Mayor J. M. Lyon is in Saskatchewan, Canada, on a business mission. John Locke, president of the Meadows Mfg. Co., is in Des Moines, Iowa, on a business mission for his company.

One night last week there was born to a lady on the Banner Limited between Saunemin and Chicago a fine ten pound boy.

There were 617 boys in the Reformatory on last Saturday; 515 are white and 102 colored. Two were received during the week and none paroled.

Isaac Walton, senior partner in Walton Bros department store at Fairbury, died in St. Louis Sunday, following a stroke of apoplexy. He was returning to his home from a business trip to Arkansas.

Dr. Ross is wondering if Wednesday was an unlucky day. It was the 13th day of the month and when he checked up his cash register he found he had thirteen dollars and thirteen cents.—Cullom Chronicle.

Deputy Circuit Clerk H. D. Wolff left Saturday for Chicago to spend several days with his sister. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Bertha Wolff, of Stewardson, Ill., who will remain there for some time.

W. J. Kiley has purchased the Cullom garage of Cook & Chandler. A. B. Cook is head mechanic at the place, the old firm having disbanded. E. Cook went to Chicago and D. Chandler has not decided where he will locate.

Rev. A. H. Lutz, who has been pastor of the Cullom Lutheran church for four years, has tendered his resignation to the congregation and expects to accept a call of a congregation at Clinton, Iowa, a city of about 25,000 people.

The directors of the Cullom schools are publishing a notice in which they state that pupils outside of the district will be required to pay tuition strictly in advance. The rates are $30 a year of nine months for the pupils above the eighth grade.

The M. W. A. of Chatsworth will celebrate August 27 and 28. Numerous free attractions have been provided for, including ball games, foot races, automobile parade, etc. Chatsworth does things up right and no doubt will have a big crowd.

The postoffice fight at Cullom seems to be settled, or rather an appointment has been made. The contest will not be settled for years. James E. Brady landed the job, and there are several knives in the boots of the George Harmon died at the county hospital Saturday evening about nine o'clock, death being due to the infirmities of old age. The remains were shipped to Chatsworth Sunday, where burial occurred. George Harman has been a well known character in Livingston county for a number of years past.

Emington village trustees have licensed pool halls for the first time in 25 years. A petition signed by 37 citizens was presented to the board asking this to be done. There seems to have been considerable opposition to the move and Editor Schutz has been asked to publish a list of the names signed to the petition. This he has promised to do, if he can procure them, but it is understood that the list cannot be found. Alderman Schutz and Herb opposed the granting of pool licenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Burrell, of Weston, who expected to become fond parents soon, arrived at Fairbury on the way to the Vetter hospital, where his wife was to be cared for. She became ill very suddenly and an auto of Perry Keck was pressed into service to convey the patient to the hospital. They had gone but a block when a new daughter appeared on the scene. The mother and child were taken right on to the hospital where the nurses took proper care of them, and both mother and the child are gaining nicely.

The round barn on the Chris Gerber farm, north of Cropsey, is almost completed. In the center there is a silo, running to the top of the barn. Half way around the silo there are cow stanchions several feet from the silo, leaving room for feeding. On the other side there are horse stalls. In the mow there are feed bins that have chutes leading to the first floor. There is a round track in the mow so that the hay can be carried to any place in the mow. This barn is built very much like the one at the State University, which has many advantages in floor space.
