Authentic Fall Styles in Women's Suits and Coats

NUMBER 1—This is the coat of the season, "The Chester." It is full length with a slot seam and wide belt in the back. The collar is convertible, being equally attractive and comfortable open or closed. The materials range from boucles in solid colors and mixtures to varying shades of plaid back, gray and brown mixtures. A garment with snap and style—let a try-on convince you.

NUMBER 2—The distinguishing feature of this coat is the collar which can be worn in three widely different ways. The coat is full length with belted back and wide, mannish patch pockets. Both collar and cuffs are attractively piped with velvet. As an outing, storm or dress coat, this garment will find favor particularly when the style, quality and moderate price are considered.

NUMBER 3—This suit has a fancy cut-away jacket, velvet collar and a velvet piped long roll reverse; also the shirred effect in the back, which is one of the newest things this season. The skirt has kick pleats in the back and a fold that crosses the front of the skirt. The materials in which it can be furnished are French Serges, mixtures and Zibelines in the wanted colors.

NUMBER 4—A plain tailored, modish garment—34 inches long—the jacket has guaranteed yarn dyed satin lining, velvet collar and a stylish cut to the front. The cuffs are effectively trimmed with buttons and imitation button holes. This skirt is beautifully tailored, with a series of pleats in the back. Made of regular men's wear worsted, this garment is one of the highest types of the tailor's art and very reasonable in price.

We refund railroad fare one way on purchase of $10; round trip on purchase of $20.

"The House of a Thousand Candles."

"The House of a Thousand Candles" played at the Dwight Opera House Monday evening, September 23, to a large and enthusiastic audience. The production was high-class in every respect and well deserved the liberal patronage they received. The scenery and stage settings were very beautiful and the cast of characters were all good. Special mentioning should be given Mr. Lanham, who played the part of "Bates, the Butler," and Mr. Ellis, formerly a Fairbury boy, who played the part of "Arthur Pickering."

Bibi in Toyland.

The home talent entertainment, given last week, under the auspices of the Young People's Auxiliary, was certainly mirth-producing.

The cast of characters was an unusually happy one. Miss Electa Dustin, as the black dolly, "Topsy," was simply side-splitting; as realistic as if to the manor (or better darky cabin) born.

Mr. John Doherty, who never disappoints, took the part of the "Prince," among the dollies in a manner that delighted his auditors, and little Corinne Maupin pleased everybody with her performance.

Miss Arta Drew as BIBI, Miss Icie Orr, as the China doll's head, Olive Ingraham as the rag dolly, Beryl Vickery and Walter Emple are deserving of especial mention.

The choruses and drills were very pretty indeed. Much credit is due the Auxiliary, for their efforts to entertain and at the same time replenish their exchequer.—[Contributed.]
