Cheesecloth Better Than Glass.
Cheesecloth coverings for plants, a farmer tells us in an agricultural paper, are superior to glass, for they let the moisture through. The white shelter has a forcing effect, and also keeps out insects. Cucumbers from vines thus sheltered were gathered two weeks earlier than usual this season, and the enthusiastic experimenter is planning for large results next year through the use of these cheesecloth protectors.

Big Woodman Meet.

Odell was alive with Woodmen on Thursday, at which time they entertained the Livingston County Association. There were Woodmen present from all parts of the county and some from out side. They began to arrive early.

In the afternoon the speaking was held at 1:30 in the school house park. The audience was addressed by Messrs. Judge Graves and Attorney Wilson, and Hon. O. F. Avery, Hon. David Myers, of Pontiac, and several others.

The drilling of the Forrester teams was excellent and the Dwight team carried off the honors.

The games were well contested and interesting.

The ball game might have been better. The Odell team won. Otto Mickelson, of Dwight, pitched for Saunemin, but received very poor support.

The Dwight Woodman drill team presented a fine appearance, all in white carrying axes. They are well drilled under the command of Neighbor Steichen and are liable to make any team in the country hustle.

There is a bright prospect that the next meeting will be held in Dwight, and there is every reason why it should. Dwight people will extend a cordial welcome.

Come on, boys!

Eisen-Sorensen.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Danish Lutheran Church at Dwight, Sunday afternoon, June 29, at two o'clock, when Miss Margaret Eisen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Eisen, was united in marriage to Mr. William Sorensen, son of Mrs. C. Sorensen, of Gardner, Rev. J. Aaberg officiating, using the ring ceremony. The bride was tastefully gowned in white messaline trimmed in lace, wearing a tulle veil with a wreath of myrtle and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lillies of the valley. The groom wore a suit of blue serge.

The bride was attended by Elenora and Lucia Roager, and Miss Olge Sorensen as bridesmaids, Lucia acting as maid of honor, and all three wore blue silk dresses. Two little flower girls, Edna Roager and Meta Olsen dressed in white, carried the rings in a pretty bouquet of roses, and the best men were Albert Hansen and Johnnie Davidsen.

After returning to the home of the bride a sumptuous wedding supper was served to 150 guests, and it is needless to say that the tables groaned under their load of goodies, to which all did justice, in spite of the heat. The house and table decorations were ferns and carnations; and a beautiful feature was the wedding cake, the ornament representing a bridal couple under a suspended wedding bell.

The bride and groom are both estimable young people and known to everybody, having lived here all their lives. The wedding presents bespeak the high esteem of their friends. They were beautiful and too numerous to mention, mostly cut glass and silverware.

Refreshments were served during the night and at a late hour the guests departed for their homes, wishing the young people a pleasant and prosperous voyage through life. After a short wedding trip they will make their home with the bride's parents and will be glad to see their friends after July 6th.

The waitresses were as follows: Misses Julia, Martha and Anna Anderson, Mollie Jensen, Ida Nelson, Carle and Mabel Smith, assisted by Mr. Louie Nelson, of Dwight.—Gardner Chronicle.

To Help Farmers.

Marketing, social welfare and other matters connected with the life of farmers are to be looked after especially by a new bureau of the department of agriculture in Washington and Dr. Thomas Nixon Carver of Harvard University is to have charge of it. Dr. Carver is a political economist of note and has taught that subject in several large universities besides Harvard.

He had discussed the subject with the new secretary of agriculture and a number of congressmen. They believe that something can be done to show the average farmer how he can sell his produce to better advantage and how he and his family may be less lonely on the farm. While a lot of people think that they cannot learn much on a practical subject from a professor of political economy the Washington administration is going to make the effort to convince them they are wrong.

Decay of Glass.

Few persons who admire the transcendence of ancient glassware know that the prismatic hues displayed are a result of the decay of the glass. When disintegration sets in, the substance of the glass splits into exceedingly thin laminae, which, as the sun light traverses them, give rise to a splendid play of colors. Like the leaves of a forest, these delicate glasses signalize their approaching dissolution by becoming more beautiful.—Harper's Weekly.
