Think what your portrait means to you and your friends in after years. Sweet sixteen comes but once in a life time. Our modern equipment and practical posing will preserve the record of that happy age. A visit to the Wright Studio keeps fresh for all time, the budding charms of sixteen or the bloom of twenty. P. O. Bldg.—Adv.

The Ladies Aid society of the Danish Lutheran Church surprised Mrs. Stena Nelson, Nov. 13, she being 82 years of age, and for many years has been a faithful member of the society. She was presented with a fine rocking chair as a token of appreciation of her long membership in this society. Refreshments were served and all spent a very pleasant, happy evening.

A. W. Marvin, who has always been a consistent good road booster and has been greatly interested in the Lincoln highway project, has been named as the DeKalb county consul of the Lincoln highway. He will have charge of the work of furthering the interests of the highway enterprise in this county and has started at work right away. He has a number of certificates of membership in the national association which will control the workings of the highway and has already interested a lot of the DeKalb men in the membership.—DeKalb Daily Chronicle. A. W. Marvin is a brother of F. G. Marvin who at one time reported on this paper.

Announcement.

Having purchased the interest of Joseph A. Diefenbach in the firm of Baker & Diefenbach, I desire to thank the public for the business they placed with the firm. I will be pleased to serve you at all times with the best protection on life and property by life and fire insurance. Choice bargains in vacant and improved real estate. Offices in Roeder Building.—Adv.
JOHN W. BAKER.

Mrs. Leslie Chase was a north bound passenger Sunday.

Mrs. Vernon Martin spent a few days in Chicago this week visiting relatives.

Miss Beatrice Klerin visited in the city Sunday with her brother and other friends.

Mr. Thos. Johnson, of Essex, spent a couple of days in Dwight this week with his daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Hoffman returned last Saturday from Cincinnati, Ohio, where they had been visiting relatives.

Mrs. Thos. Herrold returned to her home in La Porte, Ind., Wednesday after a few days' visit here with her mother, Mrs. Jas. Brown.

Attention, mothers! Call phone 316 and I will call on you in regard to a life insurance policy for your baby son or daughter. Louis F. Kime.—Adv.

Remember the supper to be given by the men of the Congregational Church next Tuesday evening. Supper served in the church dining room from five until seven o'clock.—Adv.

The Ladies Aid of the Danish Lutheran Church will hold a bazaar and serve a lunch of coffee, cake and sandwiches, at the Danish school house Thanksgiving Day, afternoon and evening. Everyone cordially invited.—Adv.

The calendar says there are only twenty-eight more shopping days before Christmas, and we agree with the calendar. We urge to buy early. We can insure you better selection and service if you do. Make it a point to visit The Furniture Store the first time you are again on Main street. C. M. Baker & Son.—Adv.

Mrs. Rearick, one of Dwight's oldest residents, suffered a paralytic stroke Wednesday and is in a very serious condition and there are but small hopes for her recovery. Mrs. Rearick has been very feeble for the past few years and needed almost constant care and attention and this together with her age, makes her recovery doubtful.

In the account last week of the Flower Show at the M. E. Church unintentionally no mention was made of the splendid collection of chrysanthemums, both blooms and plants, which was loaned for the show by Mrs. J. R. Oughton. These flowers were much admired for their beauty and symmetry, and the members of the Auxiliary greatly appreciate the loan of them for the exhibition.

Historical Structure.

The building known as the Ketcham House, which was recently moved from Seminole street, has quite a history.

The building stood for years on or near the present site of The Leslie E. Keeley Co.'s Laboratory, and was occupied by stores—one side by Spencer Eldridge as a grocery, and the other side by Mrs. John Parsons as a millinery store.

It was afterwards purchased by The Keeley Co., when they began to prosper and their cure became successful and famous, and nearly rebuilt, and used for a year or so as their office and laboratory. It soon became too small and they sold the building to Mrs. John D. Ketcham, and it was moved and transformed into a hotel, in which she did a fine business for years.

It was recently purchased by Mr. Zappa who intends to use it as a store, residence and rooming house.

There appears to be a mix-up about the permit for moving the building, and it is said the records of a meeting of the board show that the board opposed the moving on account of the fire limit ordinance. Afterwards, however, without any further meeting, four members signed a permit, and the moving commenced. After the building was across the railroad, the owners of the Larson-Hahn building went to Pontiac and got out an injunction against the building being placed so near their's in the fire district, on account of fire, raise in insurance, etc.

The building stands at the intersection of Amazon avenue and Franklin street awaiting the court decision, and no one knows what that will be, or where the building will finally be located. It's a bad mix-up for all concerned.

Drag the Roads.

Now is the time to take special care in working the roads for winter, that their surface may be smooth when frozen. At no time of the year should greater care be taken to use the drag the very hour it can be used to advantage, than during this approach to winter. The road commissioners of all townships should have a complete system by which they can secure the dragging of every road in the township within a few hours. Some one farmer should be responsible for every section of the road, and none of these men have to drag more than two miles of road. This has been done in a number of places. Some of these roads have been dragged and carefully crowned for many years in succession, giving first class results.

