Patron's Day, which we held in January for the purpose of letting the people know, first hand, what we are doing, seemed to be a great success, if one may judge from the crowds present, and the comments passed on it, by many. This is something that should come at least once a year, so that people may have some idea, from personal observation, of what is being done by the teachers and pupils.

Believing that a good physical condition is necessary for the best work in school, the Board had two doctors make a physical examination of the grade children, last fall. The doctors found many cases of adenoids, bad tonsils, etc. The parents were notified of these troubles, and many remedied them. Better work has been the result in almost every case.

Every one recognizes the value of any rhetorical work which helps children to make a good public appearance. We have done more work along this line this year, than ever before.

In the High School we have required every one to appear on a program at least three times. The two literary societies are in a very flourishing condition, and intend to have a declamation contest soon.

One of the chief criticisms one hears on every side, of schools today, is that the children are very poor writers. Realizing that this is a just criticism we are taking special pains with the penmanship this year, and are trying to make good, rapid writers of the children. We are also criticised for the poor spelling done by the graduates of the public schools. This we are also trying to remedy by more careful work in the grades and the addition of spelling to the High School work.

Last fall the upper grades gave a cantata, the proceeds of which went for the purchase of a Victor. We now possess a seventy-five dollar Victor and about forty dollars worth of the best records. This is used in the different rooms, not so much for teaching, as for developing a greater appreciation for good music. The results are well worth the expense. This spring the picture exhibit was a success, both financially and educationally. We had very good crowds in attendance and cleared one hundred sixty dollars, to spend in the purchase of pictures. This will give us at least one good copy for each room, besides those we have in the corridors. The Board has decided to beautify the school grounds, so in the near future one may find the parkings in excellent condition, and shrubbery planted on the front lawns. The schools should be leaders, not followers, in city improvement. We hope the patrons will help us in this and not try to wear paths on our front lawns.

Several sets of reference books were purchased for the library at the beginning of the year. The library was especially short of good references in history. Two sets of History were purchased, one a History of the World and the other a History of the United States. Also purchased several sets of books for use in the grades.

We have a fairly good equipment in scientific apparatus, but we are "behind the times" in that we do nothing in Domestic Economy and Manual Training. These two courses should be put in the schools the coming year. The practical benefits would far exceed the small additional cost. The chief objection offered to these courses seems to be that they are too theoretical, and that the child learns nothing of use to him. Although this may have been true, it surely is not so today. A course can be so arranged as to include two or three of the grades and two years of the High School work, and every minute of it be of some use in later life. Also the theory and practice of plain cooking, sewing and woodwork, will be valuable not only in the facts learned, but also for the better correlation of mind and muscle. These courses would be also instrumental in maintaining interest and keeping several of the boys and girls in school. If this were the only thing that the two courses accomplished, that would be worth many times their cost. Are you not in favor of them?

The teachers have all done, and will, I know, continue to do their best work. We hope that this, in the main, will be satisfactory to all. Any suggestions given will be received in good grace, and if in the interest of the schools, followed.

C. A. BROTHERS,
Superintendent.

STATE AID IN ROAD BUILDING.

Improvement of the highways in almost every locality where it has been accomplished has brought about a most remarkable change in the traffic which they carry. Over unimproved roads the travel is generally limited to small loads drawn by horses, and occasional bugies or other light wagons. Sometimes an automobile passes, but not often.

Loads drawn by horses over unimproved roads are necessarily limited, as the hauling capacity of animals is limited to what they can pull over the worst places. While three or four tons are not exceptional loads for two horses on hard roads of easy grade, one-third to one-quarter of that amount is often difficult to negotiate over a road which abounds with mud holes and sharp pitches; with long heavy hills it is often less.

When good roads are built much local heavy traffic, which has previously gone by other routes, is diverted to them, probably doubling the amount of load travel originating in the vicinity which passed over the road before its improvement.

