Holdfast is Sure, Perhaps, But This is the Age of High Speed

It isn't sufficient to turn out good goods. They must be turned out rapidly. Recognition of this by manufacturers is indicated in the popularity of high speed tools. Manufacturers understand that quick deliveries spell increased orders; If you will investigate you will find that the plants operated on this principle are most of them equipped with

Electric Motor Drive

Some of them have scrapped thousands of dollars worth of steam machinery to put in electric motor drive. None of them have made the change without most careful and searching examination. The men who run big business are generally pretty smart fellows. Mere claims alone won't do in their cases. It has been necessary to actually demonstrate to them that

Electric Power is the Cheapest and Most Efficient

A plant run by motor drive is like a fine tool in the hands of a skilled workman—it means quick, good work. That in turn, means profit, and profit is what plants are run for

The advantages of Electric Power are open to small plants as well as large ones. Our experts will be glad to figure out installations of any size.