AROUND ABOUT

Joliet people are weighing their bread and the bakers are putting 16 ounces in a loaf.

M. F. Quinn, of Chicago, has been an employe of the National Express Co. for twenty-five years.

Governor Dunne refused the request of a moving picture film company to permit motion pictures to be made of convicts in the Joliet penitentiary.

A prisoner tipped off a plot for a delivery at the Will county jail to Jailer Dan McCann, who found that the bars in four cells had been sawed nearly through.

A well dressed man was found dead on the Chicago & Alton railroad tracks with his throat cut and a bullet in his head. No clue has been found to the perpetrator of the evident murder.—Joliet News.

Burglars fed chops to a vicious bulldog at the home of Mrs. Rose Roolan, a wealthy widow, of Belvidere, and then looted the house while Mrs. Roolan was attending a picture show. They got $1,500 in jewelry.

James Turner had his back severely injured when a street car on South Bloomington street, Streator, crashed into the delivery wagon of the Olso Furniture Company. One of the horses had its leg broken in the collision.

A fine baby was born on Illinois Central passenger train No. 4, soon after the train passed over the Cairo bridge. The mother, who took the train at Memphis to go to Edinham, had four children traveling with her.

It was learned here that the use of the parcel post in delivering automobile license numbers since Secretary of State Woods took office has saved the state $14,415. The express rate for delivery is 10½ cents per number plate.—Pantagraph.

Nearly 10,000 children and young persons took part recently in the Sunday school parade conducted by occasion of the union rally of Peoria Sunday schools. Many distinguished speakers were on the program in the afternoon and evening.

John B. Schoessel, a foreman in the shops of the Rock Island arsenal, was murdered in front of his home under mysterious circumstances. He was not robbed and the police are at a loss to determine a motive or to obtain a clew to the murderer.

George W. Slaton, of Grafton, Ill., is still using a lamp chimney which he purchased thirty-five years ago. It has been in constant use and has been moved with the family's goods from Grafton to St. Louis, Kansas City, Jerseyville, Batchtown and back to Grafton.

Last year the new "penitentiary" commission purchased a tract of land one mile from the present prison as a site for a prospective prison. There are 1,000 acres in the tract which will be operated as a penitentiary farm. It is proposed at once to put 150 prisoners to work as farmers.

The largest silo in the world is located on the farm of Ryan Bros., six miles northwest of Kankakee. This big silo is 16 feet in diameter and 60 feet high. It takes the corn from 40 acres of ground to fill its 300-ton capacity. The silo is of concrete and is built in the center of a circular barn.

The Lexington Sunday school people have a scheme to make the pupils attend regular. The five schools have organized two basket ball teams—one for boys over sixteen and one for those under. One of the considerations is, however, that they must attend Sunday school at least three Sundays in each month.

The quail season is open in Illinois and lasts thirty days, closing Dec. 9. The limit is fifteen for one person per day. The prairie chicken season also has opened, but lasts only until November 24. Only three may be killed in any one day. Quail are numerous, but prairie chickens are scarce in most of the counties of Central Illinois.

Employes of F. W. Matthiessen were forced to flee from their rooms in scanty attire early when fire attacked the garage and flat building at Deer Park. The building, a two-story structure, was almost totally destroyed by the blaze, and practically all the contents, except three or four automobiles stabled on the first floor, went up in smoke.

The Lexington Unit seems to be pretty well posted, by the following: "Once upon a time girls wore a heavy outer skirt, a cotton petticoat, a gingham petticoat, a flannel petticoat with home-made lace on the bottom, and real wool form protectors and she was always chilly and suffered with rheumatism. Nowadays she goes out attired in a hobble and a smile and has pricked heat all winter."

TWENTY YEARS AGO THIS WEEK.

(From the Dwight Star and Herald)
The homes of R. H. Woodward and F. Pennell, six miles northeast of Dwight, were robbed.

Mrs. Hattie Devan, of Wilson, dies. Col. Parsons appoints O. F. Avery his deputy in county treasurer's office. Fred Sargent visited friends here. Ben Dow was in town on business. J. R. Oughton was hunting near Havana.

A little son is born to Rev. and Mrs. Wilhelmsen, of the Danish M. E. Church.

M. E. Danish Church holds successful fair.

Major C. J. Judd buys the Prime farm.

H. A. Kenyon buys the Spencer Eldridge property, now owned by Grant Short.

A number of friends of Miss Rosa Lightholder assist her in celebrating her birthday with a "taffy pull." "Fellowship Meetings" were held at the M. E. Church.

A party of young people went to Geo. L. Taylor's farm home and had a party. Before they got there, however, the bus turned turtle and piled the whole eighteen in a heap. No one was badly injured.

At a union meeting of the G. A. R., W. R. C. and S. of V., Commander Ayling spoke, Mable Huey sang, and Mrs. J. C. Lewis read a paper.

Streator District Epworth League meets in Dwight.

News comes that Henry Turnbaugh and family, of Algona, Iowa, lost almost everything except their lives by the cyclone route.

Willard S. Brown sings a German dialect song at the K. L. club and received an encore.
