand it if he economizes a little.

Street Incident.

"My Dear Sir," exclaimed Lawyer Bartholomew Livingston, meeting the Rev. Dr. Archibald Windham on the village street, "What does this mean? I thought you were laid up with all sorts of bad diseases?"

"And so I was," replied the reverend gentleman, "I had an attack of indigestion and from that time on my whole system has been in a disordered condition until I began taking Hood's Sassaaparilla which has put me on my feet and cured all my stomach troubles."

"I don't doubt it," said the lawyer. "This same medicine cured my wife of rheumatism and my little girl of scrofula. When they say it's the best medicine money can buy, they only tell the truth."

"Yes, yes, so they do," replied the minister, and the two passed on.

Successors to Scott & Spencer. Martin and James Nelson have formed partnership and are engaged in the grocery business, formerly conducted by Scott & Spencer. Both partners in the new firm are popular men and will undoubtedly do well.

THE BACCALAUREATE.

Interesting Services and Sermon.

Baccalaureate exercises were held at the Methodist church Sunday last, June 3, and the church was full to standing room. Beautiful flowers had been placed in the chancel and it was decorated with great taste. The weather was very favorable and everything transpired to the complete satisfaction of the audience and those interested in the arrangement of the proceeding. Service began at the usual hour and the opening was conducted by the Rev. W. Woolley, Rev. E. F. Wright and Rev. A. Bower, the singing being by the Congregational and Methodist choirs.

The class occupied the front seats immediately before the chancel.

The Baccalaureate was delivered by Will J. Leach.

Mr. Leach does not use notes and had no manuscript with him and the STAR and HERALD had no shorthand reporter present we can only note a few points from the sermon. The subject was "Temptation," and it was treated in a manner both new and entertaining. He said in part: "Commencement day is only a day after all and like any other day must end. Then in that quiet hour after the lights have gone out, the crowd has departed, the music has ceased, the kind words of prizes have died away, the flowers have faded, the books have been laid aside, then the tempter will come and he will say: 'Ah, young man, these are beautiful dreams upon which you have been feeding. This was a splendid vision, but after all you must be practical. Dreams are not bread. Ideals are not meat. If thou be the son of God command that these stones be made bread.'" One of the saddest sights in this world is a young life forsaking its nobler call of life to become a bread making machine.

The voice of the world comes to tempt us saying, "A man's life does consist in the abundance of things he possesses," but this is not true, and the world knows very well that its richest and best gifts are those for which it has never been asked to pay. Who can set a price on 'Hamlet,' 'Who shall pay for 'Paradise Lost'?' When can the world cancel its debt to the 'Sermon on the Mount'?

While the lesson does not disparage bread making, it does teach that this should not be the end of life. Do not teach your boy that he is to gain an education that he may live with less work than he could without it. Show him that each opportunity but enlarges his responsibility. The world has a right to expect of the cultured man much more work than of the uneducated. Education is growth, not "upward growth" alone for this simply raises a man above his fellow men and makes him a 'snob,' but true education is growth in all directions. Let us be careful that we do not grow top heavy."

There were some really dramatic passages which struck fire in the audience. His picture of the crucifixion when all but the women had forsaken the Christ, was strong. He pictured the "triumphant entry" into Jerusalem and then said: "Young man are you strong enough to turn from the noisy crowd in the hour when they are shouting your praises, when they are willing to 'make you king' and follow the plain path of duty even though it be narrow and dark and at the end is death? That is bravery, that is manhood."

His peroration was quiet but impressive, he said: "Class of 1900, I pray that when you shall stand alone upon your mountain of temptation, and shall look back upon the years gone forever, then forward into the untried future, dark and uncertain, then upon either hand only to find that you stand alone, that in that hour you may not be untrue to the glorious vision of this brighter hour, stand firm and the tempter will leave you and angels will come. The first will be the pure white angel of a clear conscience and a clean heart and it will make you strong and then will come the bright angel of God's own peace and it will speak peace to your soul even in the darkest hour, for, 'When the devil had left him angels came and ministered unto him.'"

The sermon was delivered in a clear and deliberate manner, which was very effective. Earnestness marked it throughout, and it was given the closest attention by all present.

His gestures are not frequent but what he uses are graceful. It is not probable that he will ever have that kind of a delivery profuse with gestures, but will, instead, follow the quiet impressive manner which some of the profession prefer.

Will J. Leach is a Dwight boy and his career is certainly an honor to the town.

It has been fully demonstrated that Ely's Cream Balm is a specific for Nasal Catarrh and cold in the head. This distinction has been achieved only as the result of continued successful use. A morbid condition of the membrane in the nasal passages can be cured by this purifying and healing treatment. Sold by druggists or it will be mailed for 50 cents by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York. It spreads over the membrane, is absorbed and relief is immediate.

JAMES CAMPBELL.

James Campbell was born in Linlithgow Shire, Scotland, March 18, 1829, and died of heart failure at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Belle Shearer, near Dwight, Sunday night, June 3, 1900.

He came to America in 1869, and has since lived in and near Dwight. Three sons and two daughters survive him.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock in his late residence, Rev. A. P. Solandt, of Odell, officiating. The interment was in the Emington cemetery.

HOWARD M. McCALL.

Howard M. McCall, of the 37th U. S. V. army with a party of nineteen other soldiers were ambushed by the Philippines on May 8, and all killed.

Howard lived for a number of years at the home of M. Wolf, south of town, and has many friends in this community who regret to learn of his sudden death. He first enlisted in G. Co., 12, U. S. Infantry May 17, '98, and was transferred from the 12th, to A. Co., 23d, U. S. A. Infantry while in San Francisco, on June 10, 1898. He sailed for Manila October 17, '98 but was taken with typhoid fever while enroute and left at the Division Hospital at Honolulu, Nov. 1, '98, where he remained six weeks and did not join his company in Cebu, P. I., until April 12, '99. He was honorably discharged on Aug. 6, '99, and re-enlisted the same day in C. Co., 37th, U. S. V. and was given rank of artificer.

He saw active service from that date until he was killed May 6, 1900. His father and sisters whom he has not seen for ten years reside at Salina, Kas.

Howard was one of the five boys who went from here, the rest having returned last fall. He was 28 years of age.

LLOYD CULLOM PARKER.

Lloyd Cullom Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parker, was born in Dwight, Ill., September 30, 1878, and has practically always been a resident of this village. He was a most estimable young man, was a fine scholar and was always distinguished for his thoughtful and gentlemanly demeanor. He was an active efficient member of the Ili-lini, a literary society, which was run so successfully by our young men a few years ago.

Cullom was never very rugged, but he was ambitious and went to Chicago hoping to do something worth while. He, however, began to fail in health and finally it was decided that he must have a change of climate or he would not live very long. To this end he went to New Mexico in 1899, accompanied by his brother, Clay. They spent the winter and most of the spring there, but Cullom grew weaker and weaker and a medical expert told them that he could live but a few weeks and they would better come home, which they did, reaching here in May. Cullom lingered until Friday, June 1st, and died about 10 o'clock in the morning.

The funeral was held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the residence of his parents, The Rev. Wm. Woolley officiated, assisted by Rev. E. F. Wright. The attendance was large. The body was laid away in Oak Lawn cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

J. C. Parker and family wish to offer sincere thanks to the many friends for their acts of kindness during the illness and after the death of his son.
