What might have proved a very serious accident occurred last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ames. During Mrs. Ames absence, Mr. Ames prepared breakfast and then, as he thought, turned the oil stove out and went out doors to do some work. He shortly noticed smoke coming out of the doors and windows and going to the house found it literally filled with smoke, the stove having exploded. He succeeded in getting the fire out, and it was found no great injury was done.

Probably one of the largest crowds of the season gathered here Wednesday evening to attend the concert given on East Main street by the Dwight Military Band and the Callahan Dramatic Company's Band who consolidated for the evening. The Modera Woodmen drill team also gave an exhibition drill before the concert which was appreciated very much by the large audience. The boys made a fine showing in their white uniforms and for drilling there is none can beat them in this vicinity. An exhibition of tight wire walking by Mr. Sutton, who is employed by the Bell Telephone Company here, was another feature of the evening which attracted much attention.

Mrs. Roger Mills, Miss Lena Fifield, Mrs. Penn and daughter Ella and Mr. Potter and Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, daughter Mary, and the Ketcham girls were among those who spent Thursday in Pontiac attending Chautauqua.

Peoria Independents will play the F. L. Smiths at Dwight, Sunday, July 27. RAILROAD NEWS

It has been decided to test out another engine for tonnage and for the second engine one of the old 800 class will be selected. The test last Tuesday was with one of the new 800 class. The former are in less serviceable condition and also are built along radically different lines. It is said that the old engines are not so speedy as the new but they have better success in starting a train. Mr. Davies, the air brake superintendent, who is conducting the tests, will make a selection of an engine shortly and will endeavor to haul the same tonnage as with the 854 last Tuesday.

The Bloomington shops have just turned out a number of flat cars with aprons and a number have been assembled from outside points, making forty in all, which will be utilized for handling dirt from the local shop site enlargement. It developed that the dump cars which have been used to handle the dirt lifted by the steam shovel were inadequate to take care of the output of the shovel, and it was decided to fit up the flat cars. It is likely that a train of these flat cars will be sent to Brighton Park for the track elevation fill. The order issued last week to load a train of coal cars, was cancelled, it being found impossible to spare enough cars from the coal train.

The Alton was compelled to borrow thirty coaches last Friday to take care of the heavy rush of passenger traffic. A large number of the surplus coaches were pressed into service to handle the low rate excursion to Chicago Friday morning, several hundred passengers being taken into the metropolis on account of the low rate. These excursionists returned home Sunday evening. Saturday night the company handled the Seventh Regiment from Chicago to Springfield and moved the Second Regiment from Springfield to Chicago. These four trains were handled by the freight train crews that stand for them. On Sunday morning the Alton moved the trainmen's excursion from Carlville to Peoria, which required ten coaches for the special.

It is no longer safe for engineers to whistle while handling their engines in Chicago. The Alton was fined $25 by a justice at Brighton Park this week, the engineer being accused of blowing his whistle twice in succession. There are some signals which require two long blasts and the arrest appears to be an absurdity. The Alton and employes have a whole lot to contend with in Chicago.

In Chenoa they are worrying over the missing half of a merry-go-round. This week, the outfit left Alton for Chenoa, loaded in two cars. The Alton agent made the mistake of filling out one way bill for the two cars. One car and the bill reached Chenoa on time, but the other car is tied up somewhere and tracers sent all along the road have been without avail. In the meantime, Chenoa is losing out on its amusement.

The performance of the 854, one of the new Baldwin engines, handling the test train between Bloomington and Chicago, was one of the most remarkable in the history of the road. The train was made up of sixty-six loads of Northwestern coal with a total tonnage of 4,261. At the rear was General Superintendent A. P. Titus' business car, the 503, weighing fifty tons, and the caboose of Conductor William Keough, weighing seventeen tons. The total drag was 4,328 tons. The engine was handled by Engineer Charles Oliver and Fireman McHenry and the crew were called to leave at 5:30 a. m., getting out five minutes later. The train arrived at Glenn yards at 3:05 p. m. and at Brighton Park, where the train was turned over to the Northwestern, at 4 p. m. The total time on the road, going 122 miles was ten hours and thirty minutes. The total running time was six hours and forty-nine minutes, the aggregate delayed time being three hours and forty-one minutes, it being necessary to get into the clear at Pontiac, Pequot and Joliet for passenger trains. The average speed per hour, including delays, was 11.6 miles, while the average speed per hour, excluding delays, was 17.9 miles. To think of taking such a colossal train, 8,656,000 pounds, from Bloomington to Chicago in actual running time of six hours and forty-nine minutes is extraordinary. In the early days this was considered sensational for passenger trains. The great run speaks volumes for the great tractive force and speed of the new engines and indicates that the Alton possesses the highest grade of power that can be produced. It is presumed that this test will be followed by an order to increase the tonnage rating north from 4,100 to 4,300 tons, although one or two more tests may be decided upon before a change is directed in addition to Mr. Titus, Superintendent S. P. Henderson, Trainmaster J. J. Butler and a number of motive power officials accompanied the test train.

Millions Spent for Soda.

Authorities in the drug business estimate the number of soda fountains in use in the United States at not less than 75,000 and they are said to represent an investment of $50,000,000. The annual receipts of these supplies of soft drinks may total $50,000,000.
