They meet whenever they can find a listener. The speaker's vocabulary is mostly "ifs" and "buts." Opportunity never came his way. He never had an equal chance. Someone has always given him the worst of it. Saved money? No. To him money is made to spend—not save. The young man with a savings account in this Bank asks no sympathy—needs none—for he creates opportunities of his own.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY

NEWS FROM OUR EXCHANGES THROUGHOUT THE COUNTY.

At his office in the city hall at Pontiac Monday Justice W. E. Baker united in marriage Miss Zelma Decker and James Turk, of Pontiac.

Frank Statler, of Pontiac, who was found guilty in the circuit court last week on the charge of assault with intent to kill, was sentenced by Judge G. W. Patton to the penitentiary at Joliet for a period of from one to fourteen years. He was taken to that institution Wednesday by Sheriff Willis Patterson.

The Farmers' Institute and Household Science club have arranged a very interesting program to be given in Saunemin December 16, 17 and 18. Leigh Maxcey, of Curron, Ill., secretary of the Illinois Corn Growers' association, has been secured to give class instruction in corn, and many other noted speakers will be present.

Edward Wolf, of Blackstone, was fined $3 and costs in the court of Justice James H. Gaff in Pontiac Monday on the charge of assault and battery. It is alleged that he became involved with a man with whom he was husking corn which resulted in a fist fight. Deputy Sheriff Ives arrested Wolf and took him to Pontiac Monday afternoon. He paid his fine and returned home.

James Mulligan, of near Campus, was taken to Pontiac last Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Robert Goreman, of Campus. Mulligan is charged with making an assault upon his wife with a butcher knife and poker, chasing her from their home and disturbing her peace of mind to a considerable extent. Mulligan was taken to that city only a short time ago on a similar charge and was fined.

The Selig Polyscope Company, of Chicago, makers of films for moving picture machines, had twenty of its actors come to Cardiff last week and pull off a scene in one of the main streets about a cowboy in a deserted western village. There were sixteen women and four men in the bunch. Some day when you go to a moving picture show you are liable to see part of Cardiff passing before your eyes.

The farm residence of Michael Rosenberg, located half a mile south of Cayuga, was completely destroyed by fire about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. It is thought the fire originated from a defective chimney. The high wind made it impossible to save any part of the residence. Mr. and Mrs. Rosenberg lost all of their household furniture and effects with the exception of what furniture there was in the front room. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

The officials of the villages of Cullom, Kempton, Cabery, Buckingham and Herscher have been in communication with each other the last week regarding a move to get electric light and power from either Kankakee or Chatsworth. Kankakee seems the most likely and each of the villages are selecting representatives to meet and go to Kankakee next Monday to confer with the electric light company.

Patrick Patton, a well known farmer of Waldo township, died Tuesday morning at his farm home, death being due to Bright's disease. Mr. Patton was born at Zanesville, Ohio, October 7, 1847, and came to Illinois in his early manhood, living for a time on farms near Dana and Mionok. While living near Dana he was married to Miss Jane Maley, who died several years ago. Seven children survive him. The deceased was a quiet, kind man and owned considerable land in the northwest and in Canada. The funeral services were held at the Catholic church in Flanagan at 10 o'clock, Thursday morning. Interment in the Flanagan cemetery.

Several mornings ago Superintendent Clay D. Parker, of the county farm, on making a tour of inspection of the big main building at the county farm, found a strange man under the front porch, where he had evidently spent the night. He took the man into the institution, gave him a good warm breakfast and what he could learn by questioning the man and from cards found in his clothing learned that he was Alexander Hunter. The cards he carried would indicate he was a miner and that his last place of residence, La Salle. Sheriff Mischke, of La Salle county, has been communicated with and an effort is being made to find the man's relatives.

A workman on the street concrete gang at Odell got caught in a shaft of the mixing machine Monday, which resulted in his clothing being torn off and two of his ribs being broken.

George Orr, who claims any portion of the northeastern section of the county as his home, arrived in Pontiac, Tuesday and after meeting several of his former associates imbibed too freely and as a result was picked up by Deputy Sheriff Ives. Orr will be returned to the county farm, where he will spend the winter. He ran away from that institution several months ago.

The annual meeting of the Livingston County Anti-Tuberculosis Society was held Tuesday evening at the office of Dr. A. B. Middleton in Pontiac. The most important effort of the society in its warfare against the great white plague during the first year of its existence was the appointing of a representative group, of business men of the county, who appeared before the Livingston county board of supervisors during its summer session with a proposition for the erection of an addition to the county house for the exclusive use of tubercular patients. The board of supervisors referred the matter to a committee and it is expected that during the coming year favorable action will be taken regarding the proposition. The treasurer's report for the past year showed total receipts of $305.91, with expenditures of $107.10, leaving a balance on hand of $198.81. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. P. A. Pyper, Pontiac; Vice president, Mrs. Isaac Walton, Fairbury; Secretary, Mrs. F. J. Spaulding, Pontiac; Treasurer, C. R. Tombaugh, Pontiac. The Red Cross Christmas seals which is the principal means employed by the society in raising funds, will be placed on sale throughout the county within a few days.

George J. Maile died at 10:45 o'clock last Saturday forenoon at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Riley Thompson, on South Manlove street, Pontiac, Ill., death being due to paralysis. The funeral was held Monday morning, November 25, from the Thompson residence at 11 o'clock, Rev. L. J. Skromme conducting. The remains were taken to Odell for burial. George John Maile was seventy-two years of age at the time of his death. He was born in Wurtemberg, Germany, and at the age of one year was brought to the United States by his parents, who came to this country to make their home. They came direct to Odell, which place continued to be the home of George J. Maile until he went to Pontiac a few years ago to make his home with his daughter. Mr. Maile was by profession a blacksmith, which work he followed all his life. During his residence there he has been engaged in several of the blacksmith shops. Mr. Maile had had several strokes of paralysis, from all of which he had apparently recovered. At 8 o'clock Saturday morning he suffered another stroke, which resulted in his death. He leaves besides his daughter, Mrs. Riley Thompson, two other daughters. Mrs. Maile died about three years ago. The funeral was held from the Congregational Church Monday noon and interment was made in Odell cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Boose, of Pontiac.
