YOU ARE THE JURY.

Hear the Testimony of Dwight People and Decide the Case.

Doan's Kidney Pills are on trial—are being tried every day for weak kidneys—for exhausting kidney backaches. What is the verdict? Read Dwight testimony personal experiences of Dwight witnesses. There can be only one verdict—a chorus of approval. C. E. Foersterling, retired farmer, 304 E. James St., Dwight, Ill., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have found relief. A year ago I took this remedy when my kidneys were annoying me. I also had a weak and lame back. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills greatly relieved me." If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Foersterling had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. SCHOOL NEWS

Miss Fox visited the third grade Monday. The fifth grade painted an October scene this week. The fifth grade is studying the poem "Sheridan's Ride." Bessie Lauritzen was enrolled in the sixth grade Wednesday. Forty children in the fourth grade had 100 in spelling Monday. The fourth graders will begin some work in basketry next week. Mrs. Barry visited the seventh grade one day the past week. The third grade children wrote a letter to their teacher last week. The second graders are learning to tell time, in the arithmetic class. The third grade began sewing this week in their construction period. The sixth grade have studied about the quail, or "Bobwhite" this week. In nature study the children are studying the growth and uses of the corn plant. The fifth grade expect to have a closely contested spelling match Friday afternoon. The geography class in the fifth grade had an interesting lesson on the Erie Canal. All the first grade children were perfect in attendance and at school on time last week. The children in the fourth grade are studying the picture "The Return of the Mayflower." Only three of the thirty-four enrolled in sixth grade missed a word in spelling on Wednesday. Andrew Moeller returned to school Tuesday after having been absent a week because he had his tonsils removed. The fifth grade room has two sewing periods a week, Miss Smith is the teacher. They are at present making sewing bags. The second grade have made "Brownie" spelling books for next week. They are dramatizing the story of King Midas. The children in the first grade are preparing for Hallowe'en. They have made pumpkin faces and cats and will make their Jack-o'-lanterns next week. The pupils of the sixth grade had their first lessons in sewing on Tuesday and Thursday of this week. They have started to make bags in which their sewing materials will be kept. In the arithmetic test of the past week the following seventh grade pupils were one hundred: Dorothy Aye, Hazel Chalmers, Agatha Hagerty, Dorothy Hanlon, Erna Keppinger, Howard Frisinger, Rupert Goodman, Donald Nelson, Everett Peterson. At the first regular Parent-Teacher Club meeting, to be held Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 4, discipline in the third and fourth grades will be discussed. We would very much like to have a good representative group of parents present, that the question may be discussed from all standpoints. The parents of third and fourth grades should be present in full force.

West Side.

Mrs. T. E. Barry visited the second grade Wednesday morning. The second grade has a very attractive border of Brownies playing in the woods. Charley and Marie Moeller have returned to school after having tonsils removed. The second graders are learning the poem, "Wynken, Blynken and Nod" during language periods. The first grade has a new border of red cap Brownies. The children made large envelopes for holding unfinished work in desks.

High School.

The second year German class is reading "Hoher als die Kirche."

Shooting Affair.

Sunday evening there was considerable excitement regarding a shooting affair west of Gardner. Some seem to think that it was caused by jealousy. Frank Brayton, of Mazon, son of Frank Brayton, of Morris, was the victim. He was on his way to Gardner to see a girl, it is said, and when about a mile from town he was met by a man on horseback, and Brayton says the man fired three shots at him, but no particular damage was done except one of the bullets pierced the back curtain and scared the horse and driver. Brayton drove to town in a hurry and reported the fracas to the city marshal. This was not all. Brayton telephoned Monday to the girl in Gardner that he wanted to see her at 7 p. m. When on his way there by a different route, and about a mile from Gardner, near the farms of John Elsingner and Wm. Louch, he claims to have been attacked by two men. While one held the horse the other came up close and fired a revolver at him, the shot striking his arm and passing through his left side and into his shoulder. He whipped his horse up and got into Gardner where his wounds were dressed. The whole affair seems to be clouded in mystery.

