

GRUNDY COUNTY

FROM MORRIS

NEW HUNTING REGULATIONS—CASSEM DIVORCE CASE SETTLED—SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN MISS LOU WILSON—LOCAL PA-PER MILL TO START—MRS. MORRIE PASSES AWAY.

E. R. Fenno, the glass cutter who was jailed following the inability to pay a fine of $100 imposed for abusing his wife, has been released from the county jail.

The Morris railroad running north of Morris is being improved constantly and the latest work to be started is the construction of a fine concrete building to house the cars at Yorkville.

The result of the judicial election in Grundy county was a big majority for Paterbaugh and shows that Grundy is still strongly republican with the democrats and progressives about equal in numbers.

The Morris Athletics football team met its first defeat Sunday when they day and went down in defeat to the tune of 40 to 7. This is the second victory for the Chicago Heights team over the local squad.

At a shooting match held at the Morris grounds last Sunday in which many out of town shooters took part and also a few professionals, Max Kneussel, of Ottawa, carried away the honors with a score of 150 without a miss.

The Morris Athletics football team met its first defeat Sunday when they went to Hicks Park at Spring Valley and lost out in a fierce contest 14 to 0. Morris made a better showing than the score indicates as they carried the ball to within a few feet of the Spring Valley goal line several times only to lose it by fumbling.

Rudolph Hanson, the 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Hanson, passed away Friday evening at his home near the paper mills after an illness of several months from tuberculosis. He was an employ at the Woolfel Leather Company for several years. The funeral was held Sunday from the home, interment being at the Evergreen cemetery.

There was no session of the circuit court this week on account of Judge Eldridge being appointed to the Appellate court and Judge Stough had to go to Ottawa and hear the trial of the Black Hollow murderers who attacked the paymaster of the La Salle Zinc Works and killed two of the escorts in charge of the money that was being taken to pay off the employes.

C. A. Hall, the stranger who created such a disturbance at Gardner last week and was confined in the county jail, has been turned loose, there being no reason for holding him longer. He is thought to be a dope fiend and that accounts for his strange actions in climbing out of a window in the Commercial Hotel at Gardner and falling down on the cement sidewalk.

The local paper mill will soon be put into active service again, the plant being taken over by a new firm who will call themselves the Morris Fibre Board Company. The plant was formerly conducted by the Prairie Box Board Company but has not been in operation for sometime. The new firm will employ about sixty persons and the payroll is expected to be quite a help to local business interests.

Peter Condon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Con Condon, of Morris, was married Tuesday afternoon at Valparaiso to Miss Emma Lemster of that city. The newly married couple came to Morris on their wedding trip and were given a reception and dinner at the home of the groom's parents. The groom is employed as bookkeeper for the Illinois Steel Company. After visiting for a few days he will return to Valparaiso where they will make their future home.

Letters of administration have been granted to Fritz Wallin, of Maine township, to settle the estate of his brother, Alfred Wallin, who died recently from a fractured skull following a fall from a street car in Chicago. The deceased was a single man and leaves three brothers, Fritz, Fred and Axel. He left personal property amounting to $1,000 and 320 acres of real estate. The administrator's bond was fixed at $2,000 and Frank Hayes engaged as attorney.

The Grundy county candidates for county road commissioner in accordance with the new Tice road law, went to Chicago Saturday to take the examination required by law. Those who aspire to the position are C. G. Donahue, Fred Stine, C. B. Ferguson, and Walter Oroyd. Patrick Whalen, who was also a candidate for the position has dropped out of the competition as the salary of $1,200 per year, allowed by the county board, was not deemed large enough for the work.

A ruling has been made in regard to hunting licenses that will be of considerable effect in the coal field. The new rules say that only those who are citizens of the United States can secure a hunter's license and that excludes all aliens. The hunting crowd is made up largely of foreigners and not half of them have citizens papers. Under the new law the following questions must be answered before a license can be issued: Place of birth; If a naturalized citizen, date papers were issued; If a minor born out of United States, date of issuance of papers to parents; If a minor born out of United States, name and place of court where papers were issued to parent; If applicant has declared his intention of becoming a citizen, date of declaration and name of court in which he appeared.

