TROOPS ARE IN CONTROL.

Sent to the Anthracite Coal Regions in Pennsylvania Where the Miners Are Out.

MOB CAUSES TROUBLE AT SHENANDOAH

Lines of Strikers Remain Unbroken and Increase in Numbers—Soldiers Wanted in Luzerne County—Miners Marching from Mine to Mine Cause Trouble.

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—The tragedy that has been looked for since the coal workers' strike was inaugurated came suddenly and unexpectedly at Shenandoah Friday afternoon. A posse hurriedly gathered together by Sheriff Toole, of Schuylkill county, to meet an emergency, was forced to fire on a mob that was threatening workmen on their way home under escort. A man and a little girl were instantly killed, and seven others fell more or less seriously wounded. Sheriff Toole lost no time in calling on the commander of the national guard of Pennsylvania to send troops to aid him in keeping the peace. After consultation the state authorities at Harrisburg decided at midnight to send troops to the turbulent region.

Troops Called Out.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 22.—Three regiments of infantry, a battery and a troop of cavalry were ordered out at midnight by Gov. Stone to assist Sheriff Toole in maintaining order in the Schuylkill mining region. This action was taken after a conference between the governor, Adjt. Gen. Stewart and Gen. Gobin on the urgent solicitation of the sheriff, borough council of Shenandoah and many prominent residents of that locality. Gen. Gobin has been placed in command of the provisional brigade.

To Resume Work.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 24.—Yesterday was quiet, unusually quiet, throughout the mining district, but many observers predict that it was the unnatural calm that precedes a storm. Coal operators at a number of points announce their intention to start the collieries to-day, as they have plenty of miners willing and anxious to work if guaranteed protection. Gen. Gobin and the sheriffs of the various counties promise this protection. The strikers, on the other hand, say there will be no work until the strike is called off.

Miners Stay Away.

Philadelphia, Sept. 25.—Contrary to the expectations of the mine operators, the lines of strikers remained unbroken yesterday and the second week of the strike in the anthracite field opened with the tie-up of the mines as complete as at any time since the strike began. Reports indicate that 130,000 of the 142,000 miners are now out. Troops visited several towns in the Schuylkill valley and made demonstrations, and at McAdoo a battalion was stationed. Gen. Gobin says that he will not allow the miners to hold secret meetings.

Troops Are Wanted.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 26.—Sheriff Harvey, of Luzerne county, has asked Gov. Stone for troops because he cannot guarantee the safety of persons and property during the night marching of the strikers. The sheriff's request is said to be backed by telegrams from a number of private citizens of Hazleton.

No Sign of Settlement.

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—Yesterday was the tenth day of the miners' strike, and as yet there is no indication of surrender or concession on either side. In fact no overtures looking to a settlement of the differences have been made by either the strike leaders or the mine operators.

No Troops Sent.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 27.—The request made by Sheriff Harvey for troops, although not refused, was not granted by Gov. Stone. The sheriff and the state officials at Harrisburg, however, have an understanding between them, and if the necessity arises soldiers will be thrown into this region in short order.

Missionaries Reach London.

London, Sept. 25.—The American missionaries, J. H. Roberts, Mark Williams, William Sprague, Mrs. Sprague and Miss Virginia Murdock, who escaped from Kaigan, province of Chihli, China, in June, were chased across the Gobi desert. Thence they traveled by way of Siberia and have just reached London in good health. The missionaries will proceed immediately to the United States.

Fatal Storm in Iowa.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 26.—Four persons were killed and several others were severely hurt by a waterspout and tornado at Ferguson Monday evening. The railway station was wrecked, cars were blown from the tracks and many houses were destroyed. Telegraph wires are down, and the names of all those killed and injured cannot be learned.

Sentenced to Die.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 27.—James B. Howard, who has been on trial for the past ten days, charged with being a principal in the assassination of William Goebel, was found guilty by the jury Wednesday, the verdict fixing his punishment at death.

A Big Harvest.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Over 500,000,000 bushels of wheat, nearly 800,000,000 bushels of corn will be the result of this season's harvesting of these cereal products in the United States.

ILLINOIS STATE NEWS.

Death of Gen. McClernand.