RAILROAD NEWS

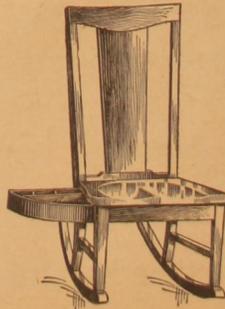

Track improvement is still going on in Dwight. The trains both ways on the Alton continue to be late. They should get a "high ball" and brace up. It was pretty slippery on top of the cars Wednesday, but no accidents occurred that we have heard of. The excursion Thursday was a great success and there must be money in carrying passengers for less than two cents a mile—providing the crowd is large enough. The new winter time tables on the C. & A. have been discussed and probably the most important change is Nos. 2 and 4, the red train and Prairie State north in the afternoon, will be transferred and run as they used to—the red train due here about 2:50 p. m. and the Prairie State about 6:20 and get into Chicago at 8:30, and the train due in Chicago at 9:20 p. m. will get there at 9:30. Nos. 78 and 79, the Bloomington Accommodations, will stay on but no T. P. & W. cars will be handled for Peoria. The Hummer will carry a Peoria car the same as before the last card. The new card will go into effect Nov. 9. Monday was a day of grief at Chenoa and traffic moved slowly through that city. Early in the morning, Conductor Cline derailed a number of cars while on Second No. 80 and blocked the northbound main for the day, the wrecker being engaged in picking up the cars derailed at Lakeview. Conductor Poulton and Engineer Henry Oliver handled the tool cars and a gang of shop men spent the day trying to rerail the cars, the south bound main being used by north bound as well as south bound traffic. There was more trouble when No. 70 while going through the passing track at Chenoa, derailed a car and tore up the track for some distance. As a result, all traffic received considerable delay at that point. It developed that John Gentry the pilot who was riding the rear of the equipment of train No. 11 and which collided with the rear of train No. 7 at Halstead street, Chicago last Friday night, was probably dead at his post before the two trains met. Flagman Morley testified that when he ran back to see why the approaching train was not checked, he saw Gentry seated on a stool on the platform and with his arms over the railing as if asleep. He yelled in the hope of arousing the man, but without effect. A moment later the coach struck the train ahead, and the body of Gentry was so badly mangled that it was impossible to tell whether or not he had been struck by a missile of some kind or possibly a bullet. The engineer who was backing No. 11 in, testified that Gentry gave no air signal and this adds to the belief that the man was dead, either from heart disease, apoplexy, or was the victim of some thug. The mystery may never be solved.

Hard Cider.

The Metamora paper last week had a heading "Too Much Hard Cider." It brings back to memory the "hard cider" days in Dwight, when it was not an uncommon occurrence to see a hard cider booze artist on the street. Then when the hard cider artist did get a bottle of whisky, and made a "stone fence," as the boys called it, the "jag" he would have with him was a prince of his kind.

Over near Metamora the other day John Sommers and Chris Schmidt came to the front and center with a hard cider jag. John, it is said, had a very playful one on, but Chris seemed to be a desperate one. Anyway Chris, ordered John to depart and not moving at a satisfactory gait, Chris got down his shot gun and began shooting. The outcome was that they were going to have each other arrested, but when they got sober they thought better of it and kissed and made up. Thus it will be seen that the "hard cider jag" is still on earth.

POSTOFFICE NEWS

Otto B. Mickelson is enjoying a week's vacation. James W. Brown returned to duty Thursday after fifteen days of vacation. Henry Specht, the veteran railway postal clerk on the Dwight and Peoria R. P. O., has returned to work after a two and a half months leave of absence, during which time he moved from Washington to Elmhurst, Ill., where he has built himself a fine new bungalow. Earl Losee, secretary of the local Civil Service Board, will conduct an examination for postmaster at Cardiff on Saturday, Oct. 25, at the request of the Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. This is the second examination for postmaster for Examiner Losee, having conducted the examination at Wing, Sept. 27. These are busy times in the mailing department of the Dwight postoffice. The past two weeks have been about the heaviest in its history. There were 450 mailed up sacks of papers dispatched to points all over the United States and Canada during this two week period. While the local postoffice has the reputation of dispatching more mail than any office of its size in the country, it also enjoys the enviable reputation of sending more of its mail out made up to its final separations than any office on the line.
