Death of Walter Dart, Brother of Mrs. Dwight C. Morgan.

The following account will give all the particulars known of the death of Mr. Dart and also that of his friend and physician, Dr. Arthur Lee:

After a tour of the world together, Dr. Arthur S. Lee and Walter Dart, prominent in Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco, died at sea within twenty-four hours of each other while returning home upon the last stage of their circumnavigating trip. News of the remarkable occurrence reached here from New York. Dr. Lee succumbed on an ocean steamer to appendicitis, exactly twenty-four hours after his companion had passed away. The deaths occurred August 13 and 14. The second and third day out from Hamburg for New York.

Mr. Dart has been slowly failing in health for several years and much of this time has lived in Oakland with Dr. Lee, the two having been lifelong friends. Early last January they went to Mesa, Arizona, and in May sailed from San Francisco on the Rio de Janeiro for a trip around the world, in the hope that the voyage and the change of climate would benefit Mr. Dart.

Letters have come from the different stopping places telling of the oppressive heat and of the consequent need of continuing on their way to Europe as quickly as possible, instead of staying in Japan, China or Egypt, as they had anticipated.

Each letter spoke of Dr. Lee's good health and spirits. The last, however, from Hamburg, dated July 27, the day they landed, brought word of Mr. Dart's extreme weakness and of their determination to sail at once for New York.

Mr. Dart was unmarried and leaves three sisters: Mrs. Dwight C. Morgan, of Dwight; Mrs. Edgar Mathews and Miss Edith Dart, of San Francisco.

Bad Streets.

The condition of streets in Dwight has not been so bad as at present in years, and everyone who drives a team or rides a wheel knows it. This is the time of year when dry weather is looked for and heretofore the street and alley committee have watched the streets very closely and just as soon as the ground was dry enough after a rain the scraper was put at work and never stopped until the streets were in good condition. At the present time the country roads are in better shape than the city streets, and what makes it worse is that if dry weather should continue they couldn't be put in first class shape as they were before.

It would be refreshing to the people of Dwight to see some business ability displayed by the street and alley committee, and the people would appreciate some action for their money.

There is plenty more to be said along these lines, and the "Independents" should give the people a practical illustration of their ability to do business and carry out some of the reforms they talked so much about.

Schools.

One week from next Monday the vacation days will be ended and the Dwight Public schools will open for business. The corps of teachers have enjoyed a rest, and all those who have been away will return next week.

The Board of Education has caused to be issued a new catalogue which includes the names of teachers and of all the graduates of former school years, instructions to teachers and pupils and a most comprehensive review of the course of studies, all classified by grades and other studies.

We venture to say that no school the size of Dwight has ever issued as complete and ably edited and compiled catalogue as the one for this year, under the supervision of that able educator, Prof. Horton. On the cover is a splendid picture of Dwight High School, similar to the one on the diplomas presented to graduates.

A Bad Accident.

In the wreck in Carlinville, Tuesday night, Chas. Patterson, of Dwight, was struck by a barrel and his right leg broken at the shoe top. He had just taken the run and was in the express service.

The plug train was given right of way, but when it was within about sixty feet of the engine, the switch was thrown and the engine went into the ditch, the engineer and fireman both jumping and getting slight injuries.

Chas. Patterson was thrown into the corner of the baggage car, the barrels and baggage falling on him and pinning him there.

Although it was a bad break, he is getting along nicely.

Marshall Patterson went after and brought Charlie home Thursday morning.

Ate Toadstools.

An unfortunate experiment in eating what appeared to be a mushroom but was really a toad stool made one of the section men intensely ill Wednesday night. He was coming across the field north of town and stopped to taste the supposed edible. He was taken very ill and when he reached town was treated by the company physician, putting up at the hotel, where he was attended. He felt well enough the following morning to resume work.

BASE BALL.

The Tournament Banner Goes to Dwight.

CARDIFF-DWIGHT.

A very exciting and close game closed the contest between Cardiff and Dwight, Saturday last. A big crowd was in attendance and the band played on West street after dinner, making their selections animated.

The Cardiff nine did not arrive until 3 p. m. or after, but the contestants made the game a short one.

The two line ups were practically the same and Will Thompson umpired for Dwight.

In the second inning Cardiff flied did some good work and he continued it throughout the game. In the last half of the second, Smith brought in the first tolly and scored one for Dwight.

First half of third Cardiff scored one and began to strike well.

At the beginning of the ninth, the game was against Dwight and it was at this point that arguments became accusations and the players began to "beef."

McCarte and Reel made a tally each in the ninth and won the game for Dwight by a score of 3 to 2.

Although a large crowd attended, they did not leave the grounds with a very favorable impression. The many differences between umpires and players and the hasty dissent of everybody on the diamond, with a leaving the question to the managers' decision, caused confusion and trouble.

NOTES.

There were very few errors in the playing of either team.

The fielders caught well and covered the out-field.

Col. Smith, Ketcham and McCarter made some good base hits and there was good base running throughout the game.