Gen. John A. McClernand, last of the civilians appointed to high command as generals in the federal army during the civil war, died at his residence in Springfield, aged 88. His death was the result of old age and a general breaking down of the system.

Gen. McClernand was born in Kentucky, but came to Illinois when one year of age with his parents. When the Blackhawk war broke out he enlisted as a volunteer, although only 19 years of age. At the conclusion of the Blackhawk war young McClernand returned to his home and was admitted to the bar. He established the Shawneetown Democrat, which he conducted in connection with the practice of his profession. Always a stanch democrat, Gen. McClernand was elected as the representative of his party in congress in 1843, in 1851, and again in 1860. Returning to Illinois he, with John A. Logan and P. B. Fouke, organized a brigade of volunteers, which was known as McClernand's brigade.

GEN. JOHN A. M'CLERNAND.

President Lincoln appointed him brigadier general of volunteers and accepted the battalions. Gen. McClernand succeeded Gen. Sherman in command of the federal army in Mississippi in January, 1863. In the battles that followed and in the siege of Vicksburg he distinguished himself. He resigned as commander of the Thirteenth Army corps November 30, 1864. After Cleveland's election Gen. McClernand was named as one of the Utah commissioners and he spent considerable time in this interest. In 1870 he was elected judge of the circuit court without opposition. He retired from the bench in June, 1873. The general leaves a widow and two sons and two daughters. One son, Col. Edward J. McClernand, is military governor of Cebu, Philippine islands.

Mills Destroyed.

An explosion of dust started a fire in the Lakeside oatmeal mills in Joliet, causing the total destruction of the main plant. The loss is estimated at $50,000. Insurance, $41,000. No one was hurt. The mills employ 100 men and girls, working night and day. The plant was said to be the largest rolled-outs concern in the world, and had a capacity of 700 barrels per day. It was outside of the trust. The owner is David Oliver, of Chicago.

Crop Conditions.

The weekly crop report issued by the Washington weather bureau says for Illinois:

A good week for farm work and much plowing done; corn mostly safe from the frost and much already in shock; dry weather in south portion injured corn less than was expected; considerable damage by high winds; pastures good in north, not so good south; fruit badly blown off by high wind, greatly reducing already poor prospects for apple crop.

The Liquor Dealers.

The Liquor Dealers' Protective association of Illinois at its session in Springfield elected as president Warren S. Phelps, of Chicago, and adopted resolutions favoring strict compliance with law and declaring that members will support for office only such men as will acknowledge legitimacy of liquor business and pledge liberality on all measures relating to the business.

Big Fire Loss.

The town of Nunda, 15 miles north of Elgin, was badly damaged by fire, the flames destroying the city hall and seven other buildings. Many persons are homeless. The fire was aided in its devastaion by a fierce north wind. The burned portion comprises the eastern part of the town. The losses are mostly covered by insurance.

Told in a Few Lines.

The state convention of the King's Daughters and Sons of Illinois will be held in Pekin October 17, 18 and 19.

The price of broom corn jumped from $80 to $100 a ton at Arcola.

Col. Joseph H. Wood, civil war veteran and grand marshal of the grand army parade during the recent national encampment in Chicago, died suddenly, aged 61 years.

John Fields, a farmer 50 years old, was killed by a Louisville & Nashville train as he was crossing a trestle near Enfield.

The new census figures at Joliet show through some error that the convicts of the penitentiary, 1,367 in number, has been made part of the city's population.

John Sims, one of the oldest settlers of Shelby county, died at Assumption at the age of 82 years. He was born in Madison county.

Miss Mary Redmond, aged 20, a teacher at Sycamore, ruptured a blood vessel while coughing and died in a few moments.

William W. Kennedy, chief of the Chicago police department during the great fire, was found dead in his room in that city.

John G. Springer died at Springfield, aged 56 years. He was secretary of the American Southdown Breeders' association and prominent in grand army and Modern Women circles.

Stillman Peterson, 13 years old, died in Moline from the effects of burns received by the explosion of a Roman candle in his breast pocket.

John B. Freil, a passenger brakeman on the Illinois Central railroad, was run over and killed in Carbondale.
