CHRISTMAS AND THE DARKEST DAY

By JOHN E. DOLSEN

Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association

*EVERY day the sun grows colder,
Riding lower through its arc.
Will it, as the year grows older,
Leave us always in the dark?*

*But we know that science teaches
'Twill begin its upward climb
When its lowest point it reaches,
At the solstice—Christmas time.*

*Earth to all her utmost regions
Shuddered 'neath the march of Rome,
Whose triumphant, pagan legions
Dragged their loot and captives home.*

*Must her rule go on, unceasing?
Would her armaments be hurled,
With an insolence increasing,
'Gainst a servile, helpless world?*

*Were Rome's gods alone undying?
And must other nations crook
To her Caesar, deifying
Him with suppliant word and look?*

*When it seemed her ruthless power
Nothing on the earth could stem,
In that saddest, darkest hour
Christ was born at Bethlehem.*