Many fouls seemed to be a feature of the game.

The diamond was in good condition, no dust being prevalent.

FORREST-DWIGHT.

Evidently the Forrest team did not play ball Tuesday. If they did, the Dwight nine certainly outplayed them.

The weather was right and the diamond in good shape, a good crowd attended and rooters were plenty.

Bob Orr umpired the game clear through and his decisions were considered fair.

The game began with men taking bases on balls, and the lively work of the (R & S) nine began in the second half of first inning, when Keeley brought in two tallies, Johnson made a home run hit, and Fox made second on a one base hit. In this inning Dwight began to hit hard and some pretty batting was done.

Fox, center field, made a pretty catch in first half of second. With Dwight to bat, Keeley made a two base hit and brought Ketcham home.

In third, Ketcham made a good stop at first and put a man out, Johnson caught Duckett out, another Forrest runner was put out and Dwight went to bat.

In fourth, Keeley made a good catch, running for it from left field. Ketcham made a two-base hit.

In the second half of the fifth, Mose Brown made a two base hit and Ketcham brought McCarter home.

In the second half of the sixth Keeley made a home run, sending the ball to the hedge south of the diamond, thereby making the longest hit of the game. It made the rooters hilarious. Brown and Reel made base hits and brought two men home.

Second half of seventh, Ketcham landed the ball at the out-field, bringing home more runners.

The game closed with a score of 23 to 5, favor of Dwight. The contest was easy—real easy for Dwight.

NOTES.

The Forrest nine's errors made the game easy. It must have been their off-day.

Col. Smith played better than usual, making good stops and placed the ball well when batted.

Forrest changed pitchers the middle of the game. Moran pitched first.

It was an orderly quiet game and nothing confusing occurred.

MORRIS-DWIGHT.

The Morris-Dwight game Thursday, the 23d, was played in an hour and thirty-five minutes, was the best game Dwight ever played, resulted in a score of 2 to 1, favor of Dwight and gives the home team another victorious contest.

There was the biggest crowd, and the carriages were more numerous than at any other contest of the season. It was an all right game with an all right crowd attending.

Rooters were numerous and the good playing gave them plenty of exercise.

The second half of the first inning Keeley made a two-base hit and brought Johnson, who was running bases, home. McCarter followed with a base hit and Keeley scored.

First half of second, Keeley, Dwight's pitcher, began to fan out Morris, and to show some fine pitching.

In the third half of third Ketcham made a fine catch on first.

In first of fourth, Hines on first did some good work, also Alberts on second.

In the sixth Hines caught the batter out near first with one hand and repeated the act later.

Johnson played well on third for Dwight, and McCarter and Ketcham made fine stops. Fox made a good catch in left field and second was fully awake to the occasion.

The score stood 2 to 1 at beginning of the ninth, and Keeley shut Morris out in this without seeing first.

Keeley certainly played expertly and he deserves praise and admiration. A double play in the second half of the eighth inning and the foul Keeley caught helped to shut Morris out of the eighth.

Following is the score:

Morris—0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1.
Dwight—0 2 0 0 0 0 0—2.

NOTES.

The Dwight nine all played well.

Keeley played a splendid game and made some fine hot stops.

Ketcham makes an excellent first baseman.

Reeb has not done much catching this year but he only had one error.

The Morris team got a man out, but twice, once with only one man out, but "the letter never came."

The Morris boys played a nice game, but they are a little outclassed over here. They should stop at Mazon or some small place next time.

Bob Orr is a good umpire and no bulldozing went.

They didn't do a thing.

The "rooters" took it easy.

The Morris nine is probably called the Morris team because most of them are from other places. One of them forgot his home town.

If Dan Fox had been a few inches taller the boys would have shut out Morris.

The game was a quiet, orderly affair and the best of feelings marked the close of it.

The Dwight nine batted well.

Errors were very few, only one fumble being made.

This was the star game of the season and the Dwight nine, individually deserves the warmest praise and loudest hurrah for their good work Thursday.

Death of Mrs. Cadwallader.

Dwight relatives and friends were pained Monday to learn of the death of Mrs. Harriet Cadwallader on Sunday, after a serious illness of several months duration, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jennie Moderwell, in Edgewater, Chicago.

Mrs. Cadwallader was a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Falls, and a former resident of this city, having moved from here to Joliet several years ago, and from that city to Chicago where she resided with her daughter and husband.

Mrs. Cadwallader's maiden name was Harriet Hawley, and she was married from her home in Joliet on December 22, 1868, to Mr. Horace Cadwallader, of Dwight, formerly of Ohio, who was a highly respected land owner and grain merchant of this city until his death a number of years ago. Of their three children, two sons and one daughter, the latter, Mrs. Jennie Moderwell, survives.

The funeral services occurred at the home in Edgewater at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Reynolds, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Joliet, officiating, and who earnestly spoke of her noble character. Relatives and friends were in attendance, and gave many beautiful floral tributes. The remains were taken to Ohio and placed beside those of her husband.
