A date for Colonel William J. Bryan at a Pike county, Mo., chautauqua has been cancelled owing to the fact that Bryan is not welcome in Missouri since he turned against Clark in the democratic convention.

Congressman John A. Sterling has introduced a bill for a postoffice building in Paxton, Ford county. The bill carries an appropriation of $65,000. Dwight comes next.

Congressman Rodenburg of Illinois went after Mr. Wilson in a red hot speech in the House the other day. When he got through it was safe to say that there were lots of democrats in the House who wished Bryan had nominated Clark instead of Wilson.

What a farce there was in the Chicago Tribune last week. One day that paper was a little up-in-the-air about Teddy, because the latter insisted on a third ticket in Illinois and was out for Deneen and the state ticket.

Dearborn and told Brother Keeley what to do and Brother Keeley is doing it, and Little Medill is the boss of the whole Bull Moose show, with Teddy himself a close second.

Petitions are being circulated for names endorsing Teddy and the Bull Moose party. What will be next, anyhow? Teddy has received the highest honors in the gift of the nation and has also enjoyed enough popularity to supply a whole state of individuals.

A special from Washington says: "Congressman Sterling has filed his separate views as member of the special committee to investigate the steel trust. He declined to sign either the majority or the minority report.

mental fallacy, from which proceeds the paternalistic doctrine that the government shall recognize and permit monopolistic combinations and fix the price of their product. Competition is certainly more conducive to progress than is monopoly.

St. Louis Globe Democrat: Colonel Roosevelt makes it clear that he is not going to run for president as an independent republican, or any other kind of a republican. He intends to have a brand new party, cut to fit the candidate, and composed of people who think more of Roosevelt than they do of time-tried principles.

say as did the trusting and confiding Ruth, whither thou goest I will go, thy people shall be my people. Inasmuch as his destination is unknown and even its direction as yet in doubt, this is a pretty large demand.

CONCRETE PAVING.

The Freeport Standard says: In Benton county some concrete roadway is to be built at a cost of $1.03 per square yard, says the Cedar Rapids Gazette.

It is possible that there finally has been found a suitable paving material that is reasonably priced.

Cedar Rapids is interested in this matter. It is needless to say that many people are watching the enduring quality of the concrete laid at the entrance to Bever park and in the section of the city east of Nineteenth street and between First and Third avenues.

We are all willing to pay a fair price for good paving. We might be willing to pay the price demanded for asphalt, provided real asphalt is laid, but Cedar Rapids' experience with asphalt is not reassuring.

Trust prices prevail with regard to a number of kinds of paving material. The people are looking for something which a trust cannot control. The best bet in that line is concrete. And if concrete paving answers the purpose in wearing qualities, you will hear a universal demand for that kind of paving.

THIRD PARTY BOLTERS.

The third party in Livingston county held a county convention last Saturday at Pontiac in the city hall. G. C. Armstrong called it to order and W. A. Worth read the call.

C. A. Stock moved the delegates be instructed for Teddy and also to vote for a full, new so-called Progressive Party ticket in the state, not instructed as to congressional and legislative and county tickets.

THAT REMINDS US—

"That 'it is all very well for people to criticise young ministers and their inexperience,' said a well-to-do man in one of our churches, 'but I have nothing but praise for our pastor—nothing but praise.'" "Yes," said the young man who passed the contribution box, "I've noticed that."

That the "Bull Moose" caucus last week was not a howling success. Quite a number signed a paper, but most of those did not understand that there was a new party to be formed, and that they would have to leave the republican and democratic parties and following the Moose no one seemed to know where. That was a different proposition and when it came to a caucus there were just five there—four from Dwight and one from Goodfarm.

That a little boy in town was asked if he ever found his Christmas presents before Christmas. "Yes," he says, "most always, but the folks put one over me last Christmas. I got a little baby sister for a present, and I never did find where they had it hid."

"The Glow of the Rubies."

The above caption is the name of our new serial story which will begin in next week's issue of this paper.

In this story there are many strange and remarkable happenings just because one man repaid a kindness with the gift of a remarkable pair of silk pajamas once the property of a Chinese princess.

After reading the first chapter or two you wouldn't miss the rest of the story for the world.

Next week is the first installment. Be sure and read it.
