Birthday Party.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Tambling Thursday, August 1st, in celebrating the eighteenth birthday of their daughter, Lila. Nearly sixty were present, including all the family. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. The evening was spent with music and games, and after the tangled cobweb was straightened out, each found a partner, and all were seated at small tables, where refreshments were served. The favors were miniature boxes filled with homemade candies. The birthday cake looked very pretty with its eighteen pink and white candles. Miss Lila received many beautiful presents from her friends. At a late hour all departed for their homes, wishing her many happy returns of the day. This party was almost the same in every way as the one given on May 14th for Villeroy's twenty-first birthday.

RAILROAD NEWS

The contract has been let for a frame depot with brick veneer for the Alton at Braceville, to cost $2200 and work will commence at once. This replaces the structure destroyed by fire.

Plans have been approved for the proposed new bridge of the Alton over the Kankakee at Wilmington. This structure will be of the concrete arch type, the first of the kind on the Alton. Owing to the rock bottom of the river bed, the conditions are ideal for this type of a structure. It is proposed to throw six spans of fifty feet each across the river. The authority has not yet been granted to go ahead with the improvement but it is stated that as soon as the money is forthcoming, the contract will be let. This will be one of the most important bridge betterments on the Alton in many years.

Alton firemen are pleased to see the activity displayed by the management in the installation of crushers in the various coaling stations. It was noted in a recent issue that the committee of the firemen called upon the officials in relation to this installation and which had been delayed. Prompt action was taken and since then the crushers have been placed in position at Roodhouse, Venice, Mazonia and Virden. The crusher has always been in service at Bloomington and it was at the outside stations that the attachment was missing. With the heavy consumption of coal on the modern drag the firemen have not time to break the coal and it is a great help to have the fuel cracked into convenient size to handle. The company would prefer to buy broken coal if it was possible to do so, but they have to take the mine run.

The 601, the pride of the Limited north, is to be out of the shops this week after a complete overhauling. This engine has been handling the Limited in charge of Engineers Marble and Jones for a number of years. Its former gaudy tint, cherry red, to match the color of the Limited, will no more be seen, however, but it will appear in a somber coat of black. President Worthington has issued orders to paint all engines a uniform tint of black hereafter, and the brown and red color will be seen no more. In addition, the name of the road will appear upon the side of the cab instead of the number of the engine, while the number will be shown in large size figures upon the side of the tank, enabling anyone to tell the number of the engine when it was passing at a high rate of speed. It is claimed that the black color is much more durable than red or brown and that the metal takes this tint better than the fancy colors.

If you are not attending some other Sabbath School, we want you to attend the Methodist Episcopal. Join our ranks next Sunday, opening song at 9:30 a. m.

CHICAGO THEATERS.

Olympic.
It is generally conceded that comradeship between father and son is conducive to family happiness. This element is brought out particularly strongly in "Putting It Over." Amos Sterling, a financier, who sends his son Ross to college, is broad-minded enough to overlook his son's escapades. When the boy gets into trouble, the father, instead of scolding him, helps him out. Through the entire play father and son are pictured in the light of "good pals." Consequently, when the young man finds that his father is involved in financial difficulties, he gives up his intended calling