The famous Gillette vs. Plympton case which attracted so much legal attention in the local courts for several years has finally been settled by a decision of the Appellate court at Ottawa. Gillette and Plympton were in business together starting in 1854 and among the other evidence presented was a statement written by Plympton as follows, "We, George Gillette, Jennie Gillette and I (meaning Hiram Plympton) share all our wealth, our joys and our sorrows together." Plympton also made many statements to others to the effect that he and Gillette owned everything half and half. Both parties have been dead for sometime and the Gillette heir brought suit to secure one half of the property left by Plympton. The findings of the local court were upheld in nearly every instance not only by the Appellate court but also by the Supreme court.

Knute Larsen, one of the aged residents of Morris, was found dead in his home Tuesday morning by Mrs. Enger, a neighbor. They have been accustomed to seeing the smoke from the old fellow's chimney every morning and not seeing any smoke Tuesday, Mrs. Enger concluded something was wrong and entered the house through a window and found Mr. Larsen sitting in the chair dead with a lamp burning brightly on the table near him. Stomach trouble of which he has complained for the past year is thought to have caused his demise. An inquest was held and the verdict was that he came to his death from natural causes. The deceased was born in Norway and was 65 years of age; he came to Morris with his wife thirty years ago and lived for some time in Saratoga township and then moved to Morris. Three sons survive him, Martin, Severt and Thomas, all residing in Nettle Creek. Mr. Larsen was a kindly, peaceful man and was highly esteemed by his friends and neighbors.

Mrs. Catherine Horrie, one of Morris' best known and well beloved ladies, passed away Friday evening at her home on East Main street after a short illness. The deceased lady was born in Scotland, Feb. 18, 1828, and came to the United States in 1837. She settled in New York and then moved to Lockport the same year and lived there until 1850. On August 20, 1850, she was married to James Horrie and in the spring following the young couple came to Morris to live, making the trip in a lumber wagon filled with their furniture and with the family cow tied to the back end of the wagon. They made their home in the same house where Mrs. Horrie passed away and lived happily until the death of Mr. Horrie in 1896. Eight children were born to them and are as follows Mrs. Jennie Handwerk, of Morris; James Horrie, of Gardner; Robert, Joseph, William, John and Miss Kate, all of Morris, and Mrs. M. K. Wagner, of Elmhurst, Ill. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, Rev. A. C. Geyer officiating. Interment was in the Evergreen cemetery.

The Christopher Cassem divorce case which attracted so much attention has finally been settled, the parties appearing in court last Thursday and effecting a settlement. Mrs. Cassem sued for separate maintenance and Mr. Cassem filed a suit for divorce. The couple were married in Geneva, Ill., in 1906 and have one child, a little girl five years old. Mrs. Cassem left her husband stating she could live with him no longer and filed the suit asking for separate maintenance. The husband came back with a suit for divorce charging desertion. The first suit when tried was decided by the jury in favor of the wife and she was given charge of the wife and allowed her attorneys fees and granted $25.00 per month alimony. Attorneys J. W. Rausch, Judge Bedford and N. J. Aldrich represented Cassem and C. F. Hanson represented Mrs. Cassem. Cassem decided to appeal the case to the Appellate court but the settlement has been effected and Mrs. Cassem will receive $3,500 in cash and will relinquish all claim to the estate, etc., and will not prevent Cassem from securing a divorce. The little girl goes to the mother who will have charge of her education, etc.

A surprise party was given last week at the home of Miss Phoebe Woods in honor of Miss Lou Wilson, deputy circuit clerk, who was married Thursday afternoon of this week to Archie Hurlburt, of Niagara Falls, N. Y. The party was attended by those who are employed at the Grundy county court house and the bride to be was presented with a fine set of aluminum kitchen utensils. The gifts were all accompanied by verses and one that was sent in seems to hit the nail on the head in reference to the delay in moving into the new remodeled court house. The officials were to be back in the new building by June 1st, and they are still in the city hall. The verse spoken of ran as follows: When you move into your new home in Niagara Falls, N. Y. And for this good old court house crowd, You pine until you cry. Cheer up and think of our new home Some showy, classy den, We'll move back in and settle down, When the robins nest again. An elegant supper was served by Miss Woods assisted by Miss Madge Wood and Miss Kate McEvilly, of Minooka. The home was prettily decorated and the guests made merry with music, cards, etc.
