JUST TO BETTER SATISFY OUR CUSTOMERS

We have now added to our already complete equipment the latest invention in a collar finishing machine. On this machine the operator places a collar over a circular steel band, which fits into a steam heated groove, and by pressing the collar firmly for a few seconds simply moulds it into perfect shape. It is the only machine on the market which spreads the collar so that there is ample space for your tie to slip and which gives your linen a 50 per cent longer life because it eliminates all friction and absolutely does away with cracking and rough edges.

To demonstrate the fact that this machine will not tear or wear your linen, an ordinary collar was subjected to 25,000 consecutive pressings and showed no signs of wear.

We will be delighted to have you call and see this machine in operation, also many other improved devices which we have added in our endeavor to set the Western standard for quality Laundry work.