The good road easily doubles the distance that horse or team and buggy can travel in a day. This fact brings into existence a larger amount of this class of travel, estimated at fifty per cent more, and by reason of the greater distance which may be covered, and the overlapping travel from other localities, this class of traffic may easily be multiplied by three.

State control of road construction is made necessary by a number of different reasons, each important in itself, as has been demonstrated by the experience of states where state aid has long been the rule. Among these are, that the roads in various counties when built shall form continuous routes; that the construction shall be as nearly uniform as the nature of available materials will permit; that the location, drainage, material and every other factor involved in the construction shall be under the charge of competent and experienced engineers; that the contracts be let to competent and responsible contractors, who can be held to a strict accountability; and that the road funds, state, county and township, be properly expended and accounted for, so that every dollar shall produce a dollar's worth of first-class road.

In no other way than by state control can these things be achieved. It has been demonstrated repeatedly that the exercise of authority by the state is necessary in the interests of economy and excellence in construction, and that the roads in the different counties shall so connect as to make through highways between important points.

State aid in road building, therefore, requires that the state have a highway department, provided with highway engineers of established reputation and admitted ability, that the roads constructed may be equal to the strain of constantly growing traffic.

Co-operation by the Federal Government, especially in the construction and maintenance of the main roads reaching between interstate centers of population and interest, must be the logical result of careful reasoning on the subject. Improvements which benefit the county and state must, under the remarkable revolution in traffic conditions, benefit the nation as well.

My Symphony.

To live content with small means, to seek elegance rather than luxury, and refinement rather than fashion; to be worthy, not respectable, and wealthy, not rich; to study hard, think quickly, talk gently, act frankly; to listen to snarls and birds, to babes and songs, with open heart; to bear all cheerfully, do all bravely, await occasions, hurry never—in a word, to let the spiritual, unbidden and unconscious grow up through the common; this is to be my symphony.—Channing.

Putting It Delicately.

He was a stage aspirant, and had contrived somehow to gain an introduction to a well known manager, who agreed to fix a date for a trial. This duly came off, and expectantly the aspirant awaited the verdict. "What do you think of it?" he asked, after a deep silence. "Well," the manager replied slowly, "all I can say is that if ever you are put in prison for acting it will be a grave miscarriage of justice."

Tramp's Memory Was Faulty.

A Kansas City (Mo.) man met a tramp in the street the other day and was asked for a meal. The man consented with surprising rapidity. He sent the tramp to a restaurant, ordered him a meal and then called an officer and identified the tramp as one of a gang that had held him up and robbed him a few days before.

Direct Hint.

They had been talking as they walked. She had remarked pathetically: "Oh, it must be terrible to a man to be rejected by a woman!" "Indeed it must," was his response. Then, after a while, with sympathetic ingenuousness, she exclaimed: "It doesn't seem that I could ever have the heart to do it." And there came a silence between them as he thought it over.

Best Cure for Fatigue.

One of the most efficacious cures for fatigue from overwork consists in walking barefoot in sand. The nerves of the sole and heel are slightly irritated by coming in contact with the grains and accelerate the circulation of the blood in all parts of the body. The effect produced is highly invigorating. Besides this, the monotony of an ample extent of yellow sand exercises a soporific effect on the brain which induces sleep.—Harper's Weekly.

Best for Skin Diseases.

Nearly every skin disease yields quickly and permanently to Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and nothing is better for burns or bruises. Soothes and heals. John Deye, of Gladwin, Mich., says, after suffering twelve years with skin ailment and spending $400 in doctor's bills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. It will help you. Only 25c. Recommended by John A. O'Malley, druggist.—Adv.

When Antelope Was Plentiful.

Transcontinental travelers, who nowadays in their journey through the west seldom see any game larger than a prairie dog or jack rabbit, will be interested in this item reprinted from the Rocky Mountain Herald of some fifty years ago: "Passengers report that antelope have never been seen so numerous as now. Herds of antelope larger than any flock of sheep in the world are frequently spoken of."
