A subscription paper was taken around to the business men this week for the purpose of subscribing an amount toward having a baseball team here this season. A nice amount has been subscribed and F. L. Smith will again fit the boys out with new uniforms, so there is nothing left to do except to get a good team together and practice. Everybody boost and attend the games and we will have one of the best teams around here. The first game of the season will be Sunday, May 19.

Memorial Day.

It has been decided by the Grand Army and Sons of Veterans committees to follow out the plans adopted for the past three years, and have the Memorial services all on Memorial Sunday, May 26.

The committee has been fortunate in securing Hon. R. C. Huntoon, of Fairbury, as speaker.

The Sunday services in the morning will be held at Congregational Church, Rev. Farrington preaching the sermon.

The Grand Army Post will meet at the Star and Herald office at 10 a. m., also the Sons and Auxiliary, and march to the church, where seats will be reserved for them.

In the afternoon the societies will meet at the same place at 2:30 and attend the exercises in the Opera House, where Comrade Huntoon will speak.

The schools have again kindly volunteered to furnish the music, recitations and such other exercises as will be determined for Sunday afternoon, which is highly appreciated by the committees.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend both the Sunday services.

It has been decided to decorate the graves Sunday morning early, so that the comrades and their families can be taken to the cemeteries in automobiles after the afternoon exercises.

The Auxiliary will receive flowers Saturday afternoon at the Star and Herald office.

The committee will consider it a favor if everyone who has flowers will send them to the Star and Herald office by 5 p. m., Saturday, May 25.

It is hoped that the owners of automobiles will kindly donate the use of their machines for the veterans and their families to take them to the cemeteries.

Baseball Notes.

The baseball season will open at West Side Park, Sunday, May 19th. The Chicago Carrolls will oppose the F. L. Smiths and a good fast game is assured to all who attend.

The business men and citizens have contributed liberally to the support of the team for the season of 1912, and while the line-up is not complete, the management feels safe in promising the fans the same class of baseball they have seen the past two seasons.

Col. Smith has given the team new uniforms of the latest design in addition to a liberal cash contribution and there will be several prizes offered to the players by the different business men for best batting average, best fielding average, etc.

There seems to be an unusual amount of enthusiasm displayed and the boys are looking forward to one of the best seasons they have ever had.

Boost for the home team.

NEW CHURCH BUILDING

The Evangelical Church Society Needs a New Place of Worship, and Our Citizens Should Respond Liberally.

Shortly before the Annual Conference met in annual session at the Salem Church, Chicago, in the month of April, a petition was circulated by the members of the Evangelical Church in Dwight and Goodfarm to have the present pastor, Rev. Ebert, returned. Many friends including a number of progressive business men desired to sign the petition, too.

Early in the fall, Mr. Ebert had a consultation with his Presiding Elder in regard to the need of a new church in Dwight and expressed his wish that Conference would send another man in his place to Dwight,—a man, who would be more able to carry out such an undertaking.

The Presiding Elder answered in the negative and assured Mr. Ebert that he is the man for the place and that he must come back and undertake the task himself.

The annual Conference granted the request of the Dwight and Goodfarm Societies expressing great confidence in the dear people of Dwight, that they would unanimously rally around their pastor and heartily co-operate with him in placing a more modern, presentable and comfortable House of worship on the lot where now the old church stands.

The old church bespeaks its own need. Anyone who is a little interested in the improvement of the beautiful city of Dwight, can see that the old building does not represent the Evangelical denomination—a church body that has always stood for progress as well as for righteousness and spirituality. The church does not represent the Evangelical people of Dwight and Goodfarm. It represented them forty years ago, and the church answered then its purpose well. But, since those days, conditions have changed. Land has increased in value, Dwight has become one of the most beautiful cities in the northern part of the state of Illinois. Think of the splendid, cosy bank buildings, the enterprising business men, that crowd the block with up-to-date stores. Think of the homes of Dwight, how they have been improving within a few years. Why should God's house suffer? Why should the homes of the Evangelical people be so beautiful and inviting while the church, where God's name is on record and his honor dwelleth, remain unimproved and uninviting?

The new church shall not be built for show or splendor, but simply for a "reasonable service." It is aimed to erect a simple, neat, up-to-date building—one not too large, nor too small, a building that will easily accommodate an ordinary assembly of worshippers.

The new Presiding Elder, Rev. Burgi, presented this matter to the Dwight and Goodfarm Societies last Sunday, also at the services Saturday afternoon. At the Quarterly Conference permission was granted the pastor to solicit subscriptions for the project. Rev. Ebert has been hard at work during the week endeavoring to arouse greater interest and enthusiasm in the undertaking. He craves the support of every citizen of Dwight. The membership being not very large in town, he is compelled to solicit outside help. Will the good people of Dwight kindly rally around Rev. Ebert and pledge him aid and support in this movement. It is one worthy of its name,—one that will bring credit to the community and bring heavenly blessings upon the hearts and lives of the donors.

It is the duty of every citizen interested in the prosperity of Dwight to assist this movement according to their means, and we feel sure they will.

Dance Given by Dwight Band a Success.
The dance given Thursday evening at Maxon hall by the Dwight Band for the purpose of securing new uniforms proved to be a decided success.

There were about eighty couple present and every one enjoyed tripping the light fantastic until an early hour, to the beautiful strains rendered by an orchestra whose members had been picked from the band and who furnished excellent music for the occasion.

The band concert given on East Main street before the dance deserves special mention and was appreciated by everybody. It is only hoped that we will have more of these concerts in the future.
