

WATCHES

The Equity 16-size watch is a thoroughly reliable timepiece, honestly built throughout, and can be depended on to give satisfaction.

A seven-jeweled Equity watch in a nickel case can be bought for $5.00, and the same in a 20 year gold filled case for $9.00.

A fifteen-jeweled Equity watch in a nickel case can be bought for $8.00, and the same in a 20 year gold filled case for $12.00.

Never before has it been possible to obtain such value, except at a much higher price.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY

NEWS FROM OUR EXCHANGES
THROUGHOUT THE COUNTY.

Dallas O. Morris, of Forrest, has traded an 80-acre farm adjoining the village of Forrest on the west for land in Michigan. The farm was traded on the basis of $250 per acre and the Michigan land at $100 per acre.

Frank Murlough, of Chatsworth, has purchased the Hastings heirs 140 acres of land two and a half miles east of Forrest, paying $180 per acre. In 1900 this same land sold at $76 per acre and in 1901 it was sold twice, first at $82.50 per acre and later at $90 per acre.

C. W. Vinning, a resident of Wing has got into trouble by selling forty tubs of butter that were partly filled with clay. He filled the tubs at Wing and shipped them to Kankakee, from there he sent them to Elgin securing $600 for them. Vinning was caught at Williamsport, Pa.

Joseph Lewis, who was arrested in Bloomington some time ago on the charge of wife and child abandonment and who has since been in the county jail at Pontiac waiting trial, was released from custody, his wife failing to appear against him when his case was called in the court of Justice Gaff.

August Frank, a young man from Bloomington, went to Emington Sunday expecting to be married to Miss Amanda Legerot. He had a marriage license issued in McLean county, and when he got to Emington found it would not do, so he went to Pontiac where the county clerk fixed him up, even if it was Sunday, and in that way he was able to be married at 6:30 the same evening.

State's Attorney B. W. Adsit will not be a candidate for renomination before the republican primaries. This announcement will come as a surprise to his many friends throughout the county. It was generally conceded that he would have no opposition should he desire to make the race for another term, as his splendid record and able conduct of the office of prosecuting attorney earned for him the office for four years more should he so desire.

The special grand jury called several days ago by Judge G. W. Patton for service in the circuit court reported Wednesday morning and in the afternoon was instructed in its duties and organized with M. L. Young, of Pontiac, as foreman. The members of the jury are the same as summoned early in the term and later excused. Hugh Thompson of Pontiac, William Phillips of McDowell and John Kingdon, Sr., of Cullom, were excused on account of their age. M. E. Lyons, J. M. White, Ellis Barrows and Ben Miller, of Pontiac, were drawn to fill up the required number.

The union meetings led by Evangelist Wray and party at Flanagan have closed, but feeling that there was still a great deal of good to be done, Rev. Mr. Obenshain, the Methodist Episcopal pastor, is preaching every night and large crowds are attending in spite of the cold weather. Rev. Obenshain has conducted several very successful evangelistic meetings at North Henderson church. He took in a class of fifty men and women, and at Gridley a year ago he met with very great success. He is a brilliant and forcible speaker. Henry Plank, the singing evangelist, who led the singing at the Mennonite conference south of Flanagan last summer, is leading the choir.

A pretty February wedding occurred Wednesday evening when Mr. Charles C. Gourley, of Cornell, and Miss Elizabeth Kerr were united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Belle Kerr, 1219 North Locust street, in Pontiac. Rev. John Henry Boose, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, performing the ceremony. Following the congratulations a sumptuous wedding supper was served to the large company of guests. Miss Kerr is well known in Pontiac, having spent nearly all her life in that city. She is a graduate of the Pontiac township high school, and for the past three years has been employed in the Rathbun department store. Preceding her marriage she was the guest of honor at a number of showers, one of which was tendered her by the clerks of the store. She has a host of friends, who will wish her well in her new life. Mr. Gourley is a prosperous young farmer living two miles southeast of Cornell on the farm where he was born. It is to this farm he will take his bride after they have spent several weeks visiting in Aurora, Chicago and Kansas City.

The motion to file affidavits for a new trial in the William Schultz case was continued until next Wednesday by Judge Patton in the circuit court upon request of Schultz's attorneys.

Roy Christoff, of Forrest, suffered a painful accident Saturday night while switching. While aboard a box car the engine bumped the car, throwing him off and breaking both of his legs.

Andrew S. West, an aged man of Cabery has entered suit against Rev. Peter P. Kluck, priest of the Catholic church there, charging him with fraudulently inducing him to sign away the deed to his homestead.

The town of Forrest will vote at the spring election on the local option question, a petition having been circulated by the license people asking that the question be submitted to the voters. In 1910 the town voted dry by eight and in 1908 by twenty.

Miss Carrie Eggenberger and John Fogarty, Jr., of Odell, were married Wednesday and left immediately for Chicago where they will visit friends for several days. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eggenberger and is one of Odell's most popular young ladies. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fogarty residing north of town.

Judging from appearances Fred L. Lough, of Fairbury, is going to branch out into the circus business next season. He received a tent this week big enough to seat all the inhabitants of Fairbury beneath its shady top. It looks like a circus tent, the seats look like circus seats and as Fred is an old time circus man it looks like he is contemplating something.

Deputy Sheriff Puffer, of Forrest, was in Pontiac Thursday having brought Jacob Wormnest to the county jail on the charge of wife abandonment. Wormnest is wanted in Paxton on that charge and for some time has been working on a farm near Chatsworth. His arrest occurred Wednesday and he is being held in Pontiac until officers can arrive from Paxton for him.

William Goslin, of Fairbury, was a member of the jury trying William Schultz on the charge of murder. Before he went to Pontiac he made arrangements with the Farmers' Elevator Company to sell his corn when the price reached 60 cents. It having reached that price, the corn was shelled and delivered to the elevator by his neighbors. As no one was allowed to communicate with him, he was ignorant of what was going on at his farm.

The marriage of Miss Sophia Margaret Storr to Mr. John Rock took place at SS. Peter and Paul's church in Chatsworth Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, Rev. W. J. Burke performing the ceremony. The attendants were Miss Theresa Storr, sister of the bride, and Mr. Fred Koestner, of Chicago, cousin of the groom. The bride wore a dress of lace over messaline and carried a shower bouquet. She also wore a veil. The bridesmaid wore tan silk with hat to match. The bride is the third daughter of Mrs. Armella Storr, and was born south of Chatsworth. The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rock, of Roberts, where he was born and has since lived. They departed on the afternoon train for Peoria to visit relatives, after which they will reside on a farm one and a half miles east of Roberts.

Tuesday afternoon two young men were arrested in Pontiac by the police charged with working a confidence game. Tuesday morning the two, who were well dressed, entered the clothing store of Joe Bremer arguing one with the other about the meaning of "transpire" and "perspire" and asked to be straightened out. The employees of the store refused to enter into their dispute and the two left. They went to the store of Frank Butler, where they attempted to catch some of the employees of that store, but were not successful. They next went to the clothing store of Rudolph Fox, where they entered into a conversation with Bert Edwards, a clerk, concerning the meaning of the two words. Mr. Edwards accommodated them by giving them all of the information on the matter that he had, and after he had done so the two made a wager of $1.50 that he was wrong, stating that both had the same meaning in Webster's dictionary, and secured the money. They attempted the same game at other places in the city. The matter was reported to the police and the sheriff's office and the two were located at the Washab depot, where they were arrested and placed in jail on the charge of working a confidence game. They were later given a hearing and each was given a jail sentence of thirty days on the charge of vagrancy.
